CZAR CABLES HIS REGRETS

Practically Admits Russia Will Meet Every Demand in British Note.

NAVY GETS ORDERS

English Squadrons Are Notified to Be Ready to Co-Operate If Necessary.

ADMIRAL CARR'S BLUNT STORY

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 26.—A dispatch from Hull to the Times says that the correspondent, as the result of his investigation, is of the opinion that the attack on the British trawlers by the Russian second Pacific squadron was a deliberate act, perpetrated with knowledge of its character.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The inevitable delays of diplomatic procedure retard a complete and satisfactory settlement of the acute differences between Great Britain and Russia, arising from the deplorable North sea affair.

King Edward has received from Emperor Nicholas himself a cablegram expressing the deepest regret, and a practical acknowledgement that Great Britain's peremptory note will meet with a reply conceding every demand for apology for the act of aggression against the British flag, compensation for sufferers and punishment of the officers responsible for what is everywhere conceded to have been a gigantic blunder. The Russian ambassador to the court of St. James has expressed to Foreign Minister Lansdowne his sorrow and sympathy.

These developments, which came late in the day, have allayed to some extent the deep resentment in the public mind, and the admiralty tonight gave evidence of its appreciation of the necessity of proving that it is prepared actively to support the position of the people of Great Britain, and fulfill the expectations of the world, when it issued the following statement:

"On receipt, on October 24, of the news of the North sea tragedy, preliminary orders for mutual support and co-operation were issued as a measure of precaution from the admiralty to the channel, Mediterranean and home fleets."

Statement Is Withheld.

The day has been one of the busiest in recent years in diplomatic circles here. The Russian ambassador, who only reached London shortly before midnight, Monday, was an early caller at Lansdowne house, and had a long interview with Lord Lansdowne, after which the foreign minister drove to Downing street and conferred with Premier Balfour and others. The rest of the day was occupied with a mass of matters pertaining to the affair.

Almost momentarily the public expected some definite announcement of an official nature, but late this evening the foreign office announced no further statement would be issued tonight. It is understood this is because it is considered it would be unwise, in the present state of public feeling, to make any intermediate proclamations concerning diplomatic proceedings, in view of Great Britain's announcement to Russia that the matter would not brook delay.

Count Benkendorff, the Russian ambassador, was occupied until late tonight at the embassy with a mass of cipher dispatches. It was announced at the embassy that it would be physically impossible to prepare a formal reply in such a short time.

The speeches of the members of the cabinet and of the house of commons today in different parts of the country voice the sentiment of Great Britain, and the spirit in which the utterances were met shows that for the moment party differences have been laid aside, and that the country is solidly behind the government. Lord Selborne, at the Pilgrims' banquet tonight, denounced the Dogger Bank affair in the most outspoken terms yet heard from a member of the cabinet as an "inexcusable outrage," and "a terrible blunder which would be impossible in either the British or the American navy." Colonial Secretary Lyttelton, too, in another place, spoke in plain terms, saying that it was impossible to view the affair as other than the result of murderous intention or wicked negligence.

The post-mortem examination of the bodies of the victims of the Dogger Bank affair was held today at Hull. The proceedings were purely formal, and no official announcement was made, but it is stated positively that both of the dead men bore wounds inflicted both by machine guns and a larger shell.

Admiral's Blunt Report.

The report of Thomas Carr, "admiral" of the fishing fleet, dated from "The North Sea," is a plain sailor's yarn of the occurrence, which was handed to Foreign Minister Lansdowne tonight. It says:

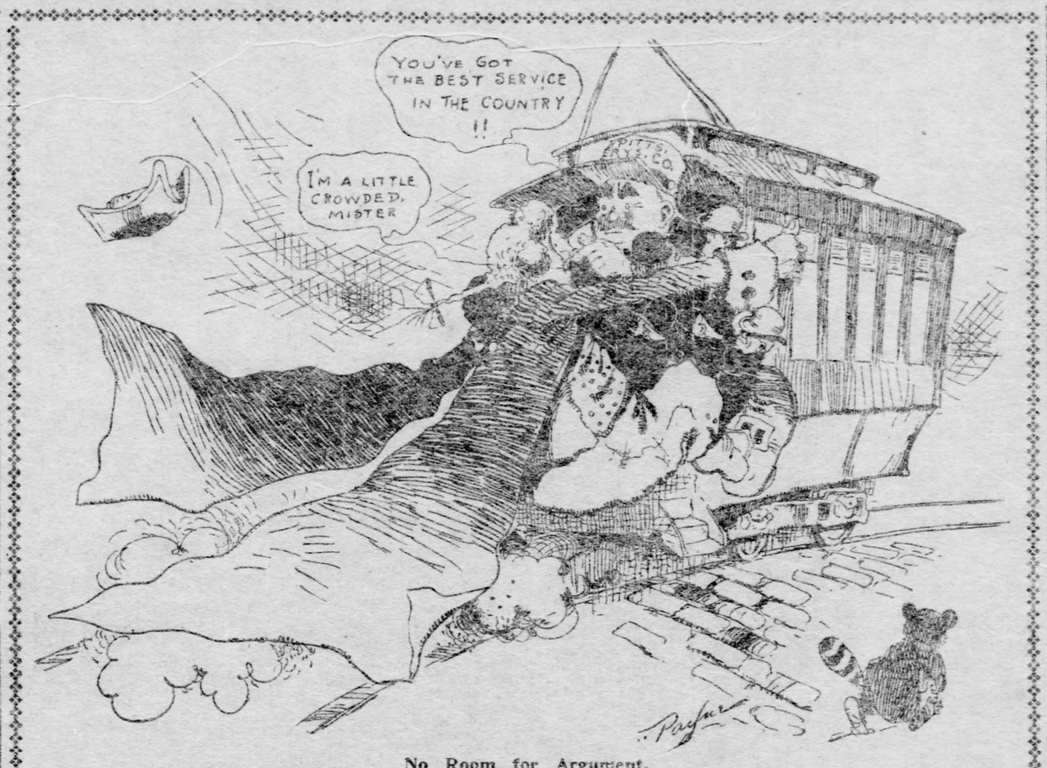
We were fishing in latitude 55.18 north and longitude 5 east the night of October 21. At 11:50 p. m. a large fleet of men-of-war sprang upon our lee bow, the wind being about south-southeast. One squadron passed by our lee side. The remainder, consisting of four battleships, steamed just across our head, throwing search lights over our fleet.

As soon as they got to windward they began firing on us, their projectiles flying all around and across our decks for a full quarter of an hour, some of the shots passing under our main sail so unpleasantly near the men who were gutting fish in the pound, that they cleared out down below, one shot passing right between them.

I very much regret to say that others in the fleet were not so fortunate as we in escaping unhurt. The Crane was sunk, her skipper and third hand were killed, and all the rest of the crew were wounded, with the exception of the cook. The skipper of the Gull, it was who, being hailed by the Crane, saying "We are sinking" hove up his gear, got out a boat and went to the rescue of the unfortunate survivors.

The Moulmein, Mino and Snipe all had shots pass through them, the two former vessels being obliged to make sail homeward. I think two or three vessels did not board us in the morning, but that may be owing to thick weather causing them to miss the fleet.

I don't know whether they took us for Japanese, or whether they were practicing to get their hands in. There must be a mistake somewhere. They ought to have known we were only inoffensive fishermen.



No Room for Argument.

KUROPATKIN IS MADE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF

Imperial Ukase Is Published by Viceroy Alexieff, Who Is Also Retained.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 25.—A Harbin dispatch states that Viceroy Alexieff on Monday published an imperial decree appointing Gen. Kuropatkin commander-in-chief of all the land forces in the east, and retaining Alexieff in the post of viceroy. The emperor also congratulates Viceroy Alexieff on the efficiency he has displayed in the formation, concentration and supreme direction of troops in the theater of operations.

STRAPPED BOY TO POST FOR MOCK CREMATION

Youngster's Imitation of Stake-Burning Promised a Tragedy. Scolded by Magistrate.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

FRANKLIN, PA., Oct. 25.—The attempt of seven boys to imitate burnings in the south came near resulting fatally to John Haney, aged 15, here today. Strapping the lad's hands to his sides they bound him to a post, two feet from which they made a pile of dry leaves. After pouring on some oil they applied a match. Crazed with fright, Haney struggled with his bonds and succeeded in breaking the rope. The fire had burned a part of the rope around the stake, but had not reached him. His face and hands were, however, black from the smoke.

The police immediately took the seven boys into custody and they were arraigned before Alderman McVay this evening. The prosecution was not followed, owing to their youth and previous good reputations, though the reprimand they received was severe.

After she had been locked in a cell she took poison. She confessed to the officers here that she is a confederate of a professional forger from Cincinnati, O.

BRITAIN'S SILENCE GROWS OMINOUS

Her Calm Demeanor at Russian Court Is Worrying the Officials There.

MAY RECALL AMBASSADOR

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 26.—Without waiting the Russian version of the affair, Emperor Nicholas, through Ambassador Hardinge, has sent to King Edward and the British government a message conveying an expression of the profoundest regret for the unfortunate affair in the North sea, coupled with assurances that the families of the victims shall receive fullest reparation.

The British government also shows moderation in the note which Sir Charles Hardinge presented to Foreign Minister Lamsdorff this afternoon. While it awaits explanation for an act which it characterizes as "unjustifiable, deliberate and inhuman," it makes no threats, fixes no time limit for response, and contains no demands, specifically stating that Great Britain's demands are reserved pending receipt of an explanation.

From the diplomatic standpoint the very fact that Great Britain has not shown her hand strengthens her position. Whoever the author of the offense may be, it is regarded as certain that Great Britain will demand, among other things, his punishment. It is also considered certain that failure to promptly comply with the demands will be immediately followed by Ambassador Hardinge's recall.

To a member of the court, the Associated Press learns, the emperor has already expressed a determination to punish whoever is responsible for the error.

An unofficial statement made at the admiralty tonight, is that the government, before the Baltic squadron sailed, was informed that 20 Japanese had recently reached Hull from a German port and were believed to have boarded the trawler fleet.

The emperor's trip to say farewell to the troops in the province of Vilna has been delayed 10 days on account of the Dogger Bank incident. War news has taken an entirely secondary place in the face of the present complications. The sentiment in St. Petersburg is one of absolute stupefaction, pending developments.

BRITISH HOME FLEET SAILS FOR THE SOUTH

All Shore Leaves Are Stopped. English Warships Are Sighted Off Spanish Coast.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The home fleet, consisting of nine battleships and three cruisers, which had been stationed at Cromarty, left Tuesday night for the south to be in readiness for any necessary concentration. All leaves have been stopped in the navy.

Russian correspondents of British papers are beginning to send inflammatory dispatches. The Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent this morning says:

"In military circles among the less responsible officers and in marine circles the conviction prevails that sooner or later war with England is inevitable, and that the present moment is as auspicious as any other."

The Standard's Moscow correspondent also asserts that "the majority of the Russian people find more or less satisfaction in the insult offered to England."

A dispatch from Sligo early this morning reports that British warships have been seen of Lagos, presumably to watch the Baltic squadron.

The morning papers display impatience over the delay of the Russian government in according satisfaction for the Dogger bank affair. The emperor's communication, while it relieves the immediate tension, is held to be only a personal expression of regret, and it is argued that unless the Russian government speedily follows suit a situation of the greatest danger will arise. Public interest and even anxiety shows not the slightest sign of waning.

CANNON HAS NO DOUBT CONCERNING NEW YORK

"Uncle Joe" Declares Roosevelt Will Carry Home State by 50,000 Majority.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—Speaker Cannon made an address in Camden this afternoon, impressing upon the voters reasons why Congressman Loudenslager should be re-elected.

"Uncle Joe" was also the guest of honor at the Union League. Speaking generally of the congressional outlook, Mr. Cannon said:

"I am confident that the Republicans will have as large a majority in the next house, if not a larger one, as they have in the present. I have traveled all over the west in the past six weeks, and during that time I have been in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio, West Virginia and Maryland. In those states I have been in what are considered close districts, and I am confident that in those districts the Democrats will make no gains, so that until there are unusual losses in the east, the next house will be Republican by as large a majority as is the present one."

"What do you think the result will be in New York?"

"I have only been in New York at infrequent intervals, but from reports that have been made to me I believe President Roosevelt will carry the state by from 50,000 to 125,000 majority."

Among others at the league luncheon were Senators Boies Penrose and Edwin C. Stokes, Vice President William A. Patton of the Pennsylvania railroad, ex-Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith, James Chambers, James Elverson, Jr., J. Hampton Moore, president of the National League of Republican clubs, and E. S. Cramp. CHESTER D. POTTER.

MICHIGAN STUDENTS GIVE FAIRBANKS WILD GREETING

Lively Meetings in College Towns—Senator Will Make Speeches in Illinois Today.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Oct. 25.—Senator Fairbanks today concluded a tour of Southern Michigan, with a great mass meeting here tonight. The trip began at Monroe early in the morning and from that point to Grand Rapids there was no abatement of enthusiasm and no diminution in the size of the crowds.

One of the most inspiring incidents of Senator Fairbanks' tour was the meeting at Ypsilanti, where the state Normal school is located. An immense throng, largely composed of students, greeted the senator.

At Ann Arbor, Senator Fairbanks left the train and was escorted to a platform near the station, from which he addressed a large gathering. Here again there were hundreds of students waiting to greet him, and the college yell of the University of Michigan interrupted the senator constantly during his speech.

Meetings were also held at Chelsea, Jackson, Lansing and Iona.

Tomorrow will be devoted to Illinois, beginning with a speech in the morning at Decatur. The meeting tomorrow night will be held at Hannibal, Mo.

STRONG LANGUAGE USED BY COLONIAL SECRETARY

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Speaking at Leamington today, Colonial Secretary Lyttelton referred to the North sea affair. He said that even looking at it in the calmest and most composed manner, it was impossible to view it other than as the result of "murderous intention or the result of wicked negligence."

Dutch Capture Achinese Village.

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 25.—A dispatch from Batavia received here today reports that the Dutch troops have captured Batoebatoe in Achin after sharp fighting. The Achinese, the dispatch says, lost 196 killed and the Dutch captured 20 guns and had three killed and 11 wounded.

BEARDED SEER SEES VICTORY

Grosvenor Predicts as High as 314 Votes for Roosevelt.

ALLOWS PARKER 162

Best He Can Prophesy for Democrat, Giving Him Montana and Maryland.

HOUSE WILL BE REPUBLICAN

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25.

Congressman Charles H. Grosvenor of Ohio, the white-bearded political seer and prophet, predicts victory for Roosevelt and Fairbanks and that the Republicans will have a good working majority in the house. His estimate is as follows:

"I predict that Roosevelt and Fairbanks in the group of New England states, will receive 41 votes. In New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and West Virginia, they will have 95 electoral votes. Crossing the Ohio river, they will receive the solid vote of the five great states of the northwest territory, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, 92 votes. They will carry Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota and Minnesota, 50 votes. They will carry Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Idaho, Wyoming and Colorado, 36 votes. Here is an aggregate of 314 votes.

"Judge Parker will have the electoral votes of the following states: Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Tennessee and Kentucky, with 151 electoral votes. I class Montana, with 3 votes, and Maryland, with 8 votes, as doubtful, but I believe the chances are decidedly in favor of Parker in both those states. If I were to indicate where my faith is weakest in the table of Roosevelt votes, I would name Nevada and Colorado, 8 votes. I do not believe that the vote for Roosevelt and Fairbanks will fall below 300.

"I do not estimate the house of representatives in detail, there is no reason to doubt that it will follow the presidential victory. It has practically always been so, and there is no reason why it should not be so now. There will be a good working Republican majority in the body." L. W. STRAYER.

BANKERS' SPECIAL WRECKED.

Train Bearing Speyer's Party Ditched Near Laredo—Several Persons Are Injured.

LAREDO, TEX., Oct. 25.—The special which left over the National Mexican railroad bearing James Speyer of the banking firm of Speyer & Co. of New York, while going at a high rate of speed, was ditched between San Chez and La Jarita, about 25 miles south of here.

Mr. Speyer was uninjured. J. F. Davis of New York received painful cuts about the face, but is otherwise uninjured, and Conductor Sharkey was badly hurt.

The wreck, it is said, was the result of the condition of the roadbed and the high speed (75 miles an hour) at which the train was going at the time, it having been the intention of the railroad officials to endeavor to establish a new record between here and Mexico City.

KNOX FLAYS JUDGE PARKER

Shows Candidate's Own Acts and Speeches Entirely Inconsistent.

TRUSTS BACKING HIM

Yet He Charges This of Roosevelt—Republicans Made Law Democrats Demand.

SENATOR SPEAKS HERE NOV. 4

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25.

Consistency is a jewel that has no place in the Democratic diadem. Its absence is pointed out by Senator P. C. Knox of Pennsylvania, who, in an interview given to the press this evening, shows up the Democratic candidate for president in a very unfavorable light.

For some time Judge Parker's daily campaign utterances have grown wild and wilder and further from the facts. He has charged that the Philippines have cost this country $650,000,000, while the official figures, prepared by the war department, put the sum at not to exceed $180,000,000. He has described a terrible state of affairs which he says exists in the Philippines, and which the Hon. Luke Wright, chairman of the Philippine commission, says exists only in the candidate's imagination. He has taken the estimates of the bureau chiefs of the executive departments of the government as the sum total of the expenses of the government, a very misleading statement, since the estimates represent the amounts the chiefs ask for and not by any means what congress will appropriate.

Charge Against Administration.

Yesterday Judge Parker capped the climax by charging openly that President Roosevelt and the present administration were controlled by the trusts, and he went on to deplore the use of money in politics as evidence of the degeneration of politics since he last actively participated in the game. It takes but a few sentences from Senator Knox to show the insincerity and the inconsistency of Judge Parker's statement. His reference to the Hill campaign when Parker was state chairman, and to the Maynard frauds is sufficient to remind the candidate that even in his day politics were not all pure, especially in New York.

The statement given out by Senator Knox was made after he had been to the White House and had a talk with President Roosevelt, and thus his words may be taken as representing the views of the president as well as those of the senator. The statement follows:

Statement of Senator Knox.

In the early part of this campaign Judge Parker stated: "The common law as developed affords a complete legal remedy against monopolies," and ex-President Cleveland, in commenting upon the decision in the Northern Securities case, said: "There is a distinct difference drawn between railronds and purely producing corporations. It could not be said that the Sugar trust or the Beef trust or the Standard Oil Company was directly engaged in interstate transportation. They were engaged in the manufacture and sale of products."

Within the past few days Mr. Cleveland, in a public speech, criticised the Republican administration for not "running amuck" in the business interests of the country, which so eminent a philologist as he knows means that he criticises the president for not dashing wildly at everything in sight and destroying the guilty and innocent alike; while Judge Parker only yesterday bewails the fact that corporations are permitted to violate the law, and that they are contributing to the Republican cause.

What can be the reason for this change of front? Mr. Cleveland, on March 17, 1904, notwithstanding the decree of the circuit court pronouncing the "Beef trust" unlawful, says it was not within the prohibition of the law, thus throwing the weight of his opinion in favor of the "Beef trust" and against the United States at a time when the case was pending and undecided in the highest court; while on October 21, 1904, he inferentially demanded that all incorporated business should be wantonly assailed.

Is It Due to Belmont Trusts?

Is there any connection between Judge Parker's abandonment of his futile common law panacea, which meant immunity to the trusts, and the fact, as he alleges, that the trusts contribute to the success of the Republican party? Do the principles of law which Mr. Cleveland thought last March protected manufacturing monopolies change in October, and if so, does the change affect the Belmont trusts, or only those which are suspected of seeing in the perpetuation of Republican administration the continued general prosperity of the country?

Judge Parker, in his speech on Monday, also said: "Many years have passed since my active participation in politics. In the meantime a startling change has taken place in the method of conducting campaigns; a change not for the better but for the worse, a change that has introduced debasing and corrupt methods which threaten the integrity of our government."

It is astounding that Judge Parker should be willing to challenge the comparison which this statement inevitably calls out. When Judge Parker last actively participated in politics off the bench he was chairman of the New York state Democratic committee which elected David B. Hill as governor. He was a cog in the Hill machine. There never have been in our political history methods more debasing and corrupt than those of the Hill machine in New York, and they culminated in the steal of the state by the Maynard frauds and the overthrow of the Hill machine in consequence. This was the machine which Mr. Parker ran until, as a reward for running it, he was made a judge by Hill; and these are the methods he deplores.

Describes Tammany's Sources.

Again Judge Parker speaks of the campaign contributions by great corporations. He states that "some of the enterprises which have unduly thrived through favoritism, have become so rich and strong that they can and do contribute vast sums when it is made clear that it will advantage them."

Judge Parker is describing precisely and exactly the sources which give Tammany Hall its strength, and the cutting off of which in the present election would remove every chance of his carrying New York state. There is not an honest man in political life who does not know that this is the case, and knows that Judge Parker is now seeking to be the beneficiary of the very methods which he affects to denounce.

Again, Judge Parker says: "Political contributions by corporations and trusts mean corruption. They cannot be honest. A corporation will subscribe to a political party only because the corporation expects that party, through its control of public officers, executive or legislative, to do something for the benefit of the corporation, or to refrain from doing something to its injury. No other motive can be imagined; in the nature of things, no other motive can exist."

It is astonishing that Judge Parker should have the temerity to say this when his own intimate associates and supporters, the men who conducted his campaign for the nomination and who are now conducting the campaign for his election, represent these very corporations which he affects to denounce, or else owe their political strength solely to the contributions they have received from them in the past and expect to receive from them in the future.

Owe Their Power to Trusts.

Mr. Cord Meyer, Mr. Patrick McCarren, Mr. August Belmont, Mr. William F. Sheehan, Mr. Thomas F. Ryan, Mr. John B. McDonald, Mr. David B. Hill and Mr. Thomas Taggart, one and all, owe their whole power in politics to the intimate connection they have established between the management of corporations and the management of public business. Mr. Parker was created by them, would never have been thought of except for them, and has not now one chance of success save what they give him.

When Mr. Hill, last April, in the New York state convention, which put Judge Parker forward for the presidential nomination, declared that the trusts should be regulated by the state and not by the nation; and when Judge Parker himself declared that the common law was sufficient for their regulation, knowing full well that this meant the abandonment of every effort to regulate them by the federal government, Mr. Hill and Judge Parker were bidding for the support of the great corporations, and bidding for this support with reckless disregard of the interests of the public. Now, as a last despairing effort, he inveighs against them, seeks to obtain votes by thus attacking them in a manner utterly unworthy of the candidate of a great party for the high office of president.

Judge Parker's statement in yesterday's speech that the president and the trusts combined in an effort "to satisfy the country that the trusts were opposed to the present administration," is simply preposterous, and smacks of the rashness of desperation.

Republicans Passed Such Act.

The Democratic platform, speaking of the trusts, says: "We specially denounce rebates and discriminations by transportation companies as the most potent agency for promoting and strengthening these unlawful conspiracies against trade."

As a Republican congress, at the request of President Roosevelt, has just passed as drastic an act as is possible to prepare, striking at all rebates and discriminations and conferring jurisdiction upon the United States courts to restrain and prevent them at the suit of the attorney general, how does this record stand against Judge Parker's assertion that "these interests (referring to the trusts) have decided to attempt to continue the present administration in power," for the purpose of securing immunity from prosecution under existing laws or the enactment of additional laws aimed at their existence?

Senator Knox will go to Pittsburgh to attend a big meeting in Old City hall on November 4, when he will make a short address. He will remain there to vote and after the election will return to Valley Forge. He will open his Washington house the latter part of November.

IT WON'T WORK MATSON THINKS

Bacteriologist Believes Maignen's Scheme for Filter Beds Is Impracticable.

HE GIVES THE REASONS WHY

Prof. Maignen's plan of building a filtration plant enclosed in a cathedral-like structure over the reservoirs in Highland park does not appeal to Dr. E. C. Matson, the city bacteriologist. Dr. Matson is not an engineer and therefore does not pretend to know anything about the engineering features of the scheme, but as a bacteriologist he has made a study of sand filtration and is familiar with all its features.

In reading Prof. Maignen's plan, as set forth in The Gazette on Monday, Dr. Matson drew the inference that everybody else does after listening to the advocates of preliminary filtration, that after the water has passed through a preliminary filter it can be filtered so much the faster through the regular sand filtration beds, at the same time removing the remaining one-third of the bacteria which the preliminary filtering leaves in the water.

That his inference was shown is proved by the debate which occurred when the finance committee of the previous city councils received the report of the filtration experts appointed to prepare a report on the cost of installing a sand filtration system for Pittsburgh, for Controller Larkin, ex-Councilman W. H. Stevenson and other members of the committee, understood that the claim was made for preliminary filtration and that by its use the area of the sand filter beds could be much reduced.

"The Gazette article does not say that it is Prof. Maignen's intention to reduce the area of the filtration beds, in erecting a plant over the reservoirs," said Dr. Matson, "but that must be his purpose. The inference is—and evidently the reader is expected to assume—that the water, after being relieved of the silt and two-thirds of the bacteria by preliminary filtration, will flow through the sand filtration beds much faster than it would while it still contained the silt and the other two-thirds of bacteria, and that at the same time the one-third of bacteria still in the water will be removed. It seems plausible, theoretically."

"Is the theory correct in practice?" Dr. Matson was asked. "Slow sand filtration removes all the silt and most of the bacteria, now, if all the silt and two-thirds of the bacteria are removed by preliminary filtration, will not the clear water pass so much the faster through the sand filtration beds, getting rid of the rest of the bacteria?"

"No," Dr. Matson replied. "Experience, extending over a long series of years and under varying conditions, has shown that water should not pass through sand filtration beds at a faster rate than 3,000,000 gallons an acre every 24 hours. The rate of flow through the filtration beds is regulated by the depth of the water on the surface. Increase the depth of water and you increase the capacity of the filtration beds, but if you increase the flow beyond 3,000,000 gallons an acre a day, the bacteria are not arrested. Sand filtration, to be effective, must be no faster than the rate I have named, whether there be 500 or 25,000 bacteria to the cubic centimeter of water."

In illustration Dr. Matson gave a supposititious case, in this wise: Suppose the condition of the water is so bad that there are 25,000 bacteria to the cubic centimeter. By the slow sand process the water is filtered at the rate of 3,000,000 gallons an acre each day. Suppose there are only 500 bacteria to the cubic centimeter—the water is filtered at the same speed; it is not run through the beds faster, merely because there are fewer bacteria in it.

"Of course, I don't know what results Prof. Maignen may have achieved," said Dr. Matson. "I have merely stated the results gained by long experience. If his process effects what I infer is claimed for it, it should be proved by many and varied experiments, vouched for by men so eminent that there could be no doubt of the facts."

NO JEALOUSY POSSIBLE, SAYS ADMIRAL JEWELL

Briton and Yankee Close Together, He Declares, at the Banquet in London.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 25.—"I thank God the day has come when neither the British nor the American navy can be jealous of each other's development," said Rear Admiral Jewell tonight in replying to the toast in honor of the American European squadron, at the banquet given them by the Pilgrim society. Lord Selborne, first lord of the admiralty, who presided at the gathering, in proposing the American naval guests, said he must refer to the "inexcusable outrage" in the North sea. In a similar case, said Lord Selborne, the American or British navy would make immediate and ample apology. "They would punish," added Lord Selborne, amidst loud cheers, "the perpetrator of such a terrible blunder, and demand security against its recurrence I no more doubt that I am standing here than that the emperor and Russian people will feel their responsibility and take the same action as would the British or American peoples.

"I say on behalf of the British government and navy," continued Lord Selborne, "that there is nothing but the greatest admiration for the American navy here, and there is no navy from whom the British navy is so willing to learn. The American navy can never pay too frequent visits to British waters."

Rear Admiral Lambton declared that he could never believe any naval officer, Russian or otherwise, would do a dastardly act intentionally. Naval officers sometimes make mistakes, but, said Admiral Lambton, 'give them time to apologize and everything will be all right.'"

Admiral Lambton's statement combined with Lord Selborne's expressions are taken as practically closing the North sea affair. Admiral Lambton saw King Edward today, and undoubtedly he voiced the highest views.

U. S. STEEL HAS SMALL SURPLUS

Report Not Clear on Business on Hand—Gary Shows Good Volume.

DECLARE PREFERRED DIVIDEND

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.

Earnings of the United States Steel Corporation for the quarter ended September 30 last were made public today after the regular quarterly dividend meeting of the directors. They were announced to be $18,773,932, as compared with $19,490,725 in the preceding quarter and $32,422,955 in the September quarter in 1903.

A striking feature of the statement is the item showing a surplus over charges and dividends of only $1,312,988, a decrease of $1,464,656 compared with the previous quarter and of $10,998,707 compared with the corresponding quarter of 1903.

Heavy decreases in earnings in the corporation were generally expected, but the net earnings for the third quarter of the year, according to the report issued today, were sufficient to pay the preferred stock dividend and the usual charges on bonds and some depreciation charges and still leave a small surplus.

Volume of Business on Hand.

Interest naturally converged today, not on the earnings, but on the volume of business on hand, in view of the reports of trade improvement. The decrease in earnings Wall street regards as an old matter, but great interest was manifested in the business on hand as an indication of the future. The statement did not present much conclusive evidence on this point, for the official figures of the uncompleted tonnage were substantially smaller than on the last day of the preceding quarter. The figures on September 30 were 3,027,436 tons, the lowest amount in the history of the company. On June 30 the fulfilled business amounted to 3,392,277 tons.

Mr. Gary, the chairman, said to the reporters after the meeting, in explanation of this point, that since October 1 bookings of the company amounted to about 26,000 tons a day, or about 30% per cent more than they were a year ago. In 1903, at this time, the first signs of disintegration in the steel business were at hand.

Comment was again made in Wall street regarding the size of the depreciation charges. In the quarter ended September 30 last $3,800,317 was charged off for depreciation and reserve funds. Since the beginning of the present year there has been charged off to this account $8,577,151, a decrease as compared with 1903 of $2,012,439.

Comparative Totals Given.

The totals for the quarters of this year and 1903 compare as follows:

1st quarter.	13,208,886	25,968,707	11,859,821

Totals	$51,478,543	$94,133,970	$42,660,427

The regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent was declared on the preferred stock. This dividend is payable November 30.

STEEL CAR ORDERS ARE NOW COMING IN RAPIDLY

Isthmian Canal Work and Many American Railroad Need Pittsburgh-Made Equipment.

Much activity has been shown recently in the steel car business, as well as other industries depending upon railroads for orders. Pittsburgh is securing a good proportion of these orders.

The Panama canal commission yesterday awarded to the Standard Steel Car Company of Pittsburgh the contract for 200 steel flat cars for use on the isthmian canal work. The price was $855 each, delivered. Bids were received on 500 cars of this class, but no other contracts were announced now. Bids were asked likewise for 1,000 steel dump cars.

The Pennsylvania railroad's new steel car orders are said now to total 6,000. Of this number the Pressed Steel Car Company is to build 2,300, the Standard 1,500 and the American Car and Foundry Company 2,200.

The Oak Ridge Coal and Coke Company is having some new steel coal cars built by the Pressed Steel Car Company.

The Standard company has received an order for 1,500 refrigerator cars from the German-American Car Company, and for 2,100 from the Erie railroad.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie is reported in the market for some new baggage cars for early delivery. The Baltimore & Ohio expects to purchase between 500 and 1,000 box cars shortly.

Free Election Returns By Long Distance Telephone.

The Central District and Printing Telegraph Company, on the night of November 8th, will furnish election returns without charge to subscribers who will make a public display of the bulletins in their places of business or otherwise. Subscribers wishing this service must notify the Company in writing on or before October 31st, and must agree to the temporary discontinuance of regular telephone service on the lines used for the returns.

The increase in the Company's business since the last presidential election makes it necessary to restrict this service to those subscribers who will make public use of the bulletins.

It is better to look ahead and prepare than to look back and regret.

OLNEY SCORED BY MR. MOODY

Attorney General Pungently Refers to Predecessor's Inaction Concerning Trusts.

HAS PRAISE FOR MR. KNOX

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ELKINS, W. VA., Oct. 25.—Attorney General Moody tonight addressed the largest Republican meeting ever held here, making a vigorous appeal for the national ticket and urging the re-election of Congressman Dayton. He did not touch on state issues, but confined his remarks to a discussion of the tariff and trusts.

After reviewing Mr. Olney's recent speech in New York, in which the former attorney general attacked the Republican position on the trust question, Mr. Moody referred to the action taken by former Attorney General Knox in the railroad and beef trust cases. Continuing, he said:

"It cannot be truthfully said that the Republican party, acting in this administration, has abandoned any weapon fit for use against unlawful discrimination by railroads or other semi-public agencies. It has applied these simple, salutary measures," to which Mr. Olney refers, and it has applied them with vigor. It is not claimed that rebates and other discriminations between customers have entirely ceased, but it is claimed that they have greatly diminished, and that, in the words of the non-partisan interstate commerce commission, 'never before in the railroad history of this country have tariff rates been so well or so generally observed as they are at the present time.'"

The efforts to compel uniformity in the treatment of their customers by common carriers have been honest, earnest, and fearless. Nor can any man deny that the action has been important, far reaching, and effective. The scope, importance, and effect of it can be fairly judged by comparison with what was done upon the same subject while the distinguished critic was himself at the head of the department of justice. It is to be presumed that he then entertained the same profound aversion to trusts and monopolies and to the discriminatory practices of common carriers that he expresses now. Nevertheless, no reference to the subject under consideration is found in his reports to congress nor is there anywhere a suggestion for the amendment and strengthening of the law.

There was, it is true, five prosecutions against individuals for giving or receiving rebates, in all of which the manager of a railroad who, for the sake of competing with another railroad which had a sidetrack to a customer's establishment, had agreed to pay cartage of freight from its station to the customer's place of business. The indictment was sustained. I can find no other action directed against discrimination and rebates during Mr. Olney's administration.

We are all in the heat of the campaign and with insufficient information liable to make erroneous statements.

That is the lot of human nature. But honest men do not persist in them when they are shown to be wrong. As Mr. Olney belongs to this class I cannot but believe that if what I say has the good fortune to reach his attention he will retract the accusation which he has made.

I am led to make a comparison between the records of these two administrations of the department of justice because the credit of the Republican record in no part belongs to myself. Whatever of honor arises out of this record belongs exclusively to my distinguished predecessor, Attorney General Knox. I therefore have no hesitation in asking to which of the two administrations does the criticism of Mr. Olney best apply, to that of Mr. Knox or to his own?

Found Abandoned Wells.

While grading the Allegheny arsenal grounds in Butler street, yesterday, Capt. C. P. Harris found two abandoned wells, 60 feet deep, which were dug in 1831. They are two of five which in the early days supplied the arsenal with water.

CITY CAN REVOKE THE FRANCHISES

Legal Opinion That Municipality Can Correct All Traction Evils Complained Of.

MAYOR HAS CHANCE TO ACT

The city authorities have power to prevent crowding in street cars, to compel the Pittsburgh Railways Company to furnish the public with adequate service, and upon the failure of the company to meet these requirements, the city has the power to revoke the franchises of the company. This is the opinion of some of the best legal talent in Pittsburgh.

"A public service corporation is the servant of the public, its primary duty is to serve the public. Its secondary duty is to make profit, but above everything else, its duty is to the public. It must give the public proper service, even if it has to do so at a loss," said one of the most prominent attorneys of Pittsburgh yesterday.

"Franchises to public service corporations are grants to enable these corporations to serve the public, and they are given to corporations because an individual cannot perform this duty. The mayor has power to compel this service and it is in his power to see that the public gets the service it needs, regardless of the financial condition of the corporation."

"If it were shown by direct evidence that this duty is not being satisfactorily discharged by the corporation, would this be sufficient grounds for revoking the franchise?" was a question asked.

"I believe that it would. Councils have the power to revoke a franchise for non-performance of duty, but it would be for the courts to afterwards determine whether the franchise had been legally revoked."

"Does not a public service corporation, by implication, accept the duty of discharging its business satisfactorily to the public when it accepts a charter from the state or a franchise from the city?"

"It certainly does, and, as I have said, the primary duty of the corporation is to give the public adequate service even if it must do this at a financial loss to the corporation. If this duty is not performed the rights granted by councils can be taken away from the corporation."

"If it is in the power of the city authorities to compel a public service corporation to give service satisfactory to the public, how would they go about to compel the corporation to perform its duty?"

"Either by applying to the state attorney general for a writ, or by going into court. Councils could also pass an ordinance providing certain requirements upon the corporation, but there would remain the question whether this particular ordinance would hold in court."

"Yes, the Pittsburgh Railways Company is a common carrier," replied the attorney who has been quoted in answer to this question; "and it is bound to give the public satisfactory service on all lines if compelled to do so by the city authorities. Proper care of the needs of its patrons is one of the duties which this company agrees to assume when it accepts a charter from the state or a franchise from the city."

"Is not the acceptance of a franchise ordinance by a public service corporation its signature to what is virtually a contract between itself and the city?"

"It is a contract which binds the corporation to whatever conditions the ordinance imposes. I wish to say that the city has an ample remedy to secure relief from the conditions that now exist on the traction lines of the city, and this remedy is in the hands of the mayor of the city if he chooses to exercise it."

"Has the director of public safety power to stop the crowding in street cars on the ground that such crowding is a menace to health and life?"

"I believe that he has this power. He is clothed with authority to take such steps that he may know to be necessary to provide for the safety of life and property, whether from fire, thieves, disease or any other cause which endangers the community."

WHERE IS CLARE MORAN?

A Theater Box Is Awaiting Her if She Will Disclose Her Residence.

Story of a Doll.

When Miss Nellie McHenry, who is playing at the Bijou this week, was in Pittsburgh last season, she held a doll-making contest for the little girls of this city, in which the maker of the best doll was given a substantial prize. Be it understood Miss McHenry uses a doll as one of the "props" in her play "M'Liss" and took this means of showing her affection for the little folks, and at the same time providing herself with a new doll for her act. On Monday, when Miss McHenry arrived at the theater, she found the following note awaiting her:

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 24, 1904.

My Dear Miss McHenery—I am the little girl whose doll you selected last year, and if you are still using the same one I think it must be worn out, so here is a new one.
Yours sincerely, CLARE MORAN.

So pleased was Miss McHenry with this evidence of childish memory and good will that she wants to find little Miss Moran in order to give her a box for one of the performances this week. The above is a fac-simile of the letter, spelling and all, but it will be observed that the little dollmaker forgot to add her address, hence Miss McHenry resorts to this means of finding her admirer. If Clare Moran will send her address either to Miss McHenry or to the dramatic editor of The Gazette, she will receive an order for a box at the Bijou theater.

"King Dodo" Is Coming.

"King Dodo," a musical comedy by Frank Pixley and Gustav Luders, authors of "The Prince of Pilsen" and the "Sho-Gun," will be the attraction at the Duquesne next week. The reasons for "King Dodo's" success are easily found. In the first place, the comedy is genuinely witty and the second reason is the music. There are 23 musical numbers, several of which, notably "The March of the Amazons," have been given elaborate dress and effects.

"Way Down East" at Gayety.

William A. Brady's immense production, "Way Down East," will be the opening attraction at the New Gayety, commencing a two weeks' engagement, next Monday, including matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. It is the same elaborate and marvelously realistic production and the same company as seen at the Academy of Music, New York city, that will be brought here.

CITY DETECTIVE IS INJURED.

Morgan McDonald Struck by Stopcock Falling from a Bank Building.

City Detective Morgan McDonald is seriously ill at his home on the South Side, as the result of being struck in the abdomen by a brass stopcock, in front of the Farmer's National bank building, shortly before 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

McDonald was in conversation with ex-Detective William Bradley in front of the building when the stopcock whirled down, striking McDonald with such force as to cut sharply through his clothing and badly discolor his body. McDonald, who was stunned, was taken to Central station, where City Physician Booth announced that he was suffering from a contused wound, the seriousness of which could not be determined for several days. McDonald is evidently suffering from acute internal injuries and has been subject to continued hemorrhages since.

Several weeks ago a beer bottle fell from one of the upper stories of the building, narrowly missing a pedestrian.

As a Climax to One of the Heaviest Seasons of Silk-Selling We Have Ever Known, Today a Special Sale of Broken Lines, at 50c a Yard.

Silks are immensely popular with women this Autumn. To be sure they were always used for handsome gowns and reception dresses. Of late, however, they have been adopted for the shirtwaist suit and the coat suit, which has broadened their field of utility mightily. In fact, today there is no garment a woman wears which may not be of silk.

We have certainly had our share of the season's silk business, and by way of showing our appreciation therefor, this morning offer broken lines for far less than regular prices, as follows:

27-inch pure silk Taffeta in gunmetal and evening shades, $1.00 quality.....
Voile Shantungs, $1.25 quality.....
Colored Pongees, odd shades, $1.00 qualities.....
Plain Poplins, odd shades, $1.00 qualities.....
Striped Taffeta, $1.25 qualities, pretty colorings.....
Small neat effects in Figured White Taffeta, 85c quality.....
Fancy Crepe de Chine, $1.00 and $1.25 qualities.....
Evening shades in fancy Indias, 85c qualities.....

50c the Yd.

In addition to the foregoing offer in colored silks, which appeals to women of every status, as these silks are of all patterns and many styles, and consequently may be used for many purposes, the following in black silks:

Black Taffeta silk, 19 inches wide, made of fine silk yarn, 45c quality, 30c a yard.
36-inch Black Peau de Soie, for coats and coat suits, $1.50 quality, $1.15 a yard.

75c Velvet 50c a Yard.

At the same time we will have on sale pretty metallic dot Velvets—brown, blue and black grounds, 75c quality at 50c a yard.

Broken Lines in Fine Imported Cloth Suitings, 50c Yd.

85c to $2.00 Values.

In connection with the sale of broken lines in silks there will be a sale of the season's short lengths and odd lines in suitings. We find many short lengths, meaning enough for a skirt or dress, as well as lines of suitings where there are only two or three styles left from a very energetic period of selling, which it will be a pleasure to us to turn over to new owners at the above price per yard, entirely regardless of their original selling prices.

Among them Autumn's chosen styles, including Mannish Suitings, Twilled Coverts, Camel's Hair, Nub Suitings in illuminated effects, English Tweeds, Chevron Striped Vicuna Cloths, Block Plaids, Scotch Mixtures, Camel's Hair Burlap Cloth and Panne Suitings, in both short and long nap effects.

These materials are all 45 to 56 inches wide, the cheapest of them worth 85c a yard, and some of them selling regularly for as much as $2.00 a yard.

Today select any of these styles for the one price of 50c a yard.

Stylish Practical Millinery for Winter.

Every woman requires at least one practical hat, smart and jaunty, but yet practical—especially in the Winter time, when it must hold its own against the Winter winds—something nobby, but not elaborate; becoming, but simple; attractive, but durable enough to withstand the elements. Such Hats and Toques—of excellent style and moderately priced—are here in abundance in our Millinery Department, third floor, West.

There are natty Toques, ready to wear, expressing the best ideas at $2.90 to $5.00, $7.50 and $10.00.
The universally satisfactory Sailor is shown, smartly trimmed, at $2.00, $3.50 and up to $6.50. Velvet is used on these more profusely than ever, and is at its best when draped artistically. Shirrings and puffs of velvet are also stylish and such trimming tends to that simplicity of design which adds to the attractiveness of these hats.
Elegant Picture Hats of dashing styles for dressy occasions are much admired, $10.00, $15.00 and upward to $20.00, $25.00 and $35.00—the all-black type being in preference.
Not the least among the many models are the conservative Toques with beautiful feather breasts, which form the brim. These very smart styles are especially popular, $10.00 to $15.00.

Our special showing and our low prices for Untrimmed Hats and materials is bringing us many new customers this season. In this line, as in all else, we try to show the best goods for as little as consistent with quality.

Today we again offer women the opportunity to buy untrimmed felt hats at 50c, $1.00 and $2.00, and when materials for trimming them are purchased we will trim them without any charge for the work.

Queen Quality Shoes for Women.

Popular Choice.

Reputation is the only safe guide in purchasing.

You can't be expected to know, but the world tells you which to choose by giving certain articles a reputation.

One such article is the Queen Quality shoe for women.

You take no risk whatever when you buy Queen Quality.

The judgment of the world is behind you approving your choice.

Boots $3.00 and $3.50.
Oxfords $2.50 and $3.00.

We are the sole agents for this famous shoe in Western Pennsylvania.

Solely for the Eye of Women.

The pompadour has threatened to depart several times, but women refused to be deprived of so universally becoming a style of hair dressing, so Fashion must needs consent to its continuance.

At the Notion Counter we have a very fine line of real hair pompadours of different shapes and in different and pretty shades of brown and blond and gray. 50c to $1.25 each.

Then we have some real hair Pompadour Rolls, very desirable shades, 10, 12 and 14-inch, at 20c, 25c, 30c each.
We think this a good place to call attention to our very superior showing of imitation shell hair pins—crumpled loop top, straight, all sizes and various shades, from 2 to 6 inches, 5c to 25c each.

New Net-Top Laces from Switzerland.

We have just opened a late importation of beautiful net-top laces. These goods are fresh from Switzerland—dainty patterns suitable for neck, sleeve, waist or skirt trimmings. This style of lace is also used in art needlework for trimming cushions, glove cases, etc. Again, these same laces may be used as a garniture for lingerie.

3 inches deep, 10c to 25c a yard.
6 inches deep, 25c to 35c a yard.
9 inches deep, 35c to 50c a yard.

Notice to Men.

Continuation of that Remarkable Hat Sale Today—$3.50 Hats for $1.85.

The remainder of our order placed two weeks ago has just arrived and will be on sale this morning—Hat Store, second floor, East.

Collectively no more appreciative lot of men ever entered this store, or any other, we believe, than came here last week, for the hats we advertised for $1.85. Flattering compliments were handed the salesmen regarding the quality of the hats, and more hats went out of the department that day than any day since we opened it—and we've some pretty big days there.

Choice today will be from Derbies and Soft Hats, as excellent variety as was given last Wednesday.

The Derbies are in black and the new browns. The shapes are all up to the minute. The oxford black is a new block and will be appreciated by young men. Pure silk bands, reversible bindings, and genuine imported Russian Leather Sweat Bands in all of them.
The Soft Hats are in a great variety of colors, shapes and sizes, so that we can fit every head and meet every taste. We guarantee them both for wear and for satisfaction.

If you have never been in our Men's Hat Department, will you kindly take the foregoing as an invitation?

Our Clothing for Men—Simply as Good as It Looks, Without Pretense or Sham.

Much of the clothing sold nowadays looks all right in the window. But inspect it at home; wear it a few days or a few weeks. Aye, that's the sure test. Say a man is fairly satisfied with a suit or overcoat as it looks amidst the glamor and lights of the store. He takes it home and re-examines it, he turns it inside out—and it looks sick. It is inferior in material, with incompetencies in workmanship skillfully hidden away, only to crop out and worry the wearer after a few weeks' service.

That's where our clothing for men is totally different. It looks well in the window. Take it home; examine it, carefully, critically, outside and inside, peep at the linings, the trimmings and the workmanship. And, lastly, wear it, and you will find it genuine from the minute the wool leaves the sheep's back to an honored and green old age.

Suits, $10.00, $12.00, $15.00, $18.00, $20.00, $25.00, $30.00, $35.00 and $38.00.
Overcoats $15.00 to $30.00; tan and black and oxford.

Mahogany Furniture.

Though not the most expensive wood known to the cabinetmaker, mahogany has for two centuries held undisputed sway as the most suitable and decorative—the richest and most harmonious wood for Dining Room and Library Furniture.

We show an attractive variety of Sideboards, Side Tables, Chairs and Extension Tables, China and Crystal Closets, reproduced from the best Colonial and Old English designs and made from carefully chosen solid mahogany.

For the Library we offer such pieces as George Washington Desks and Chairs, Martha Washington and Old Virginia Tables, together with various reproductions of Chippendale and Sheraton Bookcases, Chairs and Settles. Each piece built according to the high standard maintained in our furniture department, fifth floor, west.

New Braids From Paris.

Paris says that braid shall be much used in the trimming of Autumn and Winter gowns and wraps, and Paris is always obeyed implicitly in such matters.

We have just received a new lot consisting of four entirely new braids, which we put on our counters today for a first inspection. Shown in four to eight colorings and marked at 35c, 85c and $1.25 a yard.

Automobile Lamps and Sundries.

Go to the East Basement for these. We carry Automobile Lamps of all kinds, oil, gas and generators. Head lamps, side and rear lamps, and up to the large searchlight.

Our prices are very reasonable, in fact, a little lower than you will pay for the same goods elsewhere.

The assertion of an able attorney that the city has power to compel good public service and that it may revoke franchises for failure of corporations to give such service is sound in principle. It would be absurd to take any other view of the duties of a common carrier of the power of a creator over its creature. The difficulty, however, is to prove that the corporation has been negligent. The definition of good public service is elastic and custom has great weight with the courts. The American public suffers the imposition of outrageous abuses without effective protest until they can claim protection under the plea of common practice. However, a test of municipal power in the line of compelling adequate street car service would be interesting.

On this page is printed a communication from the Hon. John F. Dravo, the Nestor of the local river craft. The Gazette has often been in agreement with Mr. Dravo and admires his sincerity at all times. But it does not agree with him concerning the Allegheny river bridges for reasons often stated. The Gazette did what it could to help the Wabash into Pittsburgh and it has done what it could in every direction to secure increased transportation for this region—probably as much as any one interest in Pittsburgh. The Gazette has been a consistent advocate of river improvement to facilitate commerce and will join hands with Mr. Dravo in any project of that kind that does not include an unwarranted interference with other means of transit more important to the community. Allegheny river improvement does not depend on raising the bridges. The "Bit of Bridge History" printed a week ago was interesting and needs no defense.

Just as the oleomargarine manufacturers were reported to be raising money for a lobby to be used in defeating the Grout bill, imposing a tax on colored oleo, the United States supreme court gives a decision that the use of palm oil in its manufacture is really coloring matter, although it was contended that the color imparted was natural to one of the ingredients of butterine and not artificial. The court holds that although the oil is called an ingredient of oleomargarine its use is solely for the purpose of coloring the product so as to resemble dairy butter. This is the last of the oleomargarine cases before the court and the dairymen seem to be amply protected now. Those who most need protection are the boarders who have no means of knowing whether they are spreading their bread with tallow from steers or butter from cow's milk and the buyers of butter who get an article fit only for axle grease.

While Russia has assured Great Britain of its willingness to make full apology and every possible reparation for the blunder of its admiral in firing upon an English fishing fleet, it desires to have communication with the commander of the squadron before taking formal action. This seems to make a peaceful settlement of the affair certain. Yet it cannot be questioned that the incident will leave an increased feeling of bitterness between the nations. Russia's humiliation is complete, but so far from inspiring a spirit of meekness it appears to take the form of hatred toward everything English. The fact cannot be disguised that this incident has depreciated Russian naval prestige quite as much as the defeats it has suffered in far eastern waters. A fleet requiring eight months of preparation for service, officered by men afraid of their own shadows, or ignorant of the laws of navigation, it not one to be feared in battle, however dangerous it may be to neutral commerce.

While the long looked-for record of two minutes flat has been reached by trotters, this time has never been made without pacers and wind shields. Trials are usually made against time on southern tracks at this season of the year, and Major Delmar has just made the mile, unprotected and unpaced in front, in 2:01¼, which horsemen maintain is the limit likely to be reached this year under such conditions. But there is still the possibility of a sensational burst of speed that will put the record at 2:00 flat, unaided by wind shield or runner in front of the contestant. When this record is reached trials will no doubt continue to lower the competitive record to that figure in races, for some horsemen argue that the only normal conditions for achievement are where the contestant has not only the incentive of competing animals, but where the driver shows superior skill in outmaneuvering his opponents on the track. Championships in speed have been of short duration in recent years, and when the limit has apparently been reached people will look for improved sulkies that will make still further reductions possible.

A professor of political economy from Heidelberg has been in this country to study the race problem. He has been on a tour through the south and is now investigating the life of black men in the north. One sweeping conclusion he makes is that the south has no definite program for the betterment of the black men, in spite of the fact that the problem is one that menaces that section. The professor says he asked 50 leading men in the south how they would treat the negro, and the replies all differed. He might have added, however, that all agree that the negro must understand his position to be subservient to the white, but their methods of enforcing this idea differ. The enthusiasm of the professor over his observation of the negroes in Tuskegee, who are engrossed in manual training, was interesting, for this is the work that Booker Washington emphasizes as the one of most promise for the salvation of the black man.

A Final Opportunity.

Common council on Monday evening undid the respectable work performed last week, removing the compensation clause from the Federal street and Pleasant Valley traction ordinance and rejecting every amendment designed to secure some return to the public for the favors at stake. The Republican members, with few exceptions, did their full duty, working and voting on the side of the people and striving to redeem the oft-repeated campaign pledges on which councilmen were elected. The Citizens members, however, with one or two honorable exceptions, threw their pledges to the winds, defied popular sentiment and voted regularly for the job.

The exhibition of Monday evening was a painful one to all lovers of good government. One of the most discouraging things the good citizen has to encounter is the disregard shown for solemn pledges by men elected in the supposed interest of needed reforms. Never was there a more flagrant example of this bad faith than at this council meeting, where more than a score of self-selected agents of the people turned deaf ears to earnest pleas that they should remember their promises to the public and redeem them. Never was a meeting of Pittsburgh councils more completely dominated by an unseen influence and never was there a more pitiful exhibition of servility to "orders" on the part of members who were looked to for a display of manhood.

Another meeting of common council has been called for this evening to complete the work so badly begun. This meeting will afford the final opportunity for councilmen to redeem themselves in the estimation of their fellow men. There is one more chance to demand a just compensation for valuable franchises that are sought by the traction monopoly, not to improve the service, but to prevent the possible construction of other lines that would try to give better service. It is a splendid opportunity for the men who volunteered some months ago to become servants of the public on a platform promising that no more franchises should be granted without adequate compensation to the city, or in perpetuity. Do these men not desire to be known as men whose word of honor can be relied upon? Would they not undergo great inconvenience to keep a business appointment? How can they, then, ignore the more sacred promises given to their constituents? Can any one of them who refuses to redeem his pledges and the pledges of his party be trusted to keep his word in any of the affairs of life? How many will accept the opportunity to prove themselves honorable?

For the Peace Conference.

President Roosevelt's invitation to the powers to participate in another peace conference has been issued. It is in such form that it cannot give offense to the most susceptible government, nor can it be construed as an interference with any nation's present engagements. The invitation is general; it fixes neither time nor place for the convention; it proposes nothing but certain broad subjects to be discussed and agreed upon at the convenience of those interested.

Russia can find no legitimate cause for complaint because it happens to be at war with Japan, and Japan can take no offense because it is fighting Russia. Germany will be able to ignore its little difference with the Hereros, and so on. It will probably require several months and possibly a year or two to arrange the details, but the invitations are out, President Roosevelt has done his duty and in the fullness of time the powers will get together again and make further progress toward the peaceful solution of their minor disputes. Moreover, they will add some regulations to mitigate the atrocities of warfare when diplomacy and arbitration fail to keep the peace, and that is important.

Underhanded Methods.

There is one method of obtaining campaign material employed especially by the Democrats which has not proved very popular or effective in the United States. This is the process of dispatching secretly messengers to far-off countries to learn facts or manufacture charges which are apparently derogatory to our government for use in attacking administrations. Hawaii and the Philippines have been invaded by their emissaries in search of information that they hoped might cast discredit on our government of those places, and now they have an agent in Panama who has been fomenting disturbance on the isthmus as the representative of Democracy.

The mission of Clifford H. Smythe to Colombia became known by a cipher dispatch from him, sent to the chief of the Democratic literary bureau in New York, which was delivered by mistake to the state department at Washington. It seems that he has been there about a year, seeking to gain the sympathy of Colombian officials to tell them how unpopular the acts of President Roosevelt's administration in recognizing Panama were in this country and endeavoring to secure some information which could be used by Democrats. He was consul at Cartagena, Colombia, under President Cleveland's second administration, and hence has some knowledge of the country whose newspapers he has been filling with opinions calculated to foster any spirit of unrest which may exist down there.

The recent news of uprisings on the isthmus are thought to have been inspired by him, or, at least, he is said to have exaggerated existing conditions so as to make it appear that revolutions were forming to protest against the part this government took in recognition of the Panama republic. In his work of fomenting discord, Mr. Smythe found he needed more money, so he telegraphed for additional funds to spread the seeds of discontent in that country and of misrepresentation of the United States. There was a suspicion that agents were in the Philippines to work up a case against the United States in the campaign four years ago, but there is more positive proof of the disturbance in Panama.

No one can take exception to an honest investigation of conditions in these remote places more than in any government department, but it is the secrecy maintained and the malevolent disregard for truth that are objectionable to the American people. If this were a government accustomed to suppress information like the arbitrary monarchies of Europe there might be some excuse for concealment by an investigator who is preparing his attack. But the departments in this country are criticised on facts that are patent to everyone who desires them, and the same frankness exists in our relation to distant territory. Truth about these places cannot well be covered, and when policies are openly antagonized the assailants can be answered. But for honest attacks secret investigations are not necessary. They are reprehensible and the American people have already expressed their disapproval of them.

Look Out for Congress.

Obviously the Democratic party managers have abandoned any hopes they may originally have entertained for the election of Parker and Davis and are concentrating their efforts upon the close congressional districts throughout the country. They hope to carry enough of these to control the house of representatives in the Fifty-ninth congress and Republican voters need to turn out in force to prevent this result. Beginning with the solid south, the Democrats need only to get about one district in ten north and west to control the house.

Here in Pennsylvania the Democratic state organization has devoted itself from the first to a few close congressional and legislative districts. In the state, generally, they have made no campaign. They have spent their money, burned their red fire and delivered their oratory for the benefit of a few candidates for congress and the state legislature, together with half a dozen candidates for judge. These efforts have been met by the Republican organization, but safe Republican majorities will be assured only by persistent, hard work until the polls close on the evening of November 8. In that way not only the present strength of the Pennsylvania delegation may be retained in the house at Washington, but one new district may be gained. This is the Twenty-sixth, now represented by John A. Shull.

By the decision of the Dauphin county court, the nomination of J. Davis Brodhead is upheld as regular in that district. He was nominated by the five votes of Northampton and the three from Carbon county. Shull withdrew from the conference with the six delegates from Pike and Monroe counties and was nominated by them after vainly contending that Northampton was also entitled to but three votes. As Northampton was given five votes by formal action 16 years ago and has since always had that many, the court decided in its favor. This decision, however, does not improve the Democratic case, since Shull, anticipating the decision, has filed nomination papers and is running independently. This gives the Republican candidate a good chance for election in that strong Democratic district.

Particularly hard fights are being made by the Democrats in the Adams-Franklin district and in Lackawanna county. In the former Daniel F. Lafean, Republican, is a candidate for re-election and is making a brilliant canvass. He had 591 plurality two years ago, but hopes to increase that lead this year. He has been a good representative for the Twentieth district and should be returned. In the Tenth district the Republicans have nominated Thomas H. Dale to succeed William Connell and the Democrats have renominated George Howell, who was unseated by contest during the first session of the Fifty-eighth congress. Howell and his friends are trying to evade the discussion of national issues, the candidate even claiming to be a protectionist, but Mr. Dale is making his canvass in cleanly fashion upon the Republican platform. The campaign there is full of personalities and is probably the warmest in the state. Their evasive methods ought not to be rewarded.

The Democrats are also making an effort in Schuylkill and Luzerne counties, being encouraged by the fact that those districts returned pluralities for Robert E. Pattison for governor two years ago. This does not appear to afford good ground for their hopes, inasmuch as both districts elected Republican congressmen at that same election. They should give larger majorities in this presidential year, particularly as President Roosevelt is strong in that section. The anthracite miners have not forgotten his services to them, though it was rendered primarily in the interest of the coal consuming public.

Grover Cleveland is at least consistent. He would scuttle from Panama, too. Parker, on the contrary, calls it robbery, but is willing to hold the alleged stolen goods, and while denouncing the "oppression" of the Filipinos does not besitate to affirm that he would continue to oppress them until they are "fitted for self-government."

The First regiment, Pennsylvania national guard, takes the lead as a result of the fall inspections this year, but the Fourteenth, a Pittsburgh organization, ranks considerably above the average.

Wall street presents a strong contrast to conditions a year ago. Short is the memory of man born of woman and full of bubbles.

Automobilists who object to tooting their horns because "toot" is such a vulgar word, may compromise by blowing their bazoos.

While Thomas W. Lawson has been exhibiting his wisdom the opinion has grown that he knows too many things that are not so.

President Roosevelt's invitation to the powers to attend the peace conference is as polite and pleasant as anyone could wish.

Populists in Kansas are like grasshoppers—periodical in their visitations. This has not been a good year for either.

Amendments to the Republican party rules don't suit the fellows who have not been voting the Republican ticket.

Cabs are better than night cars, anyway, for councilmen who are ashamed of what they have been doing.

A little public indignation does not affect the court house plans.

Councils will give another exhibition of broken pledges.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—After all we are but human. For weeks we have been told that a collision in the subway was impossible, and this morning—only two days before the formal opening of the underground—we awoke to find that it is not only possible, but one has happened. Furthermore, it was of that most inexcusable sort, a rear-end affair, caused by the want of experience of a motorman. Now comes the truth. The block signal system, which does make a collision practically impossible—as nearly so as human ingenuity and thought can foresee—is only in use on the express tracks. The tracks designed for local traffic have no such protection, and it is not intended that they shall have. "It would be impossible," said an official of the company today, "to use the block system on the local tracks, because the rush of travel is expected to be such that it will be necessary to run trains close together. They cannot be kept a full block apart and handle the traffic. On the express tracks, though, a collision is really impossible." Naturally the greater part of the travel in the subway will be on the local trains, because the congested sections of the city are below Ninety-sixth street. Therefore the block system only guarantees safety to those people who live above Ninety-sixth street and are not compelled to take trains at stations where the express trains do not stop.

The accident which occurred last night was not serious. Still it was enough to smash several car windows and jar the passengers, who were making trips on passes. Each train had a number of passengers, but no one was seriously hurt. The company officials even denied that there was a collision, but employes admitted that two trains had come together, and later the officials admitted that such a thing is possible, and argued that they had never claimed that the block system would be used on the local tracks. Still, they have been talking of the impossibility of collisions, and we naturally did not ask if this only referred to one set of tracks. Now we know.

Takes His Victuals Raw.

It is a mighty poor day when someone does not come forward with a cure for all the ills that human flesh is heir to. Today's contributor is Stewart McDougal of Brooklyn, who gets his picture in the papers without having filled himself with patent medicines. His scheme is to fire the cook. Pretty often this is a good scheme, but most people want another cook. Not so with Mr. McDougal. "No more cooks for mine," is his doctrine, and as he says he has not had a cook for more than a year, he at least has been able to save the money. Like Jim Dumps, McDougal has been a slave to indigestion—and there can be no worse human slavery. A little more than a year ago he heard that uncooked food was best for man and beast and decided to try it. Today he is still at it, and admits that he never felt better in his life. He has cut out the meat, because he didn't like the taste of it raw, and his diet consists of potatoes, carrots, cabbage, beets and other garden sass, just as nature fixes it up for him. He also lives in Brooklyn, but that is carrying the raw idea too far for most people.

Great Event for Republicans.

There will be all kinds of enthusiasm turned loose at Carnegie hall tomorrow evening, when Secretary of State Hay will make his only speech of the campaign. There will be parades of marching clubs from all over Greater New York and several visiting clubs are expected. It will also be somewhat of a society event, as the wife of the president is expected to occupy a box, and her presence will draw many other women. Mr. Hay will not be the only speaker, but he will be the chief, and everyone knows that when the secretary of state begins to talk it is time to sit up and take notice. There is no more forceful expounder of good Republican doctrine than Mr. Hay, and an address by him is an event. The campaign has not been a very lively one in New York; and it is not expected to develop much warmth in the little time that remains. Still, every thinking man is awaiting with interest the speech that will be delivered at Carnegie hall tomorrow evening.

Want to "Eliminate Bryan."

The Democratic national committee is trying to impress upon the gold Democrats that the only way to eliminate Bryan is the election of Parker, which would turn the machinery of the party over to the eastern wing. Undoubtedly, if such a miracle should come to pass, the elimination of Bryan would happen all right. There has been a great show of harmony in the Democracy lately, but, like beauty, it is only on the surface. Each faction is trying to shove the knife into the vitals of the other, and should Parker be elected, the most disappointed men in the country would be the rabid Bryanites. A certain gentleman now connected with the Democratic national headquarters said almost as much the other day. "We followers of Bryan are here simply for the sake of appearing regular," he said. "Our hope is that the country—or rather the real Democrats—will see that Parker does not represent his party's principles. Then there will be a call for Bryan that will be heard from one end of the country to the other." He also said a lot of other things on the same line, enough to indicate that the knife is being used very skillfully.

"Granny" Given a Great Reception.

When an actress gains a strong hold upon the hearts of the theater-going people, she can keep it, even when being starred in a bad play. And everybody admits that Clyde Fitch scored a great failure in "Granny," the piece in which Mrs. Gilbert is bidding adieu to her public. But her friends are going to see her, nevertheless. Mrs. Gilbert, in her half century of stage life, has won the American public. She loves her public, too, and she was as happy as the proverbial queen at her opening of her starring engagement last evening. The audience was only interested when Granny was on the stage, but the farewell was a success such as only Mrs. Gilbert could win. After three weeks in New York, Mrs. Gilbert will visit all the principal cities of the country. At the end of the season she will retire to the private life that her 84 years has earned for her.

Nips of New York News.

Justice Hinsdale declares that adulterated milk is killing hundreds of babies in New York. One would think that he would start a crusade that would bring pure milk—if he believes what he says.

Sarah Smith, aged 14, who stole a diamond ring in an effort to break into jail, where she hoped to have three meals a day, is being cared for at St. Setas home. It is only such little tragedies that bring people to understand the plight of some of the world's unfortunates.

The meanest highwayman in New York beat a little "daughter of the tenements" and robbed her of $2.

Mr. Cleveland will speak at a meeting of New York Germans at which Carl Schurz will preside.

Mr. Savage is going to give us Parsifal in English next week, and the rush for seats would indicate that he has picked out a good thing for himself.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

To him who in the love of Nature holds
Communion with her visible forms, she speaks
A various language. —BRYANT.

The man who so loves nature that he respects her laws, especially those which apply to himself, is almost certain to live out all his days, and the latter ones shall be as enjoyable as the first.

This you will find exemplified in Ezra M. Sayers of Waynesburg, who is now within about seven years of the century goal, and yet brisk and cheerful and as ready to live as when a boy.

Indeed, he is not old, but, as he says, he is 93 years young. He has but added experience to youthful ambition, and instead of finding fault with the powers that be he thanks them that his life has been what it has.

Were it possible for him to begin life again with the advantages of his experience in all the years past, he might lead a different sort of life. And yet not much different, for he always lived not for himself alone, but accommodated his life to present conditions and the time.

Age is not a burden to him, nor has he fearful forebodings concerning the future. Time is gently bearing him back to youth again, and through its receding stages he will pass into the mystic land from whence he came.

* * * * *

Mr. Sayers is president of the Farmers and Drovers National bank, one of the soldiest institutions in the state, with surplus and profits amounting to $451,301 53, and deposits aggregating $1,138,000.

Not bad for a country bank, you say, particularly for a bank down in little Greene.

And still there are others equally substantial and prosperous—so substantial that depositors sleep soundly of nights and confidently count on goodly semi-annual dividends. Altogether, the people in this county have something like $5,000,000 on deposit.

Mr. Sayers has long been associated with the Farmers and Drovers bank, for it is an old institution, having been chartered in 1835, long before there was a railroad anywhere in the country.

The name recalls the times when farming and droving led the business of the country. Cattle, horses, sheep and hogs were driven from all parts of the west to the Baltimore and Philadelphia markets. The main highway through Greene county was the drove road, or mud pike, over which thousands of head of stock passed annually.

These mud pikes were better adapted to droving than were the stone pikes, as the latter soon cut the animals' hoofs to the quick, thereby rendering them unable to walk.

* * * * *

Mr. Sayers is now the senior lawyer in Pennsylvania by two years.

There have been, and there are now, more famous lawyers than he, but none that served their clients more faithfully, or that had a better standing in the higher courts.

He was born in Waynesburg when it was a mere village. There may have been a brick house or two, but most of the dwellings were of hewn logs and a few were typical cabins. The site of his childhood home is now occupied by a fine stone mansion, almost in the center of the fashionable west side district.

Many have been the changes in the town since he ran and romped through copse and woodland, where now stand stately mansions, schools, colleges and mills.

It must be most pleasant to be able to look back through such a long vista and note the changes that have taken place, and to recall those who took an interest in the good works which led up to the present condition of affairs.

And it is more pleasant, no doubt, to recall the long, rough ride in a lumbering stage coach from Waynesburg to Washington, on to Rices Landing on the Monongahela, than was the real thing.

None were so visionary in those days as to dream of a railroad nosing its way among the hills of little Greene.

* * * * *

And there are other veterans in Waynesburg besides E. M. Sayers, among whom are Samuel Harvey, G. N. Rinehart, J. B. Donly, and many others who belong to this class, but Mr. Sayers leads them all by several years.

Mr. Harvey is an old-timer and an old-time hustler, having been one of the leading wool buyers when wool was nearly the whole thing in this section. Although much engrossed in business, he still found time to look after the interests of the town and preach Republicanism even in a very hotbed of Democracy. He feels almost certain that much of their later prosperity is due to the triumph of Republicanism, and points to The Pittsburgh Gazette as the chief promoter of it.

If Mr. Harvey is growing old he is doing it so serenely and gracefully that he is hardly conscious of any change, and his friends find him still the same interesting, genial neighbor.

But what's the use of growing old when it is just as cheap, and a lot more comfortable, to be young?

It has been said, and well said, that we are just as old as we think we are, for it is the mind that gives shape to our lives. As the spirit is so will the body be, barring inherited defects and those due to accident.

Decrepitude is of the spirit, or mind, before it becomes apparent in the body. It is most important, therefore, to educate and train the spirits of children that they may not grow old and decrepit.

* * * * *

Speaking of influences that tend to age men and women, none are more certain or more potent than those of an immoral character.

Men who abuse themselves by dissipation grow old much earlier than do those who live temperately and honestly, as God intended.

Haven't you noticed how gracefully the Quakers grow old? Rarely do you see one of them broken down in health or bowed down with the weight of years.

Truly, a heavy conscience is the most dreadful of burdens. It not only drags the spirit down, but breaks the body and makes life a curse. Or shall we say that those who sin by abusing the spirit are made to pay the penalty, or a part of it, while they yet live?

The peace and comfort that surrounds those who live right ought to prompt all young people to live likewise, thereby avoiding the pain and misery that will surely be visited upon those who abuse the privileges they enjoy as free agents.

This recalls that matchless stanza in Bryant's great poem, Thanatopsis.

So live that when thy summons comes to join
The innumerable caravan which moves
To that mysterious realm where each shall take
His chamber in the silent halls of death,
Thou go not like the quarry-slave at night,
Scourged to his dungeon, but sustained and soothed
By an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave
Like one that wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

Waynesburg, Pa.

IN THE HUNTING SEASON.

Capt. George H. Hyde is the proud owner of an immense wild cat, which was brought into the capital city Monday morning. The ferocious beast was shot near Hyde's club house, seven or eight miles east of Ridgway. The carcass is said to have weighed 55 pounds. It is certainly a big one, and will be stuffed for exhibition.—Ridgway Advocate.

Squirrels are plentiful in Beaver township this year and many choice bags of them are being taken, principally grays. Deputy Sheriff W. J. McMillin shot 37 on a recent trip. George Kepler, clerk at the Gable house, went out recently and brought home 87 grays and 9 black squirrels.—Crawford Journal.

A Brookville nimrod had a very sad experience this week. On Monday he tramped all over Warsaw township and saw one red squirrel. On Tuesday, while his shotgun was at the gunsmith's, a big fat gray squirrel cavorted around the trees in front of his door. Talk about your hard luck!—Brookville Republican.

There was a good deal of hunting and shooting last Saturday in this "neck o' woods" in observing the opening day of the hunting season, but the result was not very large in birds or squirrels. We hear of one hunter who got lost and was several hours late in arriving home, and of two other hunters who killed a porcupine with a dozen shots, supposing at first sight that it was a young bear up a tree. And best of all, there were no accidents to the hunters, so far as heard from.—Warren Mail.

River and Railroad

"A Bit of Bridge History."

To the Editor of The Gazette.

In the 18th inst. issue of The Gazette, in an editorial under the above head-line, reference was made to the strenuous efforts of river navigators in early times to defend and maintain their rights for the free and unobstructed navigation of the waterways of the nation for commercial purposes. Our rivers were used for such purposes long before there were any railroads on the American continent, but when railroads put in an appearance rail corporations began building bridges across navigable waters, limiting the free and full use of waterways used by the people for long years in the exchange of the output of farm, mill and mine, and, as a matter of course, objected to such limitation of these long used highways, and hence resorted to legal measures to preserve their indefeasible rights for the legitimate use of these highways of nature. All honor to the heroic men who in their early days did not cower in the presence of corporate wealth and power, but in the true American spirit asserted their rights and appealed to lawful authority for legal protection. Equal honor to those of the present, who, without fear of autocratic power, have the manly courage to battle for their original rights to the unhampered use of national water courses.

Railroads are indispensible requisites of civil and commercial life, and that they may meet the wants of the people must of necessity cross our rivers as one railway must cross over or under other railways, but as demonstrated by the great Wabash system can so cross these waterways as to do no harm to the commerce of these highways of the people. It is to the credit of this important system of land carriage that two bridges, one across the Monongahela river and the other over the Ohio river, were constructed without imposing a moment's delay upon river traffic, and providing such wide channel ways that the largest towing fleets can pass in perfect safety.

If The Gazette's watchful care of railway interests had been equally diligent in hunting up and publishing the numerous instances of railway officials' relentless opposition to other railways crossing their particular line, or their combined hostility to other lines coming into our and other cities, it would evince a more marked fidelity to history. It is possible in some instances, in the long and costly struggle in defense of river interests, that rivermen may have exceeded the limits of strict propriety, but no such combination of river interests have ever occurred in this or any other city starving for sufficient transportation by rail combination to keep the Wabash system out. Nor has this warfare of one rail corporation fighting and blocking the way of entrance to another rail corporation ceased. A few days ago the morning press of this city announced in flaming head lines, "Gould finds his way into New York blocked," and we are informed that the two powerful corporations—Pennsylvania and Vanderbilt—did the blocking. In the history of competition in our waterways no such blocking of rival interests ever occurred. No combination or competition of rivermen ever sent out an army of employes fully prepared and equipped to destroy the property of rivals, either on water or land, as did the Pennsylvania railway company in cutting down the telegraph poles and wires of a rival company, an act so shameless that it would be a blur on prize ring methods. No instance is on record of rivermen crippling other lines of transportation, as in the case of the Steubenville Railway Bridge Company, maintaining a bridge with a 300-foot span, a mere rat hole for the commerce of a national highway to crawl through at an annual cost to river shippers of thousands of dollars. It ought to cause a blush of shame to the great corporation maintaining this commerce destroyer that scarcely half a dozen miles below the Wabash railway crosses the river providing a channel of 700 feet. An honorable exception to the general policy of rail corporations. If rivermen in a few, very few, instances have been unreasonable, a hundred instances to one of railway hostility to other transportation interests, rail and water, can be furnished. No instances can be cited of rivermen violently seizing the holdings of private citizens by mob force, as did an ally of the Pennsylvania railway company only a few days ago in taking forcible possession of property belonging to the people of Rochester, Pa.

Much is made of the greater overhead tonnage. It is a strange use of logic to cripple transportation capacity and then quote its lessened tonnage as a reason for additional restriction of its capacity.

The greater rail tonnage is freely admitted. I wish it was greater, especially in this city, so crippled by freight congestion, but the greater is no excuse for crippling the lesser. As an illustration The Gazette, however locally meritorious, is a poor affair as compared with the London Times, but that constitutes no good reason why the Times should resort to unjustifiable means to cripple The Gazette. A wise policy is to live and let live.

I hope The Gazette will admit this brief plea for fair play and honest dealing with competitors. I have not a nickel nor never had to secure a single line of personal press favor.

JOHN F. DRAVO.

Sowing and Reaping.

For they have sown the wind and they shall reap the whirlwind.—Hos. viii. 7.

This passage from scripture is recommended to the earnest consideration of the men who are making a mock of the interstate commerce law and exciting themselves in the thought that they can reduce the interstate commerce commission to impotence. For they are challenging a whole people to combat when the people are in a temper not only to accept the challenge, but to give battle without quarter.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Taking Wise Precautions.

The Babcock Lumber Company has profited by the experiences of the holdups at Portage and other points where paymasters were shot down and their money taken from them. For the semi-monthly pay last week five men were placed in charge of the money from Windber to Ashtola, where the lumber company's operations are. Two vehicles were used, one carrying an advance guard, the other having a small safe. All the men carried Winchesters.—Somerset Standard.

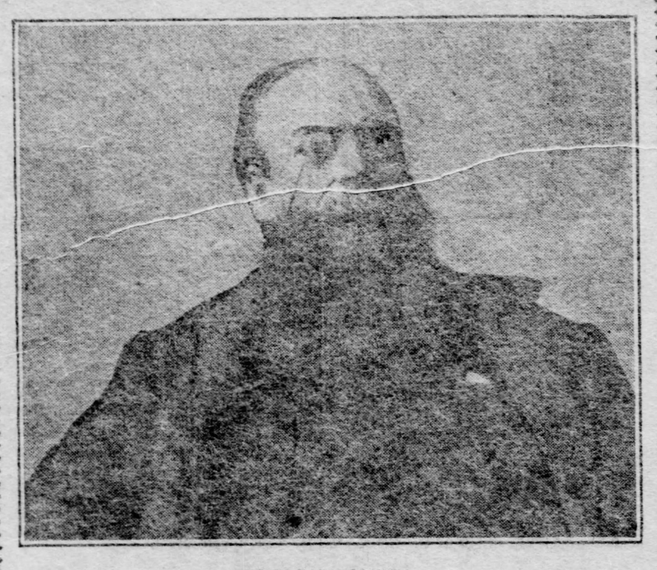
GREAT CITY'S CARELESSNESS ASTOUNDS ADOLPHE SMITH

London Lancet Representative Looks Into Sanitary Conditions Among the Poor.

WILL WRITE ON FILTRATION



ADOLPHE SMITH,

The famous London correspondent who is studying sanitation in Pittsburgh.

"My greatest astonishment is that a city with the wealth and energy that Pittsburgh possesses should allow the existence of conditions such as I have found." was the expression made by Adolphe Smith, now representing the London Lancet, and touring America to study sanitary conditions. Mr. Smith, who while connected with the London Times, became an acknowledged authority on municipal sanitation, yesterday made a careful inspection of the poorer quarters of Pittsburgh and his views on the situation here were given frankly and strongly.

"There are but few places of great poverty and filth in Pittsburgh," he said. "This I judge from what I saw today. What places exist, however, are very bad indeed. The fact that the public health here is no worse than it is must be credited more to the wealth of the community than to the care taken by the municipality to protect the citizens from disease-breeding conditions. Human life does not seem to be regarded highly enough here."

Accompanied by Charles H. Joseph of this city, Mr. Smith paid a visit yesterday to Dr. E. G. Matson, city bacteriologist, and went with him over the whole filtration question. Dr. Matson told the story of the long, hard fight to accomplish results in filtering city water and explained the contamination of the city water supply which has caused the typhoid death rate here. Mr. Smith secured the statistics on the death rate here for several years and expects to publish to the medical profession everywhere the shame of Pittsburgh in this delay.

He gave praise to the energetic steps take to suppress contagious diseases that arise here, and was especially interested in the care taken to secure all circulating library books that may be in the infected house at the time. As is known, these books are destroyed by the health department and not allowed to go back to the library to carry the germs into other families.

After seeing Dr. Matson, Mr. Smith spent several hours in the Italian and Syrian districts on the hill, and was shown into some of the worst courts that exist there. In one place, lining the inside of the block, there were found about a dozen small houses with not less than 50 families occupying them. Rooms were found without windows and in one small room six beds were placed.

Considerable attention is being paid to Mr. Smith on his visit here. He is to lecture this evening at the Eighth Street temple on "Inside Facts of the Dreyfus Case." He reported this case for the London Times. He will speak before the Alliance Francaise at the Twentieth Century club Friday evening on the same subject. Last evening Dr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Levy entertained him at a box party at the Nixon and tomorrow evening they are giving a dinner in his honor at their home.

ESSAY CONTEST BEING ARRANGED

Some Changes Made in Awards for This Year in Carnegie Museum Competition.

THREE SUBJECTS ARE GIVEN

Preparations are being made for the annual essay contest, which is to be held under the direction of the Carnegie museum, from November 3 to December 1. Circulars have been sent to all teachers in the Pittsburgh and Allegheny schools, and it is expected the 938 essays of last year will be exceeded in number.

Some changes have been made in the method of awarding prizes. Instead of awarding teachers who have the largest number of pupils competing, the awards this year will be made according to the percentage competing. In addition to the money prizes, the successful contestants will also receive certificates.

Carnegie museum was the first museum in America to establish a prize essay contest. Since, prize essay contests have been established in connection with museums in Chicago, Philadelphia, Aberdeen and many other cities on both sides of the Atlantic.

The prizes will be offered as follows:

High Schools—Fourth year, first prize, $25; second prizes, two of $15 each; third prizes, two of $10 each. Third year, first prize, $15; second prizes, two of $10 each; third prizes, two of $5 each. Second year, first prize, $15; second prizes, two of $10 each; third prizes, two of $5 each. First year, first prize, $15; second prizes, two of $10 each; third prizes, two of $5 each.

Ward Schools—Eighth year, first prize, $15; second prizes, two of $10 each; third prizes, 10 of $5 each; fourth prizes, 10 of $2 each. Seventh year, first prize, $15; second prizes, two of $10 each; third prizes, 10 of $5 each; fourth prizes, 10 of $2 each.

It is required of all contestants, as a preliminary step, that they visit the museum and make a careful examination of its contents. Having visited the museum and studied what is there exhibited, compositions may be written upon one of the following subjects:

"A letter to a friend about the Carnegie museum."

"Transportation, or the moving of loads, as illustrated at the Carnegie museum."

"Why birds should be protected, and what I learned about them at the Carnegie museum."

The prizes will be awarded at a public meeting at the Carnegie institute, on the evening of Thursday, December 22, at 8 o'clock. In awarding the prizes the judges will not lay special stress on penmanship, but upon spelling, clear expression, the evidence of general intelligence and careful study of the subject assigned.

FOUND DEAD IN TROUGH.

Tragic Death of Brother of an Allegheny County Judge—Probably a Victim of Vertigo.

SOMERSET, PA., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Christopher J. Miller, aged 60, was found dead at 2 p. m. today in a large watering trough at his home, just outside this borough. After eating a hearty dinner at 1 o'clock he left the table in apparently good health and spirits. A little later he was found drowned. It is supposed he was seized with an attack of vertigo and fell into the trough.

Mr. Miller was a brother of Judge J. J. Miller of the Allegheny county Orphans' court. He was a prominent farmer and landowner and was connected with important business enterprises in the town of Somerset. His father was Jacob B. Miller, also a prominent resident of Somerset county, who died about six years ago. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss May Johnston of Johnstown, Pa.; by three brothers and three sisters—Daniel S. Miller, Somerset; Judge J. J. Miller Pittsburgh; Eli Miller, Carleton, Neb.; Mrs. John Johnston, Uniontown; Mrs. Margaret Miller, Carleton, Neb., and a sister in Canton, O.

Mr. Miller took a leading part in Somerset county politics as a Democrat. He was a director in the Farmers' National bank of Somerset and a member of the United Brethren church.

FELL TO DEATH NINE STORIES

Window Cleaner Drops from Eighth Story of Pittsburgh Trust Company.

TO SAVE HIS HAND HE LET GO

Momentarily releasing his hold to avoid crushing his hand, Thomas McBriar, aged 38, assistant janitor of the Pittsburgh Trust Company building on Fourth avenue, fell to instant death from a rear window on the eighth floor of the building shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, crashing through the skylight over the engine room in the basement, a distance of over 120 feet.

McBriar, who is married, with four small children, lived at 1017 Market street, Allegheny. He entered the rooms of the Hope Natural Gas Company on the eighth floor to clean the windows. He wore a belt with two hooks to be fastened into rings on either side of the window frames. According to the clerks in the office McBriar stepped out upon the narrow sill, clutching the lower frame of the upper window with his left hand and grasping one of the rings with the other. As he gained the outside he turned and, releasing his hold on the ring with his right hand, pushed up the lower window. As the lower frame of the lower window reached a level with the lower frame of the upper it crushed the fingers of his left hand, which still retained the upper window. With a cry of pain, and momentarily unconscious of the fact that his belt was still unattached, he jerked out his pinned fingers with a force that carried his body backward, off the still, and to his death.

The body struck the skylight over the engine room with a force that not only snapped two steel girders, but rent its way through a heavy iron screening and through a heavy plate glass covering as if they were paper. He was picked up on the floor of the engine room, where it was determined that his neck, left arm and left jawbone were broken, his skull frightfully fractured and the left side of his face crushed in. Dr. Milligan was summoned and pronounced the man dead.

McBriar had been in the employ of the Pittsburgh Trust Company for three years and was regarded as an exemplary man.

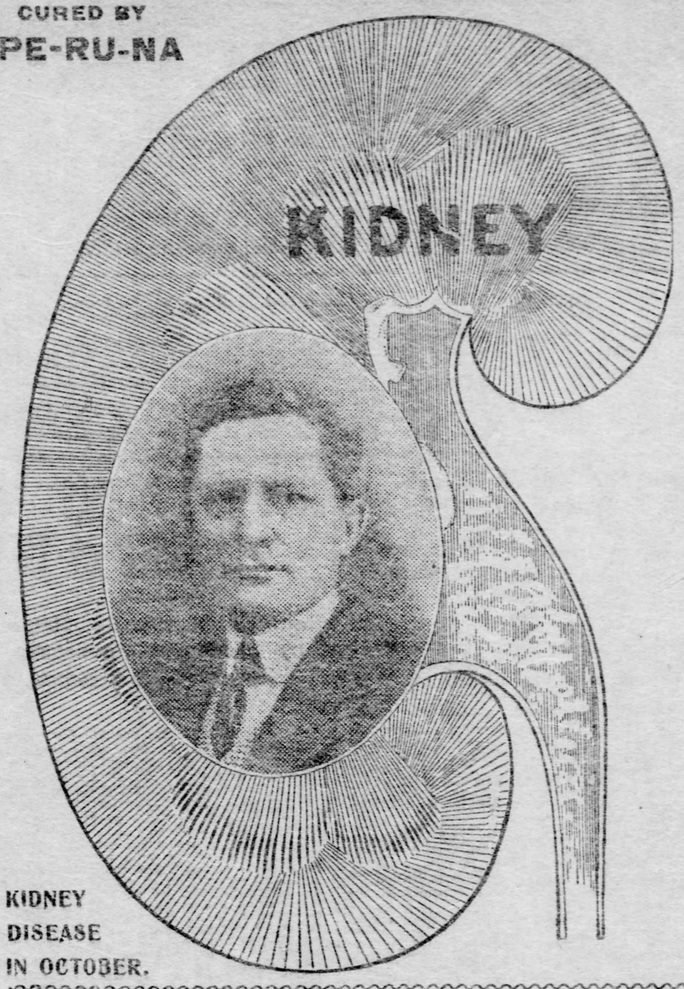
DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS

CURED BY

PE-RU-NA



KIDNEY DISEASE IN OCTOBER.

Mr. F. B. Richards, 602 "E" street, N. W., Washington, D. C., War Correspondent, writes:

"Exactly six years ago I was ordered to Cuba as staff correspondent of the New York Sun. I was in charge of a Sun dispatch boat through the Spanish-American war.

"The effect of the tropical climate and the nervous strain showed plainly on my return to the States. Lassitude, depression and incessant kidney trouble made me practically an invalid. This undesirable condition continued, despite the best of treatment.

"Finally a brother newspaper man induced me to give a faithful trial to Peruna. I did so.

"In a short time the lassitude left me, my kidneys resumed a healthy condition, and a complete cure was effected.

"I cannot too strongly recommend Peruna to those suffering with kidney trouble.

"Today I am able to work as hard as at any time in my life."—F. B. Richards.

OCTOBER is notably the month of kidney diseases. The reason is:

During the warm months the skin has been freely throwing off water in the form of perspiration.

The cool days and cooler nights of October in a measure stop the action of the skin.

The superfluous impurities must find their way out through the kidneys. This puts upon the kidneys a great strain of function.

The passage of these poisons through the kidneys irritate them and excite Bright's disease.

At this time the kidneys need some encouragement, some assistance. Peruna gives just this assistance.

It gently stimulates the kidneys to increased function, and thus guards against the possibility of disease.

People inclined to weakness of the kidneys ought to use the precaution of taking Peruna during the month of October.

At the first sign of kidney disease, such as scanty urine, backache, puffiness under the eyes, etc., Peruna should be taken. It may save months of sickness.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O., and he will give you the benefit of his valuable advice gratis. All correspondence strictly confidential.

CLOSE WITH BIG DEMONSTRATION

Plans Are Being Made for Final Meeting of the Republican Campaign.

SENATOR KNOX WILL SPEAK

All the uniformed clubs in Allegheny county will participate in a parade on November 5, the Saturday night before the election. The demonstration will be followed with a meeting in Old City hall, to be addressed by Senator P. C. Knox, Col. Henry Hall and all of the congressional and legislative candidates.

A meeting to arrange for the demonstration was held at Republican county headquarters last night. W. I. Mustin presided and among those in attendance were County Chairman Ford, Secretary Muehlbronner, H. G. Wasson, chairman of the committee on meetings and speeches; L. L. Davis of the county committee and William C. Gill of the campaign committee. John B. Barbour, Jr., was chosen chief marshal of the parade. The committee that will arrange details and fix the route of parade is W. R. Browne, W. I. Mustin, Capt. J. A. A. Brown, George A. Neale and Harry S. Lydick. Maj. J. M. Tee, L. R. Dilworth and B. C. Barton will arrange for the bands and red fire.

Among the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Republican uniformed clubs that have promised to participate in the demonstration are the Tariff club, Americus club, James Francis Burke club, A. Edlis club, Eleventh Ward club, P. C. Knox club, A. J. Barchfeld club, Roosevelt and Fairbanks club, Twenty-second Ward Republican Marching club, Roosevelt Marching club and the grand Central Republican club.

Chairman Ford reported that he had secured a promise from Senator Knox to make a short speech and preside over the meeting. The other speakers, in addition to the candidates, will be Col. Hall. The speeches will be brief. After the clubs have escorted the orators to the hall the marchers will go over the route fixed by the committee. Organizations from a number of Western Pennsylvania towns will be given invitations to participate in the parade.

Pennypacker at Braddock.

There will be a big Republican rally in Carnegie hall, Braddock, on Thursday evening of next week. The orators will be Gov. S. W. Pennypacker, Congressman John Dalzell, ex-Senator William Flinn, Senator W. A. Magee, County Chairman T. J. Ford, City Chairman M. G. Leslie, Thomas Morrison, ex-Judge Josiah Cohen, John P. Hunter and Samuel Hamilton, superintendent of county schools. Gov. Pennypacker will be accompanied to Braddock by his secretary, Bromley Wharton, and Cols. Samuel Moody and Homer J. Lindsay of his staff. The party will be entertained by Charles E. Dinkey, general manager of the Edgar Thomson steel works, at the Edgar Thomson club house.

Members of the county committee of Braddock, North Braddock and Rankin and the city committees of Braddock and North Braddock met in the office of Fred W. Edwards last night. Complete arrangements were made for the rally. There will be a street parade previous to the meeting. Republicans from all parts of the valley will take part in the demonstration.

The new Civic club, organized at Wilmerding, is said to be a Citizens party movement under a new name. Effort is being made to interest the officials of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company in the organization.

Carpenter Answers Critics.

J. McF. Carpenter last night addressed a Republican meeting in Sewickley. He replied to the Democratic papers that have criticised him for leaving the Democratic party and speaking for the Republicans. He said:

A man never knows just how poor an opinion some people have respecting him until he dares to express publicly his opinions on public questions. I had supposed that I was acting honestly, but I learn through one of our newspapers that I really am not honest, but merely bidding for any favor I may get. I have never been a candidate for nomination or election to any public office save only that I was nominated for school director and refused to make any canvass. My opponent was elected, and I was among the first to congratulate him and was glad to have the opportunity. I suppose that some newspaper editors are just like ordinary mortals, they are prone to judge other people by themselves.

No man is true to himself who sacrifices his convictions to appease the wrath of his enemies or to retain the goodwill of his friends. A man is not justified in deserting his party merely because he cannot agree with it in every detail, but he is justified in refusing to support it when for eight years it has advocated principles that if adopted would bring discredit upon the nation and untold distress, and although practically confessing error, refused to renounce the error or give any promise for the future.

Other speakers at the meeting were H. L. Riley, John S. Weller and J. W. Holmes. Before the meeting the Roosevelt Republican club of Sewickley paraded.

Helping Congressman Cooper.

Tonight Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, A. S. Miller and others will speak at a Republican meeting in Carrick at Threnhauser's hall. Dr. A. J. Barchfeld and Surveyor of the Port M. M. Garland, on invitation of Congressman Allen F. Cooper, went to Point Marion, Fayette county, yesterday, where they spoke at a Republican meeting last night.

T. Edward Murphy of Johnstown has been added to the list of speakers at the South Side mass meeting, to be held tomorrow evening in Odd Fellows' hall, Sarah and South Eighteenth streets. All the South Side wards are taking an interest in this meeting, which promises to be largely attended. The speakers, in addition to Mr. Murphy, will be Dr. John D. Carr, Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, the Hon. Josiah Cohen and Robert K. Aiken of New Castle.

McKeesport Republicans will have a street parade in connection with their mass meeting Friday evening in White's opera house, at which the speakers will be Congressman John Dalzell, Senator John S. Fisher of Indiana, Pa., W. H. Coleman and S. D. Oliver.

S. G. Lennox and E. M. Grove last night registered as candidates for select councilman in the Seventeenth ward. They will submit their names to the Republican voters at the primaries to be held Saturday.

A REMARKABLE ORDINANCE

Town Council Votes to Have Entire Village Laundered.

WELDRESTVILLE, PA., Oct. 25.—At a meeting of the town council of Weldrestville, Pa., a village of some 3,000 inhabitants, which was held tonight, it was decided to appoint Brace Bros., the well known launderers of Pittsburgh, to be the official launderers of the entire village. This action was taken to ratify the appointment made some few weeks ago by President Dunrite. The vote was almost unanimous, only two members voting against it.

This is without doubt one of the most unique steps ever taken by a community in this or any other country. Arrangements have been made for a general and receiving and distributing office, where all the laundry will be received and sent to Pittsburgh. Last Saturday several of the local officials drove in a tally-ho to Brace Bros.' plant and spent several hours thoroughly inspecting it. Upon the recommendation of these officials, the town council took final action tonight.

Efforts are now being made to have the women agree to send their dyeing and cleaning to Brace Bros., as the sanitary condition of their plant will undoubtedly aid in materially reducing the sick list in our town.

Form a Roosevelt-Fairbanks Club, Which Is to Be Permanent

Walter McFarlane, First Lieutenant. | S. L. McCracken, President. | Robert Louden, Second Lieutenant. | J. V. Cunningham, Captain. | Charles H. Young, Secretary. | Martin Flanagan, Treasurer. | John C. Jackson, Vice President.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—The Roosevelt-Fairbanks Republican club which is designed to be a permanent political organization of this county, was organized here last week at a largely-attended meeting of active Republicans, who assembled in the council chambers. Attorney Samuel L. McCracken presided and Attorney Charles H. Young, for several years secretary of the Republican county committee, acted as secretary. The greatest enthusiasm was manifested and it was decided to have the new club chartered and to secure permanent headquarters. The club will be modeled much after the Lincoln club of Beaver Falls, whose recent visit here formed the inspiration that led to the local club's organization.

The officers elected are: President, Attorney Samuel L. McCracken; vice president, Mayor John C. Jackson; secretary, Attorney Charles H. Young; treasurer, Martin J. Flanagan; captain, District Attorney Joseph V. Cunningham; first lieutenants, Walter McFarlane and Martin J. Flanagan; second lieutenants, Robert Louden and John Elder, Jr.; uniform committee—Martin J. Flanagan Mayor John C. Jackson and Walter McFarlane.

PROTECTION PRINCIPLE SOUND AS YEARS AGO

Secretary Shaw Replies to Parker—Growth of Tin Industry Proof.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 25.—A large Republican meeting here was addressed by Secretary Shaw tonight. The secretary said that on Saturday last the Democratic candidate for president discussed the tariff question before a delegation representing certain Democratic clubs of New York city, reviewed the history of tariff legislation in the United States. He cited the fact, so frequently stated, that originally the protective tariff was imposed for the encouragement of infant industries and he drew the conclusion that because our industries are no longer infantile, therefore the protective tariffs should be removed. Mr. Shaw contended that the principle of protection is as sound now as it was 100 years ago and the application of the principle is as beneficial now as it was then. Continuing the secretary said:

Either Judge Parker knows nothing about the principle of protection, or I know nothing about it. On the same day this speech was made I had a long interview with a man interested in a number of canning factories, and who, therefore, consumes large quantities of tin plate in the manufacture of cans to hold his product. He cited the effect of protection on the tin industry, and said it had resulted in cheaper tin. He said that he could now buy American tin cheaper than foreign tin, regardless of the duty, but he recognized and on his own motion suggested that if the duty were removed the foreign manufacturers would dump tin in this country until our factories were closed, and then advance the price to the point where it was before that industry was protected.

THE REV. J. T. M'CRORY ANSWERS RABBI LEVY

Takes Issue With Him on His Remarks Concerning the Enforcement of the Sunday Law.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

As the law of 1794, commonly known as the Sunday law, is a matter just now of especial public interest I ask space for a brief reply to Dr. Levy's sermon, printed in your issue of Monday morning, as his plea against the law of 1794 is both disingenuous and misleading.

First. He expresses astonishment and regret that it is necessary in this age of the world to lift a voice on behalf of religious liberty as though the world was at one on that issue, while in fact there is not another nation under heaven but this free America that is not in a ferment over that very question. France, Italy, Germany and even Great Britain, not to speak of others, are in a ferment with the struggles of the spiritually oppressed missions, and Dr. Levy's countrymen are coming here by the ten thousand to escape that oppression. It is hardly magnanimous, to say the least, for him to assail institutions that guarantee him the largest spiritual liberty.

Second. He insinuates that the man who lost his life in the Allegheny mob was a victim of spiritual oppression and was struggling against it, while everyone knows that he was, on the other hand, the victim of that spirit of defiance of all law and all kinds of liberty which expresses itself in brute force and violence.

Third. He extols the joys and advantages of a well-kept Sabbath, and then deprecates the effort to enforce such Sabbath-keeping by law, knowing as every intelligent person does, that the law of 1794 has absolutely nothing to do with the way he or any other man keeps the Sabbath. So far as the law of 1794 is concerned he can do as he pleases on the first day of the week, so long as he does not interfere with the rights of his neighbor. The law is not made to compel him or any man to keep a Sabbath; it is made to protect him from those who would interfere with his right to keep the day as he may choose.

Fourth. He insinuates that the law of 1794 is a union of church and state and must be struck down by patriotism in the interests of religious liberty; and yet that law has stood for 110 years, extolled and commended by expounders of constitutions and judges of supreme courts as in absolute harmony with and one of the mightiest bulwarks of this very religious liberty which this great American republic was founded to establish and defend. Surely some of these men knew something of modern conditions as well as of the conditions of spiritual liberty, even though their "brave ancestors" were not farseeing, albeit very good men in their way.

Fifth. Dr. Levy ignores the fact that the law of 1794 belongs to a form of civilization—Christian civilization. Now, whether other forms of belief or unbelief accept it as a good thing for the world, it is certainly but fair to insist, in view of what it has done for mankind, that before trying to undermine its foundations and demolish its superstructure, they wait until a better form has been successfully exploited by some other form of religion or irreligion.

Sixth. It is really pathetic to note with what persistent ignorance and loving fervor the enemies of the law of 1794 cling to that "ice argument," even in frosty weather. If Jesus, "the gentle, loving" Jew, we are assured, were here and wanted to heal some poor cripple with a piece of ice, it could not be secured on Sunday. Why? Now, if Dr. Levy will just bring that frozen logic and "cold, hard fact" into the genial atmosphere of the law of 1794, with its generous, humane exceptions, he will find it all dissolving into hygeia or crystal water and the pathetic argument will have a suitable moisture without any undue strain on the lacrimal glands of either the conscience or the common sense of the logician.

Seventh. It may have been unfortunate that the founders of this republic lived so long ago and were not able to avail themselves of the wisdom that sees that what they thought would be in the interests of humankind issues in an "inquisitorial, persecuting," intolerable despotism; still we ask fair play for them and insist that at least they shall not be held up to contempt and blame by means of misrepresentation and disingenuous discourse.

Murder Victims Laid to Rest.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—The funerals of Thomas Connelly and Patrick J. McLaughlin, who were shot by Fred C. Wolf on Saturday night, were held today. The puddlers attended the funeral of Connelly, and the finishers, headed by President Theodore J. Shaffer of the association, were the escort for the body of McLaughlin. The line of march was crowded with spectators. All the police in the city were in readiness for trouble, but there was no disorder.

Victim of Epilepsy Fatally Burned.

BRYAN'S WORDS TO MEET CLAIMS OF THE DEMOCRATS

Republicans Issue Quotations from His Speeches—Much Noise Made Over His Indiana Tour.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—The Democratic campaign managers have been making so much noise over Bryan's tour of Indiana that the Republicans are sending out the following quotations from speeches of the once peerless leader:

I am sanguine enough to believe that I can prove to every unbiased mind that Judge Parker is not a fit man to be nominated either by the Democratic party or by any other party that stands for honesty and fair dealing in politics.—William Jennings Bryan in 1904.

When the election was over I found that I had carried nearly every state in which I did not speak, and lost every state I visited.—William Jennings Bryan in 1900.

The following statement was issued by the Democratic national committee today:

Mr. Bryan's second tour of Indiana closes tonight, when, according to his own estimate, he will have addressed 700,000 people. Mr. Bryan is quoted as saying: "There will be no considerable defection among the silver Democrats of the state. If I can judge from what I have seen in the sections I visited, I take it for granted that every gold Democrat who has not gone over to the Republican party permanently will support the ticket. I leave Indiana with hope and confidence of Democratic victory."

SOUTH BEND, IND., Oct. 25.—William J. Bryan spoke here tonight, finishing his Indiana tour. He spoke today in Kendallville, Goshen, Warsaw, North Manchester, Bolivar, Rochester and Plymouth.

At Plymouth, Mr. Bryan said in part:

If our candidate does not represent all that we desire in the way of reform, the Republican candidate stands for no reform whatever, and we cannot advance bimetalism through the election of Roosevelt, nor can we secure any other remedial legislation.

GUN DISCHARGED BY TWIG.

Young Man Awaiting Trial for Murder Accidentally Killed While Shooting With Friends.

WAYNESBURG, PA., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Lazar Spragg, a wealthy young farmer of Nettle Hill, Greene county, who was awaiting trial for killing of David Seals, an equally prominent young man, met death by accident today. This afternoon he went to the home of William Whipkey, a tenant, to divide some corn. After dividing the corn he asked Harry Whipkey to throw up his hat and let him shot at it. The latter, with Elias Moniger, was unloading a sledload of timber. Spragg was standing nearby leaning over the muzzle of his shotgun, when a piece of wood was thrown off the sled, striking the hammer of Spragg's weapon and discharging it. The shot penetrated his left side just below his heart, and he fell dead.

Aged Woman Drowns Herself.

WAYNESBURG, PA., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—The body of Mrs. Susan Swannager was found in a small run near Rogersville today, where she had drowned herself. She disappeared Saturday evening. She was 70 years old. Family troubles are given as the cause of suicide.

Rev. Rush, one of the best known clergymen in Montgomery County, O., writes: "For the first time in my life I give a medical testimonial. After thorough trials I find Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm all, and even more, than is claimed for it. It is the only remedy myself and family have found that does all and more than it promises. I tender this unsolicited testimonial out of a sense of duty to the suffering." Fraternally and truly,

ATKINSON'S FIGURES RIDICULED BY TAFT

Shows Impracticable Method by Which Anti-Imperialistic Estimates Were Reached.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 25.—Secretary Taft addressed a big Republican meeting here tonight. He referred in his speech to Judge Parker's statement that Edward Atkinson estimated the cost of the Philippines to date at $1,200,000,000. He then said, in part:

The method by which Mr. Atkinson reaches this is by taking the total expenses of the government in Mr. Cleveland's and Mr. Arthur's administrations of nearly two decades ago and finding the per capita expenses, and then taking the expenses of the McKinley and Roosevelt administrations and taking the per capita during those administrations, allowing 50 cents a head as the natural increase for all expenses and subtracting the total expense under Arthur's and Cleveland's administrations for eight years from the cost of the administrations of McKinley and Roosevelt, and this increase he charges wholly to the Philippines. He does exclude therefrom $300,000,000 for the cost of the Spanish war, reducing the $1,500,000,000, which he found to be on the increase, to $1,200,000,000. In other words, he charges to the poor Philippines the cost of total expansion in the expenses of this government for every imaginable purpose, most of which was utterly unconnected with the Philippines at all, and including one year before the Philippines were heard of.

The ludicrous absurdity of his theory of figuring is shown by the fact that if we add together the total expense for the six years beginning with the year ending June 30, 1899, which was the year including the great expense of the Spanish war, because only $50,000,000 were expended before that, and include every year down to the end of the fiscal year 1904, June 30 last, the total expenses of the war department and the navy department—not only of the army and the navy, but of the war department and the navy department—would amount to $1,233,000,000.

MISSED TRAIN; STARTED FIGHT

Riled Pittsburgher in Cincinnati Gives Police Ample Evidence of a Strenuous Life.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Pat McCabe of Pittsburgh started three fights in about as many minutes this afternoon, all because he missed a train. He and a man named Mahan went to the Grand Central depot to go to Marietta, but found the train had gone a few minutes before they arrived. McCabe attacked Gus Kleinjohn, who was standing in front of the Lyceum theater. He sat down on him and was enjoying himself trying to strangle him when the crowd pulled them apart.

Then McCabe hunted Mahan, found him in a saloon and threw him into the street. His next mix-up was with Patrolman Greeneberg. The crowd helped Greeneberg and McCabe was finally loaded in a patrol wagon and locked up on a charge of assault and battery.

CHURCH UNION OPPOSED.

Southern Presbyterians, However, Favor Closer Fraternal Relations With Northern Body.

MARTINSBURG, W. VA., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Virginia synod of the Southern Presbyterian church adjourned tonight. The question of closer relations and organic union with the Northern Presbyterian church, which was expected to stir up a lively discussion today, created no bitterness. The Rev. Dr. Ernest Donaldson, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Huntington, W. Va., talked in favor of organic union. Vigorous speeches were made against it by Dr. Fleming of Lynchburg, Va., Dr. Daniel Lewisburg, the Rev. Harris Kirk of Baltimore and others. The synod was overwhelmingly against organic union, but favored closer fraternal relations.

Church Centennial Services End.

NEW WILMINGTON, PA., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—The centennial celebration of the organization of the First United Presbyterian church of this place concluded this evening with an address by the Rev. John A. Henderson of Allegheny on the subject, "The Man for the Future." Several ministers who were formerly connected with the church as members or as pastors spoke this afternoon.

WHY APPENDICITIS?

Why is appendicitis so common today?

Because we have got into the pernicious habit of eating too fast.

Dr. Curtis, the great authority on this disease, says: "Appendicitis often follows the eating of a very hasty, or particularly large or indigestible meal."

After carelessly following a foolish custom you can ensure your safety by taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

It is an accepted, scientific truth, which admits of no dispute, that if you will only keep your digestive apparatus in good order, you will never suffer from this dread disease, which, at best, means a weakening operation, with long weeks wasted in bed, and big doctor's and surgeon's bills to pay as souvenirs.

Keep your appendix in health by the proper use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, whenever you have laid yourself open to danger by overeating, and upon the least sign of stomach or intestinal trouble, for otherwise, at any time, this dangerous disease may lay you low.

The curative influence of this great medicine is quickly shown in the gentle, soothing effect it has on all inflamed conditions of any part of the digestive tract.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets tone all those parts up to a proper condition of perfect health, and regulate their functions into a proper working state.

They also make away with all the causes of irritation, inflammation or indigestion, by helping to dissolve, digest and assimilate, or put to proper use, all the food which is lying around in odd corners of your digestive apparatus, fermenting, rotting and curdling, like so much garbage in a dirty sink.

In these natural and perfectly simple ways, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets restore all sufferers, from any form of dyspeptic trouble, to health.

They are safe and reliable. They never fail to relieve and cure, quickly and permanently.

Use them, and you need never worry about your vermiform appendix.

Rejuvenation of Old Faded Carpets

Dyed by New Process They Become as Pretty and Serviceable as When First Bought.

No one thinks nowadays of discarding a carpet or rug because it happens to be faded or because the color is not what is desired. The sensible thing to do is to send it to the Linnekin Company, who have a new process of dyeing which gives absolutely perfect results. One can secure any shade or color desired and the expense is a mere trifle.

The Linnekin process is entirely different from any heretofore in use, and is so successful that it is impossible to distinguish a carpet that has been dyed by this process from a new one.

If you want an estimate of what your work will cost, call up the Linnekin Company by telephone or send them a postal card.

TWO BISHOPS TO SETTLE TROUBLE

Bishop Turner Arrives With Power to Settle Trouble in Bethel Church Fight.

STIRRING TIMES AT MEETING

Matters warmed up in the Bethel church fight last night. Bishop H. M. Turner arrived from Atlanta, Ga. Bishop W. P. Derrick arrived from New York some time yesterday. Bishop Turner on his arrival last night went at once to Edward's hall, in Arthur street, where the congregation of the church was awaiting him. Bishop Derrick went to the home of the Rev. W. S. Lowry, in the East End, and refused to be seen.

When Bishop Turner arrived at Union station about a dozen representatives from both factions were there to meet him. The Lee faction wanted him to go to the hall and meet the people. The Lowry faction assured him there was no one at the hall and wanted to get him away. The Lowry faction was headed by the Rev. W. H. Brown and the Rev. W. B. Anderson. H. D. Woodson, one of the trustees of Bethel, headed the Lee faction. Woodson told Bishop Turner several hundred people awaited him at the hall. The ministers of the other faction assured him there was no meeting and wanted him to go with them.

On being assured by a reporter that the hall was packed, the bishop stepped into a carriage and was driven to the hall in Arthur street. The Lowry faction boarded street cars and were there when he arrived. The bishop made a stirring speech. He told his audience, which packed the hall almost to suffocation, that he had come to Pittsburgh to preach peace. He would meet with the members of the Bethel congregation this evening at the church in Wylie avenue.

"Make it Thursday evening. We have a wedding tomorrow evening," suggested the Rev. Mr. Lowry.

"Well, isn't the life of Bethel church of more importance than 10 weddings?" sharply responded the bishop. "Let them go to another church. Better still, let them come to this meeting and I'll perform the ceremony. We will meet at the church."

In his speech to the congregation the bishop said: "Many of you were down on me four years ago, because I opposed the election of President McKinley. Well, I did and I have no apologies to make. I did all I could to prevent his re-election. And I want to say to you now, that I am in favor of that great humanitarian who sits in the presidential chair today, and I hope and pray God for his re-election."

At the close of the meeting there was another wrangle for possession of the bishop. The Lee faction wanted to entertain him and so did the Lowry faction. Pastor Lee had arranged to take him to his home. The Lowry people wanted to take him elsewhere. The bishop cut the wrangle short by going to the Colonial hotel and refusing to lodge with either. Going down Arthur street to the car, Pastor Lee asked permission to speak to the bishop privately. Pastor Brown stepped up and Pastor Lee asked him to keep away.

"Oh, shut up," replied Pastor Brown. "I don't want you to talk to me."

"Don't you tell me to shut up," shouted Pastor Lee, as he drew back his fist and started towards Brown. "Don't you dare to tell me to shut up," and he stepped forward.

Several of Pastor Lee's friends caught him and drew him away. Then he started down the street with the bishop. The Lowry faction pushed forward, when Policeman Andrew Terry interfered.

"Keep back there," he shouted. "Don't any of you interfere with the bishop."

"There was an angry mutter from the Lowryites. "You will butt in, eh?" inquired the officer. "Well now, any of you push in there and I'm going to lock you up. Oh, I don't care if you are preachers. I'll lock you up anyhow. Just you push up there and see if I don't," and he waved them all back with his club.

The discomfited Lowryites fell back and Pastor Lee talked with the bishop on the way to the car. The party rode to the hotel, where the bishop registered for the night and then went to the East End to visit Bishop Derrick. Bishop Derrick sent an order by Pastor Brown last evening that the church was not to be opened to Bishop Turner. Pastor Lowry replied that he did not intend to open it. Bishop Turner, when asked about this last evening, said he would show them this evening whether the church would be opened or not. He has the authority from the council of bishops and he proposes to use it.

SUSPICION OF MURDER IN ALLEGHENY DEATH

Coroner Investigating Case of Scott Desinger—Murderer Follows His Victim.

Babe Victim of Foul Play.

The coroner is investigating the death of Scott Disinger, aged 60, a teamster, of Gladstone street, Allegheny, who died early yesterday morning from hemorrhages of the brain. A post mortem examination will be held on the body today. Disinger was found in a stable in Beaver avenue, Allegheny, early Sunday morning. He was in an unconscious condition and had a number of bruises and swellings on his head. It was thought that he had been drinking at the time and no attention was given him. Monday night his condition became worse and Dr. E. E. Neely of 1309 Pennsylvania avenue was summoned. Just how he received his injuries is not known. From their appearance and condition it is not thought they were inflicted by a fall.

Mrs. Sarah Walters, who was shot by Peter Fitzwilliams, who then killed himself, at a boarding house, 2502 Frazier street, Monday night, died yesterday morning at the Mercy hospital. Fitzwilliams was infatuated with the woman and killed her because of jealousy. The woman is said to have been the wife of a Philadelphia man.

The remains of an infant apparently about a week old was found under his front doorstep by John Casper at 5299 Stanton street yesterday afternoon. A detective has been put upon the case.

John Conley, aged 15, died yesterday at his home, 311 Catherine street, McKees Rocks, from a pistol shot inflicted by his mother early Sunday morning, who mistook him for a burglar. He was a son of Thomas J. Conley.

Emma F. Vogel, aged 6, of 2439 Carson street, South Side, died at her home last night from burns received yesterday afternoon while playing about a bonfire near her home.

Catherine Coyle, aged 62, of 1503 Federal street, Allegheny, died at her home yesterday from heart disease.

The inquest in the death of Capt. Albert M. Teeters, who was shot accidentally by Lieut. J. R. Welsh last Saturday in the pistol range in the Franks-town avenue station house, was held yesterday and the jury exonerated Welsh.

GLASS MEN SIGN JOINT AGREEMENT

Independent Manufacturers and Jobbers Form an Organization to Control Output.

TO ELECT OFFICERS NOV. 3

The American Window Glass Company will have as a competitor the consolidated interests of all the independent manufacturers and also the jobbers. The manufacturers and jobbers held several meetings the past few months in devise plans to meet the prices maintained by the American company. Their deliberations ended yesterday at a meeting at the Hotel Henry, at which a joint agreement was signed by all present.

The agreement contains few words, but its meaning is weighty. It means that no independent manufacturer shall sell his output to any jobber who is not a member of the association and that the jobber will not buy glass from any firm that is not affiliated with the organization.

The agreement ends the complications caused by the dissolution of the Window Glass Jobbers' association, something over a year ago. Since then two associations of manufacturers have been dissolved—the Federated Window Glass Manufacturers and the Independent Window Glass Manufacturers. The American Window Glass Company remained intact and the dissolution of the two associations of manufacturers and the selling agency offered the company a splendid opportunity to enter the field as a manufacturer and jobber retailer. The company opened branch houses in several important cities throughout the country. Its principal branches are in Boston, New Orleans, St. Louis and Chicago. As the American controls the machine glass plants, it is able to enter the market at lower prices than any of its competitors.

The independents and the jobbers expect to offset this advantage of the American company. All purchasers of glass will be required to deal entirely with the jobbers belonging to the joint agreement association. In this way the market for the American company will be restricted to those who do not favor the consolidation of the independents and the jobbers.

The manufacturers and jobbers will hold another meeting November 3, when a name will be chosen for the organization and officers elected. At yesterday's meeting over 1,000 pots were represented and over 80 per cent of the jobbers. The organizers expect to get the signatures of the other 25 per cent of the jobbers and all the remaining manufacturers.

DABRYDINO HAS THE SYMPATHY OF SEVERAL

They Are Those Who Think He Should Not Hang Tomorrow for Killing His Sweetheart.

There are some persons who believe that Albert Dabrydino should not be hanged tomorrow for the murder of Mary Mucenska, who was killed on May 28, 1903. It is believed by them that Dabrydino should have been convicted of manslaughter instead of murder in the first degree. These persons believe that Dabrydino told the truth when he said he intended to kill himself, and that the girl was shot while trying to prevent him from doing so.

Dabrydino was to marry the girl and had paid her expenses from Poland. Arriving in this country the girl apparently became indifferent to Dabrydino, which made him indignant. On the day of the shooting he bought a revolver and a box of cartridges. He went to the girl's house, 150 Plus street, South Side, about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Peter Dabrydino, his brother, and John Carzynska and Mary Mucenska were in the room. Dabrydino asked his brother and Carzynska to leave, as he wanted to talk to the girl.

A few minutes later these men heard three shots. They found the girl lying in the hallway, where she had fallen in her attempt to get away from Dabrydino. One bullet had entered her left breast, passing through her lungs and heart, and lodging in her back. She died a few minutes later.

At the trial Carzynska testified that several days before the shooting Dabrydino complained to him of the girl's indifference. "If she will not marry me, she will not marry anyone else," were his words to Carzynska.

Dr. Walter C. McCandless testified after examining the body that there were no powder marks found on the body or clothing, and it "was not likely there was any struggle between the girl and Dabrydino."

Assistant District Attorney John Robb, Jr., showed the court that Dabrydino bought the revolver with the knowledge that Mary Mucenska would not marry him. When the case was appealed to the pardon board that body held this action alone manifested premeditation.

Teeters' Successor Appointed.

John Callan was appointed police captain in the East End district yesterday, to succeed Capt. A. M. Teeters, who was accidentally shot and killed last week. Callan has been doing duty as a special officer in plain clothes and was attached to Central police station since his appointment in the police bureau in April, 1903. He was formerly a Pennsylvania railroad detective. He is 30 years old and lives at 62 Elm street.

Old Man Put Up a Fight.

E. H. Rice, an aged resident of Seventh avenue, West Homestead, was held up by two men near the Howard axle works early yesterday morning and after a desperate fight thwarted the men in their efforts to rob him. Rice wore a gold watch and chain and had $23 in his pocket.

WILLIAM P. PRICE KILLED BY TRAIN

Former President of Allegheny Councils Meets Death at North Avenue Crossing.

HAD AN HONORABLE CAREER

William P. Price, one of the most widely-known residents of Allegheny, was killed last night at the North avenue crossing of the Fort Wayne railroad by being struck by an express, eastbound. He was taken to the Allegheny General hospital, but died a few minutes after arriving there. His haste in trying to cross ahead of an eastbound freight was the cause of the tragedy.

Mr. Price left his home at 908 Beach avenue about 7:30 p. m. As he approached the tracks the gates were lowered. Seeing the freight and wishing to cross ahead of it, he walked under the gates with a young man named Dalzell, with whom he had been walking. The express running on the inside track was not visible to the men, and it was not until they had passed the outside track that Dalzell saw the approaching passenger train. He called to Mr. Price, but the latter saw the danger too late and was struck. His skull was crushed and his body terribly bruised. Dr. C. B. King attended the injured man and sent him to the Allegheny General hospital. Dr. Harry T. Price, a son of the victim, arrived at the hospital a few minutes before his father died.

Mr. Price was born in the Second ward, Allegheny, in 1845, and had lived there during his entire life. He served a number of terms on the school board of the Second ward, and in 1875 was elected to represent the ward in common council.

During '74 and '75 he was president of that body. The following year he left councils, but subsequently was elected school director and served in that capacity for many years. When a young man he engaged in the grocery business with his father, Henry T. Price, at Federal and Erie streets. For the past 15 years he has been in the electrical contracting business with his son, George Price. For many years he was an elder in the Fourth United Presbyterian church.

He was one of the organizers of the board of poor commissioners of Allegheny and served in that capacity until Allegheny became a city of the second class, in 1891.

The last time Mr. Price came prominently before the public was a year ago, when Director McIlvain started the movement that resulted in the ousting of Librarian William M. Stevenson from Carnegie library and the appointment of Edward E. Eggers. Mr. Price was chosen to represent the public in opposition to the removal of Stevenson.

In 1872 Mr. Price was married to Margaret Whilsell of Allegheny, who survives him. Mrs. Henry T. Price, mother of the deceased, is still living. The following children survive: Dr. Harry T. Price of the staff of the Allegheny General hospital, George, Ella, Katherine and John McC. Price. The following brothers also survive: James and Martin of West Virginia, Charles of Allegheny and Frank of Wilmerding.

YOUNG GROOM WINS OUT.

Faced Constable on Return from Wedding Trip, but Magistrate Discharges Him.

ALTOONA, PA., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Robert Reffner was torn from the arms of his bride by a constable with a warrant for his arrest when he arrived here from his wedding trip. He was accused of enticing a minor female from her home. The female was Miss Phoebe Rockwell. They eloped and were married at Camden, N. J., October 19. The mother of the bride objected to the match and to harass the new bridegroom swore out a warrant for his arrest.

Magistrate Kinch heard the case today and decided that no law was sufficiently strong to separate the apparently happily mated young couple. He accordingly discharged the bridegroom.

MORLEY WILL BANQUET HERE.

To Attend Chamber of Commerce Function on Friday Night.

He will remain until Saturday morning in order to accept an invitation to attend the banquet of the chamber of commerce on Friday night, November 4.

Chairman W. N. Frew of the board of trustees announced yesterday that Andrew Carnegie would remain in New York during the celebration. Carnegie museum has been temporarily closed until Founder's day in order to effect changes in the exhibits.

Any Rheumatic sufferer may have a full dollar's worth of my remedy free

I searched the whole earth for a specific for Rheumatism—something that I or any physician could feel safe in prescribing—something that we could count on not only occasionally, but ALWAYS. For the ravages of Rheumatism are everywhere and genuine relief is rare.

After twenty years of search and experiment I learned of the chemical I now employ. And I knew then that my search and my efforts were well rewarded. For this chemical gave me the basis of a remedy which in the cure of Rheumatism is practically certain.

I don't mean that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure can turn bony joints into flesh again—that is impossible. But it will drive from the blood the poison that causes pain and swelling, and then that is the end of the pain and swelling—the end of the suffering—the end of Rheumatism.

I am willing that you should prove my claims at my expense. I will gladly give you a full dollar package of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic remedy to try. For I know that you and your neighbors and friends will, by your good wishes and your good words, more than repay my initial loss.

You pay nothing—you promise nothing you risk nothing—you deposit nothing

Crystallized Poison!

You know that hard water leaves a deposit of lime in the bottom of the teakettle in which it boils, and soft water does not. That is because soft water is filtered and contains no lime, while hard water is not filtered and is full of it.

You can imagine that if that deposit were to settle in the joint of your knee it would be extremely painful. And if the deposit grew you could finally no longer endure the torture of walking.

Yet that is the very way Rheumatism begins and ends. Except that the deposit which forms is not lime, but crystallized poison.

For your blood is always full of poison—the poison you eat and drink and breathe into your system. It is the purpose of the blood to absorb and carry off this very poison. And the kidneys, which are the blood filters, are expected to cleanse the blood and send it back through the system clean to gather more poison which, they, in turn, will eliminate.

But sometimes the kidneys fail. And sometimes from some other cause the blood gets so full of poison that they cannot absorb it all. This is the start of Rheumatism. The poison accumulates and crystallizes. The blood carries the crystals and they increase in size. Then, when it can carry them no longer, it deposits them in a joint—on a bone—anywhere.

The twinge in your leg—the dull ache in your arm on a rainy day—these are the outward signs of the unseen crystals. And the twisted limbs and unspeakable anguish of the sufferer who has allowed his symptoms to go unheeded and unattended for years—these are the evidences of what Rheumatism neglected can do.

Rheumatism includes lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, gout—for all these are the results of rheumatic poison in the blood.

Plainly, the first thing to do is to remove the poison. But this is not enough. The FORMATION of the poison must be stopped, so that nature may have a chance to dissolve and eliminate the crystals which have already formed. Unless this is done there can be no cure—no permanent relief.

A Certain Cure

I spent twenty years in experimenting before I felt satisfied that I had a certain remedy for this dread disease—a remedy which would not only clean out the poison, but one which would stop its formation.

The secret lay in a wonderful chemical I found in Germany. When I found this chemical, I knew that I could make a Rheumatic cure that would be practically certain. But even then, before I made an announcement—before I was willing to put my name on it—I made more than 2,000 tests. And my failures were but 2 per cent.

This German chemical is not the only ingredient I use in Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure—but it made the remedy possible—made possible an achievement which I doubt not could have been made in no other way.

This chemical was very expensive. The duty, too, was high. In all it cost me $4.90 per pound. But what is $4.90 per pound for a REAL remedy for the world's most painful disease?—for a REAL relief from the greatest torture human beings know?

But I do not ask you to take a single statement of mine—I do not ask you to believe a word I say until you have tried my medicine in your own home at my expense absolutely. Could I offer you a full dollar's worth free if there were any misrepresentation? Would I do this if I were not straightforward in my every claim? Could I AFFORD to do it if I were not SURE that my medicine will help you?

Simply Write Me

The offer is open to everyone, everywhere. But you must write ME for the free dollar bottle order. All druggists do not grant the test. I will then direct you to one that does. He will pass it down to you from his stock as freely as though your dollar laid before him. Write for the order today. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 4568, Racine, Wis. I will send you my book on Rheumatism beside. It is free. I will help you to understand your case. What more can I do to convince you of my interest—of my sincerity?

WORRY HASTENS VAN COTT'S END

Son's Arrest and Postal Scandal Induce Illness Fatal to New York Postmaster.

STRICKEN WHILE AT DUTIES

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Oct. 25.

Cornelius Van Cott, postmaster of New York, died suddenly at his home, No. 163 West Eighty-sixth street, at 3:20 o'clock this afternoon of heart failure, induced by acute indigestion. Attending physicians said worry brought on the indigestion. Richard Van Cott, son of the postmaster, was arrested a few days ago charged with colonization frauds in the Fifth assembly district and his father had evinced great anxiety as to the outcome of the charges.

The postoffice scandals, in which the federal investigators accused Mr. Van Cott of paying illegal compensation to Beavers and of illegal payments to his son Richard, had also preyed upon Mr. Van Cott's health, although his friends had remained staunch to him and no proof of collusion had been adduced. In the colonization case a witness testified he was told that "dad" had refused to take part.

It was the third attack of indigestion within the last 24 hours that proved fatal to Mr. Van Cott. He suffered from a sudden seizure last night while at work at his desk, but was able to consult his family physician, Dr. J. S. Richardson. Today he made a brave attempt to resume his duties, but had not been in the postoffice more than 10 minutes before he was again stricken.

Third Attack Proved Fatal.

Energetic efforts by a physician who was at once summoned restored Mr. Van Cott so much that he decided to remain at his office, but shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon he was stricken a third time and wholly collapsed while being removed from the postoffice in a carriage, dying soom after reaching his home.

Cornelius Van Cott was born on February 12, 1828, in this city. He has always lived in New York. After a common school education he learned to be a compositor and then a coachmaker. After serving as a volunteer fireman he interested himself in politics and became a worker in the Fifteenth ward. Through his political influence he secured his first official place in the custom house, under Collector "Sim" Draper, early in the 60s.

He also dabbled in the insurance business, and in 1873 he went into the business of manufacturing pocketbooks. Almost immediately, however, he got a big contract for repairing and making United States mail bags, and turned his business ability in that direction.

Under Mayor Havemeyer he was appointed a fire commissioner, and in 1879 he was reappointed by Mayor Cooper, and held that position until 1885. In 1887 Mr. Van Cott was elected state senator from the Eighth district. He was appointed postmaster of New York in 1902 by President McKinley.

Death Regretted at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(Special.)—News of the death of Postmaster Cornelius Van Cott of New York was received at the White House and postoffice department today with sincere regret. It was said at the department tonight that the assistant postmaster, according to law, would serve as postmaster until the late Mr. Van Cott's bondsmen should select someone to serve until the president appoints a permanent successor.

Although some of Mr. Van Cott's opponents in New York have urged another investigation of his office no such orders have been given either by the president or the postmaster general. Two investigations of the New York postoffice had failed to develop anything of a serious nature against the postmaster, and the president was not inclined at this time to order a new investigation. It has been the understanding for nearly a year that Mr. Van Cott would not be a candidate for reappointment, but no decision has been reached in regard to his successor.

AIRSHIP CROSSED THE MISSISSIPPI

Thousands of World's Fair Visitors Watched its Aerial Flight.

BROKE MOTOR IN EFFORT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—Propelled part of the way by its own power, and the remainder of the distance by the wind, which was blowing at 10 miles an hour, the Arrow, an airship owned and perfected by Thomas S. Baldwin of San Francisco, in charge of A. Roy Knabenshue of Toledo, today made an unannounced flight of 10 miles from the world's fair grounds over St. Louis and across the Mississippi river to Cahokia, Ill.

The big flying machine passed over the exposition grounds and soared high above the big buildings of the business quarter of St. Louis. Clinging to the frame work of the car, his precarious foothold an iron tube that forms one side of the base of the triangular network of supports and ribs of the Arrow's body, Knabenshue maneuvered in circles before an accident to the motor rendered the big fan propellers useless and curtailed his command of direction, but not of suspension or descension.

When the motor broke, Knabenshue maneuvered the flying machine into the wind. He was enabled to steer the Arrow in a course that varied several points either way from the trend of the wind, and to land at a point of his own selecting. Steering his ship so that he could gain the best speed from the wind, Knabenshue directed its course over the southwestern residence quarter of St. Louis, where its presence was soon discovered and watched by thousands of persons who rushed from their homes to see it.

Passing rapidly eastward the Arrow reached the business quarter, where its appearance was the signal for great excitement. Clerks deserted their desks, street cars were stopped, and all business was suspended until the airship passed.

Although nearly a mile high, Knabenshue could be seen occasionally moving backward and forward on the small platform, keeping the ship under control. After sailing high over the skyscrapers, he passed to the Illinois side of the Mississippi river, and headed toward Cahokia, where he brought the airship to the ground easily.

Knabenshue said in his opinion the trial of the airship was a distinct success. He said he could have brought the flying machine to the ground at any time, but as he could, to a certain extent, control its movements and, as he felt himself in no danger, he decided to continue the flight and demonstrate even though the motor was broken the Arrow could be controlled. The flight occupied one hour.

The airship was constructed under the personal supervision of Capt. Baldwin in California. It is cigar-shaped, of Japanese silk, 54 feet long and 17 feet in diameter, and requires 8,000 cubic feet of gas to inflate it. The frame attachment is 30 feet long. It carries a double cylinder seven-horse power gasoline engine, making 2,000 revolutions of the propellers a minute possible. The machine is arranged so that the ship is pulled instead of pushed.

ASKS JUSTICE FOR JEWS.

Russian Minister of Interior Pleads for Decent Treatment of Oppressed Race in Empire.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—(Special Cable.)—It begins to look as if the dawn was breaking in darkest Russia. The new minister of the interior, Prince Sviatopolvk-Mirsky, is determined to try to expiate the crimes committed by his predecessor in office, M. Plehve, and yesterday sent to the czar a secret document in which he points out that existing laws are at the bottom of the misery of the Jews, thousands of whom are forced to starve because the laws of the land do not permit them to make a living. The prince says that it is absolutely necessary to change these laws, not only for humane reasons, but also because they, more than anything else, drive the Jews into the ranks of the revolutionists and Nihilists.

The minister also announces that he will give personal attention to the many complaints of the Russian peasants against the aristocratic land owners and will see that in every case justice is done to the complainant.

Could Not Stand Separation.

Granted a divorce on Friday Francesca Chiarolanza and Guiseppe Chiarolanza decided that life without the other was not worth living and about noon yesterday appeared at the court house to have the knot retied. They secured a copy of the divorce granted the woman by Judge Collier on the ground of cruelty and then secured a marriage license.

Fire Horse Killed by Car.

Bill, the lead horse of No. 3 hose carriage, was struck by a street car at Sixth and Smithfield streets yesterday morning while running to a small fire in the plumbing shop of Charles Soffel, Cherry alley and Second avenue, and died from his injuries.

NEW MEMBERS SECURED.

Evangelist Hamilton's Work Pleases Members of Presbyterian Church.

The congregation of the Second Presbyterian church, Market and Franklin streets, Allegheny, has just closed a successful two-weeks' evangelistic meeting. The pastor, the Rev. D. A. Greene, was assisted by the Rev. J. S. Hamilton, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church at New Cumberland, W. Va., who is now devoting his entire attention to evangelistic work.

During the meetings at the Second church many members of sister churches attended and the pastor has announced 21 accessions, making 58, most of which were by profession, since last May. The Second church has 340 members and all are greatly pleased with Evangelist Hamilton's work.

Attempted an Arrest at Graveside.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Constable Phil Zealer this afternoon attempted to arrest John Robenolt while the latter was attending his father's funeral. The officer's appearance created a scene at the graveside. Robenolt has been wanted for two years on a serious charge, in which a 13-year-old girl figured, but avoided arrest. When his father died Robenolt returned home to attend the funeral.

To Operate on Double Turn.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—The bar mill department of the Sligo iron and steel works, removed here from Pittsburgh a year ago, has been equipped with a new cooling bed. The mill was placed in operation today after a brief idleness, and beginning the first of next week, it is announced, it will be operated on double turn.

NOTHING BUT OIL IN ITS BUSINESS

Standard Company Is Goaded Into Formal Reply to Journalistic Attacks.

HAS NO STOCK MARKET RING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—S. C. T. Dodd, of counsel for the Standard Oil Company, authorized today the following statement:

In view of the many false and misleading statements from various sources, the directors of the Standard Oil Company deem it advisable to state to the company's shareholders and the public that neither now nor at any time has the Standard Oil Company or any of its constituent companies been interested in any business not directly related with and necessary to the petroleum trade. It would be almost impossible to designate in this denial the different classes of business with which irresponsible parties have coupled the Standard Oil Company name, but it may not be amiss to specify copper, steel, banks, railroads and gas (other than natural gas), as being most prominently mentioned.

With none of these affairs has the Standard Oil Company been at any time connected. Individual members of the Standard Oil Company have been and are interested, as individuals, in various enterprises, but this is entirely outside of the business of the Standard Oil Company, which is oil alone, unaffected by other interests in which its stockholders may invest. Neither is it true that the Standard Oil Company, Mr. John D. Rockefeller or any officer of the Standard Oil Company has taken part in securing the nomination of any of the candidates for office, as is so positively stated.

Furthermore, it is entirely untrue that there is any "Standard Oil party" banded together for speculation in stocks, as is so commonly charged. The name of Standard Oil Company is frequently used by designing persons in the manipulation of the stock market, but its use is unwarranted. The Standard Oil Company departs from its usual custom in making this denial, for the reason that the statements being made at this time by newspapers, magazines and sensational public speakers, appear to be unusually mendacious and may, to a great extent, mislead the public.

Burglars Stayed to Breakfast.

The home of Henry F. Meyers, in Mills avenue, Braddock, was visited by burglars yesterday morning. A gold watch and chain worth $50, a gold ring, gold bracelet, silver stamp case, $5 in money and smaller articles of jewelry were stolen. In the cellar the visitors helped themselves to breakfast.

"German Poets of Today."

The officers of the German Literary society, by John D. Shafer, president, and Max W. Kurniker, secretary, have issued invitations for a session to be held in the hall of the German Beneficial union, 422 Sixth avenue, next Sunday evening, at which a lecture (in German) is to be delivered by Konrad Nies of St. Louis, on "German Poets of Today."

Survived Shock of 1,300 Volts.

Michael Kollesar of 472 Third avenue, Homestead, grasped a live electric wire, while at work in the Homestead steel works yesterday morning, and received 1,300 volts. He was unconscious an hour. A burnt hand was his only injury.

PASTORAL LETTER FROM BISHOPS

It Deals With Divorce, Heresy, Symbolism, Labor and the Race Question.

GENERAL CONVENTION ENDS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—The triennial general convention of the Episcopal church ended late today with a public service in Trinity church.

From the pulpit Bishop Henry C. Potter of New York read a pastoral letter addressed to the church at large.

Among the many negative actions taken was the decision not to change the name of the church at this time, nor to act on the proposition to group the dioceses into provinces, with a primate at the head of each.

The next convention will be held in Richmond, Va., in 1907.

The pastoral pays a high tribute to the archbishop of Canterbury, points out the necessity of supporting missions in Japan, China and other oriental districts, and continues:

"At the basis of our social order is the family, and while we are fond of girding at our oriental brethren for their polygamic constitution of that institution, it is worth while to ask ourselves the question whether the laws of this land are not in danger of bringing in, though by quite another road, a worse evil. The facility with which the marriage relation may be taken on and put off is one of the menaces of our American civilization, to the possible perils of which Christian people are, as yet, very imperfectly roused.

"We are much disturbed, some of us, because of a contempt for traditions which others tell us they have outgrown. But if we go beneath the despised tradition we shall find that the need which was once believed to be beneath the tradition lives there still, and that he is, most of all unwise who ignores or despises it. The period of the reformation was inevitably a period of the birth of new formularies as well as the recovery of lost ideals, but the church cannot afford to forget that in exalting such formularies into an identity with the essential symbols of the Catholic faith she has been binding on men's consciences burdens heavy to be borne. If modern Christianity insists on unloading the church of some of these we may not confuse that struggle for apostolic simplicity with the profane iconoclasm which would pull down the whole structure of our historic faith."

The letter then takes up what it terms "those two great problems which today supremely confront the republic"—the labor question and the race issue.

Of the first the pastoral declares that "whatever labor organizations have accomplished they have moved along lines which are to the glory of our democratic institutions."

Touching the race problem, the letter says:

"If by giving them (the negroes) freedom we have only given them the power to work mischief, and if lynching has come to be defended as a necessary protection to families, then surely we are face to face with a situation at once desperate and dishonoring. We may not ignore it, we cannot disown it. It is a part of our social situation, and if the church can have nothing to say about it then she simply disowns her duty and her master."

HONORS WON BY FIRST REGIMENT

National Guard Annual Inspection Report Reveals Unusual Average Rating.

WARM PRAISE FROM STEWART

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
HARRISBURG, PA., Oct. 25.

The First regiment has carried off the honors of the fall inspection of the National Guard of Pennsylvania with the remarkable general average of 95.89. The Eighth regiment, which took first honors at the fall inspections one year ago, falls back to second place with a general average of 95.31. The First and Second Philadelphia City troops divide the cavalry honors with a mark of 96.44 each. Troop A, which was recently organized, ranks next with a mark of 96.11. Sheridan troop is given a mark of 95.88 and the Governor's troop is marked 94.88. No rating is given Troop F, which was organized only a short time before the inspection was made.

Battery B is given a general average of 88.75 and Battery C, 87.08. The ratings of the several regimental organizations follow: First, 95.89; second, 90.94; Third, 91.38; Fourth, 92.11; Fifth, 89.36; Sixth, 85.85; Eighth, 95.31; Ninth, 93.78; Tenth, 94.73; Twelfth, 92.50; Thirteenth, 92.11; Fourteenth, 93.13; Sixteenth, 92.55; Eighteenth, 90.52.

The inspections were made at the division encampment of the guard at Gettysburg last July and were announced today in general orders issued by Adjt.-Gen. Stewart. The order also contains the reports of Col. James Regan and Maj. H. P. Birmingham, United States army officers, who were detailed by the war department to attend the encampment.

Gen. Stewart states in the orders that the reports are most commendatory and reflect great credit upon the citizens who compose the military institution of the state and whose devotion to duty has rendered the state conspicuous in the efficiency of the National Guard.

Col. Regan pays a high compliment in his report to the efficiency of the guard. He says:

The National Guard of Pennsylvania is a fine, earnest body of citizen soldiers and one of which, not only the state, but the nation should be proud. The major-general commanding, the governor, the adjutant-general and the inspector-general of the state evinces the greatest interest in everything pertaining to the guard. If the nation could call out this division, just as it is today, it would give an excellent account of itself, as it has in several serious affairs in recent years.

Every time I saw the division formed or forming it was a marvel to me how so many citizens could be brought together from multitudinous callings and from every town and city in the state and maneuvered with such precision and order.

Every credit is due the citizens of the guard for the sacrifice they make and the good work they have done and are doing. There is no citizen after all is said that makes the sacrifice the soldier does. Even in times of peace he is called out to repel mob violence and to maintain law and order. Pennsylvania had the lesson in 1877, and the excellent order of the guard of today shows that they have profited thereby.

Added to Hospital Staff.

At a meeting of the medical staff of the Allegheny General hospital yesterday afternoon, Dr. Joseph L. Duncan was nominated for additional oculist at the hospital.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 25.—The case of John J. Kempf, candidate for state treasurer on the LaFollette Republican ticket, who resigned and later instituted proceedings to prevent his name from being dropped from the ticket, came up before Judge Williams in the superior court today. Kempf's attorney objected to proceeding with the case on the ground that he had not agreed to the stipulation for removal of the case to Judge Williams' court.

The case was previously before Judge Tarrant in the circuit court. Judge Tarrant is now trying a criminal case, which it is not probable will be finished in time to take up the Kempf case. As Monday is the last day for filing nominations with the secretary of state, it is not thought possible that the Kempf case can be disposed of unless the attorneys on both sides can agree on stipulations as to some other court. Kempf's friends are jubilant over the outlook.

ELECTED NEW OFFICERS.

Manufacturers' Association Selects Head for the Coming Year.

The Manufacturers' association of Pittsburgh held its annual meeting yesterday afternoon and besides listening to reports of the officers for the year just past, elected officers and two councilors for the coming year.

The association is composed of manufacturers of Allegheny county and has its headquarters in the Lewis block. The reports of the officers showed the organization to be in perfect condition, financially and otherwise.

The officers elected yesterday were: President, William H. McFadden, Mackintosh-Hemphill Company; vice president, H. C. Shaw, A. Garrison Foundry Company; treasurer, Stewart Johnston, Pittsburgh Steel Foundry; councilors, W. C. Scott, Thomas Carlin's Son's Company, and Edward Kneeland, Frank-Kneeland Machine Company. The two councilors who hold over are E. W. Heyl of Heyl & Patterson and George E. Brush of the Brush & Stevens Co.

The councilors and other officers form the executive committee and will meet within a short time to elect a secretary of the organization. At the election yesterday George Mesta of the Mesta Machine Company refused to be a candidate for re-election as president. He was given a vote of thanks for past services. I. W. Frank was the retiring vice president, and also received a vote of thanks.

Some slight damage was done to the residence of Sebastian Fillner, adjoining the tannery.

Enormous purchase and sale of boys' clothing

THE firm of Goldberg, Harris & Co., 616-618 Broadway, New York, makers of the celebrated "Grindstone" Boys' Clothing, are about to premanently retire from the manufacturing business. Having for years been one of the largest distributers of their goods we were naturally given the preference on their entire stock, which they were desirous of closing out to one house.

We purchased all the boys' suits and overcoats they had on hand at practically our own price. In addition, we also secured the entire surplus stock of the famous house of SAMUEL W. PECK & CO., 806-808 BROADWAY, NEW YORK, makers of the celebrated "Sampeck" clothing. These two purchases represent one of the best boys' clothing transactions we've ever made—and by reason of them we are enabled to sell the season's best goods at less (very much in many instances) than the actual manufacturing cost. Both purchases have been divided into the following price groups:

1.90 now buys boys' $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00 clothing

Embraced are 350 medium weight topcoats and reefers—550 heavy oxford frieze long cut fly front overcoats—676 fancy Russian and Buster Brown overcoats—940 all-wool double-breasted and Buster Brown suits—all sizes, 2½ to 16.

Pants special 3,500 pairs boys' all-wool cheviot and cassimere knee pants—exceptionally well made, sizes 3 to 16, special at, pair.....39c

THE FOOTBALL TEAMS ARE PREPARING FOR HARD STRUGGLES---OTHER SPORTING

GIRLS TO CHEER FOR W. U. P. TEAM

Fair Students of Pennsylvania College Will Attend Today's Game as University Guests.

COACH MOSSE ON HAND

Coach Mosse of Western university, who was a fever victim for three weeks, was at practice at Exposition park yesterday afternoon for the first time this month. While sick he lost 30 pounds in weight, but in the week that he has been on his feet, he has regained 11 pounds. He is still too weak to move around much, but his presence in the field yesterday seemed to inspire the players and they made the practice one of the best of the season.

There were two complete teams out. Captain Thompson did not keep the men at work long. Today the team meets Susquehanna at Exposition park. All that W. U. P. knows about the visitors is that they are heavy and that early in the season they played against the Carlisle Indians. The Wups have lots of confidence in themselves, but Coach Mosse and Captain Thompson realize that their team is not a heavy one and that while its speed is above the ordinary, an opponent with a great deal of weight can give it a lot of trouble. For that reason it was planned to give the players just enough work yesterday to put them on edge for to-day's game.

A feature of the event will be the presence of about two hundred fair students from the Pennsylvania College for Women. They will be the guests of the Western university, the invitation having been extended in a formal way by the university. A section in the grand stand has been reserved for the young women. The Wups will do everything in their power to win the approbation of their guests.

The W. U. P. students, as usual, will occupy the east end of the right field bleachers. They are making considerable progress in their cheers and songs, and will unload the lot upon Susquehanna today.

W. U. P. had two new men out for practice yesterday. One is a young giant who weighs more than 200 pounds. His weight attracted attention and the students induced him to come out and try for the team. Coach Mosse put him through his paces.

The game today will begin at 3 o'clock. The gates will be opened at 2. It is reported that California Normal will have representatives present to get a line on W. U. P.'s style of play, so that it will be prepared for Saturday. The line-up to-day will be as follows:

W. U. P.		Susquehanna.
Perry	L.E.	Mans
Waddell	L.T.	Geise
Zeig	L.G.	Bingaman
McKean	C.	Sassaman
Edgar	R.G.	Schaffer

CHAMPIONSHIP IS PROTESTED

Playing of Dr. Fredericks on Oakmont Team Stirred a Row Among Golfers.

SOME BRILLIANT PLAYING

Oakmont Country club, by its defeat yesterday of the Allegheny Country club, 24 to 5, in the play-off of a tie on the Oakmont links, captured the team championship in the Western Pennsylvania Golf association for 1904. The match was not without its sensational features, chief of which was the playing by Oakmont of Dr. D. P. Fredericks of Oil City.

It was not known by the Allegheny Country club players that Dr. Fredericks was a member of the Oakmont club till a few minutes before 2 o'clock, when play was called. He is an expert and always prominent in national tournaments, although his playing yesterday did not affect materially the result, as he was but one up on H. R. Rea, and that gained on the home hole when Rea had his ball on the lip of the cup for a half. Allegheny Country club formally entered a protest against the playing of Dr. Fredericks on the Oakmont team with E. Z. Smith, secretary of the Western Pennsylvania Golf association, on the grounds that Dr. Fredericks is not a bona fide member of the club. Capt. E. M. Byers of the Allegheny Country club team said that if non-residents could be played by local teams his club could bring on metropolitan players and greatly strengthen his team. He inveighed against such practice.

The match yesterday stirred up golfers hereabout as none heretofore has done. Oakmont, which is really the old Highland Golf club, ceasing its existence at the beginning of the present season and becoming the new Oakmont Country club, which has established itself at Hulton and laid out a great 18-hole course. Highland has won the team championship for the past three years, wresting it from the Allegheny Country club. Oakmont had won its match in the spring with Allegheny and the latter was the victor in the fall. Those with affiliations with the two clubs turned out yesterday to see them battle for the honor which was hanging in the balance.

As to the match, it was a signal victory for Oakmont. Only two of the Allegheny players won their matches. David Baxter was three up on C. B. Fownes and R. P. Nevin, Jr. was two up on W. C. Fownes.

The defeat of Capt. Byers at the hands of W. C. Fownes, Jr., by 9 holes was a staggerer to the hopes of his team. When it is remembered that when the teams clashed in their last match Byers beat his opponent of yesterday by the same margin, the uncertainties of golf are again emphasized. Byers did not win a single hole yesterday and Fownes had him five down at the turn. For the first time the gallery which followed in the wake of these players saw Byers missing his drives, topping his brassies, always playing the odd, generally in the rough and playing out of deep grass. His 81 for the course shows the golf he offered. Fownes had an 80; in fact, he has not been under 81 this fall and his golf on the Oakmont course is practically unbeatable. Their cards were:

W. C. Fownes, Jr.—
Out ..... 4 5 5 5 4 3 4 4 6—40
In ..... 5 4 6 3 4 5 4 4 5—40—80

E. M. Byers—
Out ..... 6 6 5 6 4 3 5 5 6—46
In ..... 5 5 7 3 5 5 4 6 5—45—91

The fastest round of the day was made by Capt. George A. Ormiston, who went around in 39-39-78. He played with O. D. Thompson, and had him 9 down at the end of play. His card was:

Out ..... 4 5 5 5 4 4 4 3 5—39
In ..... 5 4 6 3 4 5 4 3 5—39—78

The race that Rea gave Fredericks surprised some. The latter won the second and third holes and then Rea captured the fourth. Fredericks won the sixth and Rea the seventh, and then Fredericks annexed the eighth and stood two up at the turn, the other holes being halved. Rea, by getting the tenth and sixteenth, had the match squared. The seventeenth was halved and Fredericks won the match on the home hole, when Rea's ball trembled on the brink for a half. The individual results were:

Oakmont C. C.		Allegheny C. C.
G. A. Ormiston	0	O. D. Thompson	0
H. C. Fownes	0	J. E. Porter	0
C. B. Fownes	0	David Baxter	3
D. P. Fredericks	1	H. R. Rea	0
W. C. Fownes	0	R. P. Nevin, Jr.	2
W. C. Fownes, Jr.	9	E. M. Byers	0
Total	24	Total	5

The qualifying round in the competition at the Brighton Country club was played yesterday for a cup offered by Mrs. Elliott Rodgers. Those who qualified to continue at match play rounds and their scores were: Miss Bertha Smith, 105; Miss Eva Stoner, 115; Miss Barilett, 122; Miss McCord, 129; Mrs. Edward Thompson, 130; Miss Elizabeth Rodgers, 131, and Mrs. D. F. Hadley, 124, drew a bye.

"Kid" Tyler Hunting a Fight.

"Kid" Tyler, the 120-pound fighter of this city, has challenged the winner of the Jimmy Dunn-Young McCoy bout at South Sharon last night. Tyler is at present in Philadelphia meeting all comers at his weight. That his challenge was sincerely made is shown by the fact that his manager has posted a forfeit for him to appear with either of the two pugilists in the ring within two weeks.

Lyceum Preparing for Wash-Jeff.

The entire Lyceum team put in over two hours last night perfecting its signals and formations. McMahon, McKeever, Quirdan and Brazell were out, but did not don uniforms owing to injuries received in the games previous, but they will be in condition for Saturday. Campbell, Lyceum's star end, who has been out of the game the greater part of this year owing to fever, has rounded into form and is speedier than ever.

YALE PLAYERS TAKEN TO TASK

Coaches Made Them Work Hard to Hold Ball—Cornell Loses Two of Its Stars.

SOME LIVELY PRACTICE WORK

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 25.—Under orders from the coaching staff the scrub players deliberately disregarded the football rule that prohibits stealing the ball out of the hands of an opponent and today made much trouble for the Yale varsity players. The object is to compel the varsity players to hang onto the ball. Several games have been lost after they seemed won by Yale and repeatedly this year in practice much hard-won ground has been lost, because the ball was so easily dislodged in scrimmages. Nothing but a big score will satisfy Yale in the Columbia game next Saturday, and to that end tremendous pressure is brought to bear to give the Yale team speed in attack. Those who saw secret practice today say that a whirlwind game was played. In the open work the varsity scored once by line bucking, so fast that the scrubs were swept off their feet.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—In two lively 20-minute halves today the varsity ran across another streak of bad luck. An execrable defense on their part, combined with offensive work that was but little better, enabled the scrubs to outplay them. Smashing and tearing down the field for 65 yards in spite of the varsity's utmost opposition the scrubs finally made a well-earned touchdown. Their opponents scored nothing. Most of the gains were made outside of tackle and it would appear that with the recent addition of Dillon in midline it is no longer vulnerable to the former degree.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—The straw that broke the camel's back fell upon Coach Warner today when he lost two of the best men on the Cornell eleven, which will meet Princeton next Saturday on Percy field. Almost all hopes of defeating the Tigers have now been given up and for the first time this year Birmingham, who was the regular right halfback on the varsity, one of the best men in the Cornell back field and the only player on the eleven who could do any drop kicking, was forbidden by the faculty of the college in which he is registered from playing football any longer, and Costello, tackle on last year's varsity and undoubtedly the strongest man in the line, was forbidden by the football physicians to play on account of the serious turn an old injury to his knee suddenly took.

Annapolis.

ANNAPOLIS, MD., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—The aggregation of ex-navy stars who are helping Dr. Paul Dashiell to take the slump of the last few years out of the navy football team has received an increase through the ordering here of Lieut. Arthur Kavanaugh. Lieut. Kavanaugh was center on the teams of 1893-4, both of which defeated West Point, and in the last year he captained the team. He was one of the grittiest players ever in the navy.

Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Twenty-three players, four coaches and three attendants, representing Pennsylvania football gladiators, left tonight on the Colonial express for Auburndale, a suburb of Boston, where they will brace for Saturday's game with Havard. The practice today was secret and the pace was furious. Scrub held its own and the varsity got little comfort. The charge that some of the best players are being kept on the waiting list because they did not pick rich "daddies" has caused a furore. It seems to have foundation, especially in the case of Weede, who last year played end, one of the most promising of eastern players.

PITTSBURGH CLUB MUST SHOW PLAYER'S CONTRACT

McLeer of Omaha May Not Become a Pirate—Minor Leaguers Do a Lot of Business.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Owners of baseball clubs and representatives of every prominent baseball league in the United States, with the exception of the two major organizations, assembled at the Victoria hotel today, where the fourth annual convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues was called to order by President P. T. Powers.

The board of arbitration held a session yesterday which lasted until nearly midnight, and the hearing of claims and disputes was resumed early today. The more important cases adjusted were as follows: In the dispute between Augusta, Ga., Clarksdale, Miss., and Memphis, O. W. Butler was awarded to Augusta. Angelo Marco was awarded to Clarksdale, Clarence Nelson to Houston, Tex., J. Dolan to Little Rock and J. Barton to Grand Rapids. The claim of H. W. Swaim against the Waterloo (Ia.) club was allowed and the charges preferred by the Yazoo City club against Robert Rothermel were dismissed.

An application for membership was received from the Tri-State league, which includes Wilmington, Del., Harrisburg and York, Pa., and protection has been asked for Richmond, Lynchburg, Newport and Norfolk, Va., where a new league is to be formed before next season.

Among the matters acted upon by the board of arbitration which were approved by the association when reported today were the following: The decision of the national commission in the case of Player Roach was reversed, and Roach was ordered back from the Portland (Ore.) club to the Butte (Mont.) team. In the case of Player Dalrymple of the Oskaloosa (Ia.) team, who applied for his release therefrom, it was ruled that unless that club could show a contract with him his release must be granted. The Marion (Ind.) team was ordered to pay a claim for back salary by Player Harry McGrew.

The Pittsburgh National league team was ordered to show a contract or release Player Harry McLeer of the Omaha team, who was alleged to be reserved by the major league club.

EAST LIBERTY BEATEN.

Pittsburgh College Sophomores Too Fast for Opponents.

The East Liberty academy eleven went down before the sophomores of Pittsburgh college yesterday, 21 to 0. The collegians were too much for the East Enders, outplaying them at every point of the game. It was far from being a runaway, as the East Liberty boys compelled the sophs to work hard and fast for every point gained. However, the sophs showed their superiority at almost every stage of the game, the contest abounding in brilliant plays by Murphy, Dowling, Rankin and Keating. Score and lineup:

Neither Team Could Score.

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—Slippery Rock Normal played Grove City to a standstill to-day, neither team scoring. Normals outplayed the collegians and had the ball in the visitors' territory most of the time, and but for a fumble, the Normals could easily have scored, having advanced the ball 85 yards from the kick-off by fierce line bucking.

Push Along, Boys, I'm In a Hurry

Good-Natured Amazon Used Her Elbows With Effect in Liberty Street Crowd.

HAD NO TIME TO LOSE.

The "Old Man" Needed Clothes, and Dinner Must Not Be Kept Waiting.

"Push along, boys, I'm in a hurry."

The speaker was a broad-shouldered, deep-chested Amazon with a good-humored face and merry blue-gray eyes and she smiled cheerfully as she squared her elbows and jostled the crowd of men that was pouring into the Liberty Clothing Company's store at Liberty street and Sixth avenue yesterday afternoon.

"You see, the old man needs some clothes," she explained amiably, "but he's on day turn at the mill and couldn't come himself, an' when I read about the sale goin' on here an' things sellin' at half price, I left the baby with a neighbor an' hustled right down here. But the baby an' the boss 'll both be wanting dinner pretty soon, so clear the way there, boys, I'm in a hurry."

In a surprisingly short time she came out looking happy and carrying the "old man's" suit as easily and jauntily as most women carry a box of chocolates.

The Liberty Clothing Company's sale is drawing big crowds. Suits, overcoats, raincoats, etc., are selling at about half the regular prices.

Here are some of the bargains:

SOCIETY

MRS. ELIZABETH LEMMON appeared to give her daughter away last evening at her wedding in Trinity Protestant Episcopal church. The bride was Miss May Lemmon, who entered the church with her mother, the two walking up the long central aisle behind the troop of maids, ushers and flower girls. Clifton H. Close was the bridegroom. Before the ceremony, which was performed at 7 o'clock by the rector, the Rev. Dr. Alfred W. Arundle, the surpliced choir boys and the organist gave a recital, concluding with a wedding march as the doors were thrown open for the entrance of the bride and her mother and maids.

It was a long wedding procession, the ushers, Dr. Harry Wantole and William Brendlinger of Philadelphia, Albert Kirk, Dr. Edward A. Weisser, Norman C. Brown and Harry Hood of Pittsburgh, leading. They were followed in single file by the maid of honor, Miss Edna Milliken, and four bridesmaids, Miss Elsie Ganter, Miss Ada Jenks, Miss Mabel Close and Miss Edith Wilson, after them coming the three little flower girls, Miss Letitia Close, Miss Marjorie Close and Miss Elizabeth Johnston. Howard Close was the best man.

The bride's gown was made in princesse effect of soft white satin shirred over the hips and above the waist line. The transparent yoke of lace was outlined with a bertha and around the court train were trimmings of the satin. The tulle veil was fastened with orange blossoms and the bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Lemmon was gowned in pearl gray crepe and lace. The maid of honor wore a gown of white French batiste trimmed with valenciennes lace. Her gown was fashioned like those of the bridesmaids, which were of white mull. A tiny green chiffon ruching outlined the pointed lace yoke, under which a lace bertha was arranged. The skirts, cut with short trains, were shirred over the hips. The bridesmaids carried immense clusters of white chrysanthemums tied with pale green ribbon and white maline. The little fair-haired flower girls wore exquisite frocks made almost entirely of valenciennes lace and insertion with broad white satin sashes and hair ribbons. They carried hat-shaped baskets filled with white roses.

The church looked beautiful in its dress of white chrysanthemums and greens. Tall standards of the flowers were placed at each side of the center aisle at every half dozen pews, larger ones being placed at the chancel stairs. The same flowers also adorned the altar and at each side of the chancel were tall palms, while smilax festooned the lights. The same flowers were also used at the Hotel Schenley, where the reception and wedding supper followed the ceremony. After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Close will be at home in Wellesley avenue, East End. Mr. Close is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Close of Darragh street, Oakland.

Pretty Wedding in Wilkinsburg.

A handsomely appointed wedding took place last evening at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Utts, Rebecca avenue, Wilkinsburg, when their daughter, Marchie Mae, was united in marriage to John Hamilton Frederick, Jr. The bride's gown was a beautiful creation of white lace and tulle over white liberty satin; her veil was artistically trimmed with bride's roses and fastened with a crescent of pearls. The bridal bouquet was a shower of white rose buds. The bride was attended by her only sister, Mrs. William Charles Walters, as matron of honor, who was gowned in a robe of lace over pale green liberty satin and carried maidenhair fern. Richard White Watson of Indiana officiated as best man. Mae Reynolds of the East End, Pittsburgh, a cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and Master Paul Utts, brother of the bride, was the ring bearer.

The bride was given away by her father, Milford S. Utts. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Van Fossen of the East End Presbyterian church. Supper was served to 125 guests. The house was beautifully decorated with palms, pink roses and carnations. The bride and groom left for St. Louis and western points where they expect to remain for several weeks. After they return from their trip they will be at home to their friends at Hampton place, Wilkinsburg.

Archbald-Kerr.

SCRANTON, Oct. 25.—Miss Elizabeth Archbald, a daughter of James Archbald, and a niece of Judge Archbald of the United States court, was married tonight to John C. Kerr of Englewood, N. J., in the First Presbyterian church. A large crowd was present. The decorations were particularly elaborate and beautiful. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas F. Archbald of Pottsville, a brother of the bride, assisted by the Rev. Dr. James McLeod, the pastor of the church. The maid of honor was Miss Eleanor Clark of Orange, N. J. The bride's maids were Miss Alice Bellu, Miss Ruth Archbald, Miss Frances Hunt and Miss Caroline Bunnell of Scranton, and Miss Lois Kerr of Englewood. The best man was Clarence D. Kerr of Englewood. The ushers were James Blair of Scranton, A. L. Millbank, W. S. McGuire and R. L. Little of New York, R. S. Morris of Philadelphia, Scott McLenahan of Chambersburg, and Stephen M. Smith of Orange. The Pittsburgh guests were Miss Ann Robinson, H. C. Kessler, Miss Josephine Kessler and Mr. and Mrs. T. H. B. McKnight.

Will Rehearse Tonight.

The rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Nellie Mead and Thomas P. Stran, Jr., of New York will take place this evening at the bride's home in Westminster street, Shadyside, followed by an informal supper. In addition to the maid of honor, Miss Bertha Mead, and the best man, Charles Stran, the party will include Miss Florence Coleman and Miss Virginia McBlair, who will form an aisle for the bride and bridegroom with ribbons, and two nephews of Miss Mead, Archibald Speer and Fitzhugh Speer, the latter of New York, who will take up the ribbons after the ceremony. Miss Agnes Buchanan of San Francisco will arrive in the city today to be entertained at the bride's home over the wedding tomorrow. Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. McCurry and Mrs. Jones of Baltimore, the sisters of the bridegroom, will also come today and will stay at the Schanley, together with several guests from St. Louis.

Successful Benefit Euchre.

Fifty tables were in use at the charity euchre given at the home of Mrs. John P. Ober, Squirrel Hill, yesterday afternoon and evening. The proceeds of the affair will be given to the East End hospital. The tables were placed in the hall room of Mrs. Ober's handsome home. Thirty-three prizes were awarded during the afternoon and seven in the evening. Refreshments were served.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Edward H. Straub, Mrs. August A. Frauenheim, Mrs. Florence Lea, Miss Josephine South, Miss Gertrude Hoevelar, Mrs. Charles H. Dixon, Mrs. William E. Howley, Miss Katherine Vilsack, Mrs. Eugene S. Reilly, Mrs. Stephen Stone, Miss Anna Gerwig, Mrs. Charles W. Gerwig, Mrs. E. J. Frauenheim, Miss May Florence Frauenheim, Miss Marie Friday, Miss Irene Moyer, Miss Lucy Ober, Miss Emma Ober, Miss Mathilda Ober and Miss Elizabeth Ober.

Hepner-Esakavich.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct. 25.—(Special.)—A wedding with beautiful appointments was solemnized at the synagogue on South Fifth street at 6:30 o'clock this evening when Miss Frances Esakavich was united in marriage to Jacob Marcus Hepner of Pittsburgh. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi M. S. Petros. The following Pittsburgh guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. A. Bardis, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tonhopsky, Dr. Sufrilig, Mr. and Mrs. Martin, Charles Levine, Abraham Levine, Alex Little, Miss Minnie Hepner, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hepner, Miles Celio Goldstein, Dr. J. Singer, Dr. Myer Culleman and wife, Dr. J. Freedman, Mr. and Mrs. H. Rovenoviz, D. Glick, Mr. and Mrs. Friedman and Miss Sadie Goldman.

Keith-Booth.

An event of unusual interest in the college town of Bethany, W. Va., was the marriage yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock of Miss Edna Pearl Keith, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. J. C. Keith, and Henley C. Booth, a prominent lawyer of Santa Barbara, Cal. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father and witnessed by the members of the Bethany college faculty, of which the bride, as well as her father, was recently a member. Other residents of Bethany and a number of friends from a distance were present. Miss Katherine Keith, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Miss Dorothy Cranblet was flower girl. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Booth left for brief visits to Philadelphia and Washington. They will go their home in California by way of St. Louis and New Orleans.

Mrs. Fairbanks Their Guest.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 25.—The tenth annual state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution held here today had as a guest Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks, the president-general of the order.

A Golden Wedding in Wildwood.

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barr of Wildwood will be observed today at their home. The festivities will consist of an all-day reception, to be followed by an old-time country dinner. Mr. Barr is 73 years and his wife 75. No children have been born to the union. They were married in the Bakerstown Covenanter church, the pastor performing the ceremony having died but three weeks ago. Among the guests today who witnessed the marriage ceremony 50 years ago will be Mrs. Barr's brother and sister, Mrs. Hugh Crumy of Wildwood and Mrs. Mary Phillips of Bloomfield and Mrs. Charles Kumer of Perrysville. Mr. Barr was born on Brilliant hill, near East Liberty, while Mrs. Barr was born upon the farm upon which her present home stands.

Polack-Hess.

Miss Anna Polack, daughter of Mrs. Kate Polack, and Carl Hess were married yesterday in Braddock. The service was performed by the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy, rabbi of the Temple Rodeph Shalom. The maid was Miss Jennie Shields of West Braddock and the best man was Harry R. Polack, a brother of the bride. A reception and wedding dinner for 75 followed the ceremony. The bridal couple left last evening for a lake trip. They will be at home after November 15 in North Braddock.

Two Weddings in an Old Family.

Two weddings of interest in an old Allegheny family will take place within the next week. The first is that of Miss Laura Geyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Geyer of Davis avenue, Allegheny, and Charles Buchner, which will take place tomorrow evening at the home of the bride's parents at 8 o'clock. The Rev. W. J. Schaman, pastor of the McClure Avenue Lutheran church, will officiate. The second wedding is that of a cousin of Miss Geyer, Miss Eleanore Geyer and John Knox, also of Allegheny, which is to take place at the parochial residence of St. Peter's Roman Catholic church, Allegheny, next Wednesday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock. Both brides are members of an old Allegheny family which has always been prominent in political life of the city, their uncle, Charles Geyer, having been mayor of the city.

Newmyer-Trainor.

Miss Anna Welty Newmyer, daughter of Mrs. John C. Newmyer of Wilkinsburg, and Dr. Charles Edwin Trainor of New Wilmington, Pa., were married last evening at the home of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Green, in Stratford avenue, East End. An uncle of the bride, the Rev. Charles E. Jefferson, pastor of the Broadway Tabernacle church of New York, officiated, and a brother, George M. Newmyer, gave her away, while two sisters, Mrs. Carl Porter and Miss Mary L. Newmyer, were matron and maid of honor. Rufus C. McKinley served as best man and the ushers were Dr. Samuel S. Woods of Sharon and Dr. D. C. Lindley of New Castle. After a couple of weeks in the east, Dr. and Mrs. Trainor will receive their friends at their home in New Wilmington.

WOMAN'S CLUBS.

A Belated President's Day.

With the exception of the Twentieth Century club, the Columbian Council of Jewish Women is almost the only woman's club in Pittsburgh which has not yet observed president's day. However, it has selected tomorrow afternoon on which to honor its own president and to meet the presidents of the other women's clubs in the two cities. President's day will be observed in the new Bellefield clubhouse in Craig street, near Center avenue, Bellefield, the hour for commencing the program being 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Rebeccah Kohut of New York city will be the guest of honor and will make an address on a subject allied to Jewish home life. Mrs. Kohut is well known as an educator, being the head of a large private school for girls in New York city. She is a very able and gifted woman and recently in Chicago delivered a vigorous address before the Congress of Mothers. Miss Stella Kaufman and Miss Bessie Franks are among the Pittsburgh girls who have attended her school. While in Pittsburgh Mrs. Kohuts will be entertained at the home of Mrs. A. Leo Weil. On Thursday evening Mrs. Isaac W. Franks will give a dinner in her honor, to which have been invited the officers of the Columbian Council of Jewish Women. The president's day program will also include an address by the president of the council, Mrs. Enoch Rauh, and an exceptionally enjoyable musical program, including numbers by Miss Helen Kell, vocalist; Miss Julia Gibansky, pianist, and Mr. Rofen, violinist. Miss Yetta Baumgarten, a delegate from the council to the meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women in Lancaster last week will give a complete resume of the work of that convention. Following the conclusion of the formal program a reception will be held and coffee served.

State Schools for Children.

Mrs. Edward L. Jones, who was delegated by the Travelers' club to attend the meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women in Lancaster last week, was much impressed with the lack of homes provided for the children who come before the juvenile court. Mrs. Jones in reporting yesterday afternoon to her club advocated the establishment of state schools where such children may be taken in charge when they are brought before the juvenile court, state schools much like those which have been founded for the care of orphans of soldiers. Most people are unwilling to take these little waifs into their own families and state schools or institutions provided by public funds Mrs. Jones suggested as an alternative. Mrs Jones gave a very interesting report of the state meeting, her detailed account of the work of the convention being supplanted by reports presented by Mrs. Alfred E. Clark and Mrs. Henry J. Bailey, who spoke of the outside features, including the many social affairs in honor of the visiting club women. The Travelers' club held a very interesting meeting under the direction of Mrs. William Macrum, president, and Mrs. George Hubbard, chairman for the day. Mrs. Macrum talked on the "Culmination of Anglo-Saxon Prose Under King Alfred;" Mrs. John Hamilton following with a discussion of "Alfred as a Man of Letters." Mrs. Aaron West spoke on "Popular Songs and Ballads," Mrs. Theodore Slicker of the "Song of Roland," and Mrs. Charles P. Lang of the "Romance of King Alexander."

The Monday Club of Carnegie.

The Monday club of Carnegie met October 24 at the home of Mrs. George Foster. Members responded to the roll call by quotations from Shakespeare, the author whose works formed the topic for study. Mrs. T. J. George, the leader, gave an introductory talk on the life of Shakespeare. The plays, for convenience in study, were divided into three groups—historical, comedy and tragedy—each group being the subject of a paper by Mrs. Marion Carnahan, Mrs. Harry Fitzgibbons and Mrs. R. L. Walker. A selection from "As You Like It" was read by Miss Eleanore Fitzgibbon. Miss Mary Bell, who recently traveled in England, gave a description of her visit to Stratford-on-Avon. Mrs. Joseph Duff spoke of current events and Mrs. William Galbraith furnished the music. During the social hour the hostess was assisted by the Misses Helen Greer of Canonsburg, Edna Murray of Bridgeville, Clara Culbertson of Crafton and Mary Davis of Carnegie.

Off for the Convention.

The following members of the state board of the Women's Temperance union from Allegheny county left at 8 a. m. yesterday from Union station for Bloomsburg to attend the annual state convention of the W. C. T. U., to be held October 29 to November 1: Mrs. H. H. Forrest, Mrs. E. W. Gormley, Mrs. M. A. Irwin, Mrs. R. J. George and Mrs. F. J. Beyer. The Allegheny county delegation, led by Mrs. E. S. McMaster, will leave for the convention at 8 a. m. tomorrow. The delegates are: Mrs. J. C. McDowell, Mrs. R. C. Wylie, Mrs. Dr. McCullough, Mrs. W. R. Porter, Mrs. M. E. Stevick, Mrs. S. Woolmly, Mrs. E. J. Moore, Mrs. M. J. Davis, Mrs. M. C. Taggart and Miss Carrie Bebout.

Will Speak at Chautauqua.

George Gerwig, secretary of the Allegheny board of school controllers, has been invited to deliver at Chautauqua next summer the series of essays he has written on characters from Shakespeare's plays. A number of these essays, dealing entirely with the heroines of Shakespeare's plays, have been delivered from time to time before several of the women's clubs in Pittsburgh and in private houses, where they have attracted much interest by their fine insight into the delineation of the characters of the women who contribute so much to the world-wide knowledge of human thought and feeling shown by the greatest of English poets.

THE THREE RIVERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 25.—The stage of the river at 8 o'clock this evening was 4.9 feet and stationary. Weather, cloudy and cooler. Young's departures were Katie Mac, Portsmouth; Kanawha, Louisville. River men are expecting a rise shortly in the Ohio, which will relieve them from many embarrassments. The barges are very light and the upper harbors are crowded with empties, and the path between the barges from each side of the landings will allow of but a small boat passing at the present time.

STEUBENVILLE.—River 3 feet 1 inch and stationary. Weather cold; raining.

LOUISVILLE.—River stationary. In canal, 2.6; on falls, 4; below locks, 3.4. Cloudy and cool.

PARKERSBURG.—River 2.7 feet and falling. Weather clear and cool. The Lizzie Smith left at 4 a. m., for Wheeling.

CALLIPOLIS.—River 2 feet 8 inches and falling. Weather clear and cool.

WARREN.—River 2 feet 1. Weather cool and light rain.

OIL CITY.—River 2 feet 8 inches and falling. Weather cloudy and cool.

GREENSBORO.—River 5.6 feet and stationary. Weather fair and warmer. The Wood up and down Wednesday and the Columbia up.

MORGANTOWN.—River 5 feet 6 inches and stationary. Weather cloudy and warmer.

FT. PLEASANT.—River 1 foot 6 inches and falling. Down, Macmald. Weather cloudy and cool.

VISITING COMPANY'S WORKS.

Officials of Big Coal Concern Making a Tour Along the River.

At Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night the stage of water was 4.1 feet and the river was stationary.

Officials of the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company are engaged in a tour of the river from Brownsville to Pittsburgh inspecting the properties of the company along the way. The trip is being made on the Tornado, which has been fitted for the accommodation of its guests. Improvements will be decided upon and many changes will probably be arranged for in the future.

C. S. Beckwith, president of the Muskingum & Ohio River Transportation Company, was in the city yesterday from Malta, O.

The Rose Hite will enter the Morgantown trade the first of next month, taking the place of the L. P. Woodward. The Woodward will lay up while extensive repairs are being made.

The ninth soot was reported overflowing yesterday morning, owing to the recent rains. The effect will not be felt locally for a day or two yet, but rivermen are anxiously hoping for more rain to give them a boating stage in the lower rivers.

Maj. W. L. Sibert has had plans prepared for the rebuilding of the dams in the Monongahela river in anticipation of the next congress, or some future one, passing an appropriation bill for that improvement. It is proposed to rebuild all of the old dams and make the Monongahela the greatest stretch of slack water in the world.

Agents

AGENTS—Wanted in Pittsburgh and natural gas towns to sell famous Wiltom gaslight burner; it excels all other high-power burners in brilliancy, durability and economy; makes fully 300-candlepower light with one small regular sized 10-cent mantle, last indefinitely. The new Wiltom No. 5, just out, is the KING OF LIGHTS for residences and stores; can be used on high or low pressure; either ARTIFICIAL OR NATURAL GAS. Its illuminating power is three times greater than that of the ordinary burner; any mantle or any style globe or chimney can be used. It is a light that never fails. It is the only DUST PROOF light in existence. The airholes are enclosed by a perforated shield which excludes all lint and dust from the burner. It is the easiest regulated of all gaslights. The Wiltom side screw regulator is the simplest and best adjustable gas check ever devised. The flame can be regulated from the highest to the lowest point of combustion, thus saving the consumer 25 or 30 per cent on his lighting bills. People who use the Wiltom "No. 5" have the satisfaction of knowing that every atom of gas they pay for is turned into light. We are offering special inducements to agents; the best of the season just starting, enabling them to make $5 to $15 a day.

STOCKS CLOSED LOWER AFTER AN EXCITING DAY

Transactions Were on a Larger Scale Than for Three Years—Gold Engaged for Export—Steel Statement Not So Favorable.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market was more exciting and the dealings were on a larger scale than at any time since May, 1901. Some idea of the wildness of the dealings may be had from the statement that during the first half hour after the opening 800,000 shares of Union Pacific changed hands within a range of fluctuations of ¾ per cent. At the same time there were enormous sales of other stocks, and for the first two hours the sales exceeded 1,000,000 shares. The total for the day was 2,016,500 shares, and of this amount 350,800 shares consisted of Union Pacific, 110,500 shares of Erie, 85,900 shares St. Paul, 134,100 shares Southern Pacific, 111,500 shares Rock Island and 112,100 shares United States Steel preferred.

Wall street was prepared for some pyrotechnics by the London quotations, which were all higher for American securities, with Union Pacific showing a gain of 1¼ per cent. During the morning hours more than a score of stocks advanced to the highest level on this movement, and the market was kept boiling by the distribution of all sorts of stories of probable and improbable consolidations. The concerted strength displayed by Union Pacific, St. Paul and Northern Securities was taken as the groundwork for a story of the settlement of the Northern Securities dispute by a partition of transcontinental lines into two large groups, one embracing St. Paul, Burlington and Great Northern, and the other Union Pacific and Northern Pacific, with their allied lines.

Just before the noon hour a smart reaction occurred all through the list, but in the early part of the afternoon the whole market moved up under the leadership of Union Pacific, which touched 112, the highest of the year. St. Paul had crossed 170, reacted sharply, and then recovered to within a fraction of the high point. Southern Pacific rallied 6¼ points, a new record, and Atchison to 88¼, the movement in the latter being based upon rumors of buying by other railroad interests for the purpose of "community of ownership" in all lines reaching the Pacific coast. Pennsylvania and some of the high-priced coalers were very strong in the early dealings, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western reaching 300 and Delaware & Hudson 181, but some of the lower priced issues affiliated with this group were heavy and declined sharply. Reading and Erie showing the greatest loss.

In the industrials the readiness with which United States Steel common rallied to 22¾ and the preferred to 93¾, strengthened expectations of a favorable quarterly report to be given out after the close of the market. There was also a report that the corporation had acquired control of Colorado Fuel and Iron, and the latter advanced to 44¾. Smelting, Peoples Gas and Sugar were all strong and higher, while Amalgamated Copper ruled rather heavy, despite a further advance in the price of the metal.

In the closing hour the market experienced the strongest reaction that has occurred on this movement. The decline was led by United States Steel, which broke to 20½ for common and to 81¾ for the preferred. St. Paul also fell away rapidly as it rose in the morning, and Union Pacific broke to 109¼. The movement in these leaders was followed by a pell-mell rush to unload, and the utmost excitement and confusion prevailed. Union Pacific, Ontario & Western and St. Louis & Southwestern preferred were the only stocks to retain any of their gains at the close. All the others closed from ¼ to 2 per cent below the final quotations on Monday, and the feeling was weak.

The most important news during market hours was the engagement of $1,250,000 gold for export to Europe by tomorrow's steamer. This cannot be said to have been wholly unexpected, because the fall in sterling exchange at Paris on Monday and the rise in New York on the same day foreshadowed a movement of the metal to the French market. But the engagement was none the less unusual at this season. For fully two hours after it was announced it was unheeded by the stock market, but the final reaction was no doubt influenced by predictions that additional shipments were likely, and also, perhaps, by an inkling of the United States Steel quarterly report, which was unfavorable, reaching the street.

The local stock market suffered on account of the paramount interests of traders in the course of events in Wall street. Pittsburgh was a large seller of United States Steel issues in New York on the advance, and was also credited with selling Westinghouse Electric in the same market. The dealings in Steel on the local board amounted to only 1,000 shares, and trading here practically ceased before the slump occurred in the east, so that our closing quotations were purely nominal. Westinghouse Electric was heavy, selling down to 84½, and being offered at the close at 84. Absence of detail regarding the necessity for the prospective issue of $15,000,000 debentures was the real cause for the disappointment and selling. Crucible Steel followed the declining tendency of the general market in the final hour and closed fractionally lower. Pittsburgh Brewing was the most active and at the same time the strongest stock on the list, advancing to 26¾. The preferred sold unchanged at 46. National Fire Proofing common declined to 8½, but recovered slightly. Pittsburgh Coal preferred was moderately active, selling at 71¼@71. The rest of the market was dull and without special feature.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Possibly some one in Wall street had an inkling of the official figures relating to the unfilled orders on hand by the United States Steel Corporation, but was in ignorance of the saving clause regarding the bookings which have taken place since the first of the month, and that this had something to do with the heavy selling of the Steel stocks late in the day. Pittsburgh was a heavy seller of both the common and preferred in New York on the advance which occurred during the early part of the day, but the manner in which the market absorbed all offerings and rose to within a shade of the record price of the year for the preferred, suggested that possibly the showing made in the quarterly report had been discounted and that the price would be carried upward with the strong current prevailing in the railroad stocks. The late reaction, however, fulfilled expectations of local traders that a decline would follow the publication of the figures. So far as net earnings were concerned, the official figures just about met previous estimates, but the falling off in the amount of unfilled orders on hand as compared with the close of the June quarter was a disappointment. While the company reports that bookings so far in October have been at the rate of 26,000 tons a day, or 30 per cent increase over the corresponding period last year, it is nevertheless a fact that the last quarter of each year has so far been the poorest, in the matter of orders on hand, for any quarter in the year, as will be seen in the following interesting comparison.

Quarter ending—	Net earnings.	Orders. Tons

In New York Westinghouse Electric sold at the equivalent of 85¾ down to 84, and closed at 83½ bid, the same as on the Pittsburgh board. Private dispatches from New York said that Pittsburgh was trying to sell the stock in that market, but local brokers denied that they were selling. The feeling in Fourth avenue is that an enormous amount of new capital has been expended upon the East Pittsburgh plant of the company, but if the requirements of the future should call for additional capital for these plants there could be no objection to the company raising it in the most advantageous manner possible, and that it would be good policy to look ahead in this respect. However, if the credit of the home company is to be used for helping along the development of other affiliated companies, then there should be the fullest information on the subject, and it should be discussed in a stockholders' meeting. As to the contention that the proposed debentures will not be a mortgage upon the property, that is readily admitted, but the debentures will be a debt of the company, and as such must be provided for ahead of dividends on the stock.

While there is no change in quoted rates for loans in the local market, there is undoubtedly an increase in the amount of loanable funds here. It is estimated that the Wabash purchase of the Pittsburgh Terminal and Coal property brought at least $3,000,000 to this city, and Pittsburgh has for a month past been a large seller of securities in New York and Philadelphia, these sales exceeding purchases.

Investment brokers report an increasing inquiry for Pittsburgh bank and trust company stocks, and predictions are made that this department of the market will show a larger appreciation in values than the industrial department. As the head of one investment house expressed it yesterday: "Pittsburgh banks and trust companies have been reaping a harvest this year. While money was almost unlendable above 1 to 2 per cent in New York for months past, the rate in Pittsburgh held steady at 5 to 6 per cent, and the demand was sufficient to keep all surplus funds well employed. The advance in the market for high-grade securities has enabled those banks which were carrying this class of stocks and bonds to sell at a profit, and to employ the funds to good advantage at home. The percentage of earnings to capital this year should show a large increase. Next month the semi-annual statements of the trust companies will be called, and these will furnish the opportunity for calculating profits during the past six months. This will no doubt be followed by a more active demand for stocks."

There has been a larger number of shares of a single stock dealt in during one day than there was yesterday of Union Pacific, when 800,800 shares changed hands. In fact that stock itself broke that record on April 24, 1901, when 662,800 shares were sold on the stock exchange. The world now knows that competitive buying in retaliation for the effort to control Northern Pacific was the cause of that titanic struggle in the open market. On April 15, 1902, there were 804,500 shares of Southern Railway dealt in on the stock exchange pending the settlement of control of Louisville & Nashville in the general interest of the southern railroad field. With these exceptions, yesterday's dealings in Union Pacific probably form a record. The published assertion that the retirement of the Oregon Short Line participating bonds had been determined on was the inciting cause of this extraordinary movement. The truth of this report could not be learned from any official sources. The exact benefits to accrue to Union Pacific were not very obvious. Although the injunction against the payment of dividends on Northern Securities stock, which forms the collateral for these bonds, makes the payment of interest a burden on Union Pacific, heavy capital requirements would have to be met to retire them and the release of Northern Securities stock would be the only advantage perceptible. But it was assumed, in spite of emphatic official disclaimers, that a settlement of the Northern Securities dispute and a community of interest in the transcontinental railroad world was involved. The buoyant rise in St. Paul was regarded as corroborative of this assumption.

Mr. Paish, one of the editors of the London Statist, which paper makes a special study of copper and copper share speculations abroad, says that England is on the eve of a great trolley development. The Westinghouse Electric Company is planting $25,000,000 in England in order to equip that country electrically. Either the Westinghouse people are making a great mistake or many hundred millions of dollars of capital must flow soon into the electrical development of Great Britain.

The strong demand for gold from Paris and Berlin is attributed to preparations for further loans to Russia.

The New York bond market yesterday was one of the most active of the year, the sales footing up $11,047,000 par value. The sales of stocks were the largest since May 9, 1901, when 3,081,700 shares were sold.

"Some tremendous profits has been made since the first of July. Gates' profits have this year exceeded $10,000,000. Keene's profits have also been large. Certain Standard Oil people are today worth $50,000,000 more than they were on March 1 of this year. It is stated that Gates borrowed last week $3,000,000 on Erie stock alone. Leading financial interests do not like to have Gates take such a prominent position on this advance, but it is impossible to check him with call money under 2 per cent. The remarkable strength of the market is illustrated by the fact that Gates sold 50,000 shares of Reading in one day last week, yet the price declined less than ½ per cent. He sold 50,000 shares of Steel preferred and about 30,000 shares of Union Pacific, yet the price in each case reacted less than 1 per cent."—Adams in Philadelphia New Bureau.

The Pittsburgh Trust Company yesterday declared the usual quarterly dividend of 5 per cent, payable November 1.

Tonopah Extension stock was quoted at $1 60 bid, $1 85 asked. The news from the mine continues very favorable.

Owing to the activity in business the ticker service was compelled to discontinue reporting the amount of stock sales in order to keep up with quotations, and then the latter were 10 minutes behind the actual market.

George L. MacFarlane, one of the charter members of the Pittsburgh stock exchange, will on November 1 discontinue his present office and on that date become connected with the house of Henry Sproul & Co.

The Philadelphia market was also very active, and United Gas Improvement, which advanced to 108¾, was one of the leaders.

United States Cast Iron Pipe directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the preferred stock, payable December 1.

Many conservative Wall street houses that have been bullish for a long time have ceased advising purchase of stocks, believing a reaction of some importance is due between now and election.

NICOLA COMPANY GETS CONTRACT

Will Build 500 Model Houses at Lorain for Tube Works Employes.

MOVEMENTS IN REAL ESTATE

The Nicola Building Company has been awarded the contract for 500 dwelling houses to be erected at Lorain, O., by the Sheffield Land and Improvement Company, involving about $1,000,000. The houses are to be of model design, for the use of workmen at the plant of the National Tube Company. The National Tube plant at Lorain has been entirely remodeled and is at present the largest and most perfect tube plant in the world. The officials claim that it will add 4,000 men to the pay roll in the next few months.

The contract calls for a large number of the houses to be erected by April 1, and as the mills are expected to start between January 1 and that time the officials of the company expect to be able to fully meet the demands of their employes for homes.

The contract consists of houses which will average about $2,000 apiece and have been especially designed by architects for the land company. The Nicola Building Company obtained the contract on October 17, and already 35 cellars have been excavated.

E. J. Speidel of Braddock has commenced the erection of one of the finest houses that will be erected in Wilkins place, Swissvale, this year. The building is to be erected at La Claire and Sanders avenues, Twenty-second ward. It will be a center-hall brick, occupying a ground space of 45x45 feet, and will cost about $20,000. It will be in the center of a lot 100x120 feet.

James B. McAuley has completed a nice little trade which has netted him a clean gain. He has traded four lots in Oswego street, Eleventh ward, Allegheny, 40x150 feet, to Harry L. Eynon, for a lot 65x154 feet in Webster avenue, near Union avenue, Thirteenth ward. The property has erected upon it four houses, of six rooms and bath each. The value involved is about $11,000.

WHEAT DECLINES ON A MILLING RUMOR

Slackened Demand for Flour May Cause Shutdown of Minneapolis Concerns.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Reports of a possible shutdown of the northwestern flour mills caused a decline of 1⅞c in wheat prices here today. The market closed at almost the lowest point of the day. Corn is up ⅜c. Oats are up a shade. Provisions are 12½ to 22½c down.

As a result of easier cables, sentiment in the wheat pit at the start was rather bearish. December being off 1⅛ to ⅝c at $1 15¼ to $1 15⅝. May was down ⅛ to ⅜c, at $1 14⅝ to $1 14½. Local longs had considerable wheat for sale, mostly for May delivery. The May option, as a result, showed greater weakness than December, selling off to $1 14¼. Later the market rallied considerably on covering by shorts, who bought freely on smallness of the primary movement and on reports of wet weather in the Canadian Northwest. On the upturn, December sold at $1 16 and May at $1 14⅝@1 14⅝. A radical change in sentiment was experienced late in the day as the result of bearish advices from the Northwest, where a heavy decrease in flour trade was reported. A rumor was circulated that Minneapolis mills would be compelled to shut down, owing to the slackened demand for flour. Sales of large quantities of wheat by houses with Northwestern connections seemed to give additional weight to depressing reports. Before the decline was checked December had dropped to $1 14⅜, and May to $1 13⅛@1 13⅜. The market closed extremely weak, with December at $1 14⅛@⅜, 14⅜. Final quotations on May were at $1 13⅜. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 23,600 bushels. The world's visible supply, as shown by Bradstreets, increased 3,500,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,114,700 bushels, compared with 1,229,100 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 957 cars, against 1,158 cars last week and 972 cars a year ago.

Sentiment in the corn pit early in the day was a trifle easier as a result of ideal weather conditions and lower prices of wheat. The market, however, recovered from the slight initial depression, the advance having its inception in a strong cash situation. Light country acceptances also aided the upturn. December opened unchanged to ¼c lower at 48⅛c to 48⅜c, sold up to 49⅝c, and closed at 49⅛c. Local receipts were 180 cars, with 15 of contract grade.

Oats were firm, with local traders inclined to the buying side because of the bullish trend of corn. A decrease of 847,000 bushels in the available supplies for the week, as shown by Bradstreets, was a bull factor. After opening a shade lower at 28⅝c, December advanced to 29@29¼c, and closed at 28⅞c. Local receipts were 172 cars.

Provisions were weak under the influence of persistent selling by pit traders. A decline of 10c in hog prices had considerable effect on provisions. At the close January pork was off 22½c at $12 32½. Lard was down 17½c at $7 10. Ribs closed with a loss of 12½c at 86 42½c.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 80 cars; corn, 72 cars; oats, 65 cars; hogs, 25,000 head.

To Terminate Receivership.

The indications are before the close of the present year the Pennsylvania company will have taken over the Vandalia lines, and the receivership of the latter company will be terminated. Secretary S. B. Liggett of the Pennsylvania lines has issued notices that on December 15 a meeting of the stockholders of the Vandalia will be held at Greenville, Ill., for the purpose of taking final action on the matter.

Railroad Notes.

S. C. Long, division superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad, inspected the branch lines yesterday.

The Erie is spending several thousand dollars in repairing the tracks between Sharon and Wheatland on the New Castle branch.

In a report just issued by the Railway Protective bureau, an organization established about two years ago for the purpose of conducting a crusade against scalpers, it is shown that the losses during the fiscal year amounted is over $10,000,000.

Claims Discrimination.

Coal operators in Central Pennsylvania are preparing to make a fight against the railroads for alleged discrimination. When the question of freight rates for next year is brought up next January, the coal mine owners in the central part of the state will make strenuous efforts to have the differential freight rates and demurrage rates now enjoyed by the lines in Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland held abolished, and more favorable rates established for the central district.

RAILWAY ASSOCIATION IS HOLDING ANNUAL MEETING

Representatives of every large railway in the United States and Canada will be in Philadelphia today at the semi-annual meeting of the American Railway association and the American section of the International Railway congress. The program called for the meeting of the executive committee yesterday to complete reports for today's meetings. The executive committee of the association consists of Stuyvesant Fish, president of the Illinois Central and also of the association; George W. Stevens, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio; C. H. Ware, general manager of the Lehigh, Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton; Theodore N. Ely, chief of motive power, Pennsylvania railroad; W. H. Baldwin, president of Long Island road; W. C. Brown, vice president New York Central; Rollin H. Wilbur, general manager Lehigh Valley; G. L. Potter, third vice president Baltimore & Ohio; E. St. John, president Norfolk & Western, and E. T. D. Meyers, president Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac road. Among the important subjects to be discussed is the report of the committee on safety appliances and car service rules. It is said an effort will be made to have the per diem charge on cars advanced from 20 to 30 cents a day, and to have grand divisions of railroads considered as separate lines. Among other reports will be those of the committees on train rules, car service, safety appliances, statistical inquiry, standard timber rules and coupler attachments. The association has a social branch, known as the American Railway guild, and the program calls for a banquet tonight. The executive committee of the association met to prepare plans for the reception and entertainment of the foreign delegates who will come to this country to attend the quadrennial meeting of the congress, which will be held in Washington in May next. The congress is composed of 900 representatives of every railroad in the world. During the meeting of the association a first vice president will be elected, three members of the car service committee, three members of the safety appliance committee and two members of the committee on nominations.

DRIED CHESNUTS ARE THE LATEST IN MARKET

All Lines in Local Trade Growing Dull During the Last Days of the Month.

Dried Italian chestnuts were the newest thing in the market yesterday. The chestnut is comparatively unknown to Americans and its possibilities have never been looked into. The Italians dry them and grind them into flour. They also dry them and boil them, when they wish to use them, in salt water. In this way the chestnut forms a most important article of food to the Italian people.

Prices of nuts are moving up a little. The walnut crop is not going to be as great as was anticipated, and the price has moved up from 75 cents a bushel to $1. Shellbark hickories also advanced in the market and may possibly go higher, as the hickory nut crop is far from a satisfactory one.

In all lines of produce there was not a change in prices. Dealers declared the day was like a graveyard. One remarked that the only thing Liberty avenue needed was a few tombstones. Receipts were not large and there was little doing for what did come in.

In the grocery trade business was dull. No changes were recorded on anything, although jobbers and wholesalers are looking for a movement in coffee and possibly another change in flour. The dull state of business is easily accounted for, these being the last days of the month. Buyers do not like to get into the market during the last week, as the bills come out promptly on the first of the month following the purchase. No general improvement is looked for until about the middle of next week, when all lines are expected to move briskly.

Receipts of produce and fruit yesterday were as follows: Apples, 4, making 46; cabbage 4, making 60; carrots 1, making 2; celery 3, making 6; grapes 2, making 67; potatoes 1, making 117; turnips 2, making 5; miscellaneous 3, making 15.

HAY AND GRAIN.

RECEIPTS.

Receipts of hay, grain and feed at the local railroad yards yesterday were as follows: Baltimore & Ohio, 16 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 1 car corn, 1 car feed; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 1 car oats, 10 cars hay, 2 cars rye; Pennsylvania lines, 18 cars hay, 13 cars oats, 2 cars corn, 7 cars feed.

Heavy receipts of timothy brought the figures on hay down a little yesterday, although the best grades of hay are still in great demand. The receipts have been exceptionally heavy for several days, however, and a slight drop was anticipated. Wheat straw again moved up a little. New corn is selling at 55 cents, although there is scarcely enough on the market yet to fix a price. The demand for corn still continues heavy and it is this fact which is forcing the new crop into the market.

WADSWORTH WAS INDICTED TWICE

Two True Bills Returned Against the Allegheny Alderman by Grand Jury.

IMPORTANT CASES ARGUED

The grand jury yesterday returned two true bills against Alderman Walter Wadsworth of East Ohio street, Allegheny. County Detective Robinson is the prosecutor. Wadsworth is charged with extortion by receiving $50 from Lib Stoner as a reward in executing his office not according to law, and with keeping a disorderly house. He is alleged in the information to have aided Lib Stoner in opening and maintaining the house in Allegheny, where liquor was illegally sold.

These indictments for murder were returned: Thomas O. Russell for killing John Wasmuth, Jesse Reed for shooting William Lawler, Emanuel Mosti for shooting Louis Mosti, Julia Ahlers for stabbing Samuel Brown, and Amelia Kravolich, infanticide.

Other true bills were: Felony, Guiseppe Bonafeda (2). Maria Martino; felonious assault and battery, Anthony Dallas, George Mycsko; aggravated assault and battery, James Stevenson, John Williams; assault and battery, John Krupa, Dono Lewis; conspiracy, William Mineely et al.; forgery, Mike Dates, J. F. Leffer; embezzlement, John S. Bergman, Max Robin; perjury, Irene Brown; false pretense, Emil Conover, B. C. Pettingell, L. W. Wilson; nuisance, James Bannon; larceny, Fred Lloyd, James Murray, Joseph Pugh (3), Edgar Walker.

Wedded and divorced within a year will in all probability be the record established by Jeremiah J. Sullivan and his wife, Lida C. Sullivan, who were married in Steubenville on January 2. Neither one is old enough to appear alone on the record. The husband, who is suing for divorce on the ground of infidelity, is 19 years old, and he married on a salary of $38.50 per month, which he was earning as a clerk at the Union depot.

Confessed and Was Forgiven.

In the divorce suit of Adam Lindh of 2104 Wylie avenue against Cora E. Lindh, on the grounds of desertion, Commissioner W. C. Andersen filed a report after reciting how he discovered his wife's alleged duplicity and alleging that she admitted acts of infidelity. Lindh says: "She asked my pardon, saying that if I would not grant it, she would kill herself, and if granted, she would have no further occasion of the kind." Lindh says she relapsed into her old habits and on October 20, 1902, took her goods away. He says she is now living at 4743 Ben Venue avenue, in a house worth $6,500, recorded in her name. He claims she has inherited no money and has no visible means of support, yet since leaving him has acquired considerable property.

These libels in divorce were filed in common pleas court No. 1: William James Black against Lorella Smith Black, cruelty; Annie Schlieper against William Schlieper, desertion; James K. Jones against Beulah H. Jones, cruelty; Mary A. Campbell against Lewis C. Campbell.

Judge Kennedy handed down an opinion in the Brighton road paving case in which the exceptions filed to the report of the board of viewers were dismissed. The property holders will now have to pay their share of the paving assessment unless the supreme court reverses the case. It was claimed that the improvement of the street under an ordinance enacted before the passage of the ripper bill, was illegal. The contention was that before the passage of the ripper bill the power of letting the contract was vested in the public works committee. The ripper bill required contracts to be let by the recorder, which was done without any special ordinance being passed.

Omission Was Not Fatal.

Judge Kennedy says the omission was not fatal; that the irregularity in letting the contract was due to the confusion arising at the time of the radical change in the municipal laws. He says the city having the power to let the contract, also had the power to adopt the contract made by its agent, even if made irregularly.

In the suit of John Murphy against M. K. McMullin & Co., the arbitrators have filed their report awarding the plaintiff $3,850. The plaintiff claimed an amount was due him on stock held by the defendant.

A verdict of $64,625 was returned for the plaintiff in the suit of Maria L. McGunnegle against the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company. The action was brought to recover damages for land condemned by the company at Esplen and McKees Rocks, along the river front. The viewers allowed $38,000.

In the quo warranto proceedings against Councilman William C. Hill, the defendant filed answer. He denies he was associated with or financially interested in the "Valley Times" when council made it the borough printer. He voted for the contract believing that the "Valley Times" would do better work than the other bidders, and thus compensate the difference in the bids.

An injunction was granted, restraining W. C. Sales from interfering with a pole of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company near his property in Locust street, McKeesport.

Two Important Cases.

Two cases in which the city is interested were argued in the supreme court. One was the Grant boulevard case in which Werneberg, Sheehan & Company for use of the Peoples National bank, are the appellants. They claim damages by delay caused by alleged acts of negligence on the part of the city; for loss occasioned by alleged improper directions of the director of the department of public works; for the system of measurement adopted by the city and for extras. One of the questions to be decided is the jurisdiction of the courts when under a contract the director of the department is the arbitrator in all disputes. The other case of a public nature is the dispute over the office of inspector of oils. Common pleas court No. 1 appointed John Bradley, and Mayor W. B. Hays appointed William Shore, Jr. The mayor claims the right to act under a provision of the law giving such power to the mayor in a county having a city of more than 300,000 inhabitants. Common pleas court No. 2 held that this was intended by the legislature to refer to Philadelphia alone and sustained the appointment of Bradley.

The case of D. F. Henry and wife against Sarah L. Black, the Union Realty Company, R. J. Coyle, Jr., and A. W. Mellon was argued. Mrs. Black owned the Hotel Duquesne. Mr. Henry took an option on it through the Union Realty Company and R. J. Coyle, Jr., but the property eventually went to Mr. Mellon. The lower court decided that Mr. Henry's option was not sufficient, and he took the appeal. The argument attracted some attention owing to the caustic remarks of former Governor W. A. Stone, who appeared for Mr. Henry, about the methods of some real estate agents.

The Frederick Gaertner property in South Negley avenue which was the basis of much litigation was before the court again in the appeal of Mrs. Maggie Gaertner in the case of Hunter vs. Baxter. The claim is made that Mrs. Gaertner never lost title to the property.

Suit Against a Housekeeper.

The case of Annie J. Robinson appellant, vs. Jane Powell, is an action to recover $20,000. Mrs. Robinson claims that Thomas Robinson, who lived at West View before his death, gave Miss Powell, his housekeeper, that amount of money to hold in trust for her.

Other cases argued were Michael Hueber vs. the Consolidated Traction Company, appellant, and Luther Kennedy, vs. the same company, appellant, both actions for injuries; and the appeals of Thomas McMurray and others in the estate of James S. Lindsay, deceased. In the latter case the question is raised of the rights of stockholders under a contract relative to the purchase of the holdings of a deceased stockholder.

In the criminal court, Stacia Weshenansky, a domestic, was sent to the workhouse for 90 days for robbing her employer. James Hamilton went up for nine months for assault, and James Powers got 30 days for beating a board bill.

By her will Sarah C. Nelson, late of Pittsburgh, leaves a $5,000 estate in equal shares to her sister, Maggie Nelson and Ruth Harbison. L. N. Ireland, late of Allegheny, leaves an uncalimated estate to members of his family.

Decrees in distribution were made yesterday as follows: Anton Kromer, Sr., $1,632; John B. Ferguson, $2,545 91.

An inventory filed in the estate of Robert Black, late of Plum township, shows a personalty of $38,903 79. The amount is made up of mortgages, notes and stocks.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed against the Somerset Packing Company, of Somerset, Pa. The petitioners are the Frick company, of Waynesboro; Kingan & Company, Limited, of Pittsburgh; the Fire Extinguisher and Supply Company, of Allegheny; B. S. Trauerman Company, of Pittsburgh, and the Union Packing Company of Somerset. The claims presented amount to $3,808 02. A like petition was filed against Abraham Hepner of Pittsburgh. The petitioners, L. Laufe & Company, Harry Hepner and I. Fargeistein, all of this city, file claims amounting to $1,180 44.

The following executions were issued: Mamie F. Jones vs. Anton Gressner, $449 15; H. W. Hyle vs. Hugh L. Hervey et al., $57 85; J. H. Friday vs. J. C. Hagle, $515; William L. Sloan vs. Conrad Dippel, $225 75; Homestead Building and Loan association vs. Nicholas J. Rorke, $912 79; T. N. Dodds vs. Andry Cress, $165; Amelia Jones vs. Anton Hardy, $98 45; T. N. Dodds vs. Andy Cress, $660.

WILL HAVE NEW RULES FOR TARGET PRACTICE

Director Moore Confers With His Superintendents on Pistol Shooting.

Director Moore and Superintendents Wallace and McQuaide yesterday discussed the adoption of rules regulating target practice by the police. They will hold another conference in a few days.

Wallace and McQuaide will confer with military authorities in reference to the mode of target practice in the army and militia. Superintendent Wallace is of the opinion that some danger would be avoided if the officer was compelled to lay down his revolver after he finished shooting, while the captain or lieutenant was taking the record of the officer's shot. Another point made by Superintendent Wallace was that officers waiting their turn during the practice should be compelled to keep their revolvers in their pockets until they are called to shoot. This will eliminate a possibility of risk. As a rule policemen standing about the range are handling their revolvers. There have been many instances where revolvers have been discharged, but no one was injured. In the future all target practice will be conducted under the supervision of a captain or lieutenant.

Superintendent McQuaide favors open-air practice. In his mind the benefit obtained from target practice is of little practical value. When the occasion arises for an officer to use his revolver he is usually compelled to take a running shot. He thinks a range should be placed in a field and the officers required to shoot at it while running by the target, away from it and toward it, just as soldiers are required to do.

SUIT BROUGHT TO BLOCK DIGGING PANAMA CANAL

Illinois Man Tries to Restrain Secretary of Treasury from Making Payments. No Decision.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25.—An effort to restrain the secretary of the treasury from making payments or issuing bonds for the acquisition and construction of the Panama canal was made today in the equity branch of the supreme court of the District of Columbia. W. S. Wilson of Hinsdale, Ill., is the author of the suit, and presented his own argument. The government was defended by United States Attorney Morgan H. Beach and Charles W. Russell, assistant to the attorney general. Justice Stafford, who heard the case, has not rendered his decision.

The principal question involved is whether the courts have authority to restrain a federal officer from a wrongful interpretation of a federal law and consequent depletion of the federal treasury.

POWERS ARE INVITED TO PEACE CONFERENCE

President's Note Is Dispatched—Republics to the South Also Asked.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 25.—Acting Secretary of State Adee today dispatched an invitation from the president to the signatory powers of the original Hague treaty to come together again to broaden and strengthen the original convention, especially to consider means to further mitigate the horrors of modern warfare and to conserve and extend the rights of neutral commerce on the high seas. In addition to the signatory powers, the invitation goes forward to four of the South and Central American republics.

While the president has in his invitation suggested The Hague as a proper meeting place, a majority must determine that, as well as the date of the meeting.

UP TO MR. CARNEGIE.

Colored Industrial School's Friends Expect Soon to Raise Enough Money to Insure a Donation.

An entertainment will be held at Old City hall tomorrow night in the interest of the colored industrial school, located in Lawrence county. Judge McClung will preside and addresses will be made by Miss Kate MacKnight, Francis J. Torrance, Judge Kennedy, the Revs. W. W. Brown and G. W. Johnson, the Hon. John C. Dancy, recorder of deeds of Washington, D. C., William M. Randolph, J. Welford Holmes and others. The mayors of Allegheny and McKeesport have promised to attend.

Andrew Carnegie promised to give $2,500 to the home if the management would raise a like sum, the whole to be spent in erecting a dormitory building to replace the one destroyed by fire a few months ago. That sum has about been raised and Mr. Carnegie has expressed his readiness to forward his donation at any time. Since the school was burned the pupils there have been given homes as far as possible by farmers and others in the vicinity of New Castle, near where the school is situated.

The boy scholars are instructed in farming and stock raising, in skilled mechanics and other arts, while the girls are taught in domestic science. It is primarily a school for homeless or neglected boys and girls, of which it is said there are 1,100 such colored children in Western Pennsylvania. Recruits are sent largely from the juvenile court, but it is said there are applications from 300 more scholars than the school can accommodate.

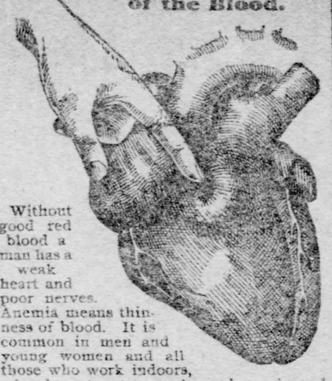
Courage is a Matter of the Blood.



Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves. Anemia means thinness of blood. It is common in men and young women and all those who work indoors, who do not get enough outdoor air and good oxygen in their lungs. There are too many white blood corpuscles in such cases, and there is often a peculiar sound in the heart, called a murmur, in cases of anemia. This heart murmur is caused by thinness of the blood passing through the heart. The murmur of anemia disappears when the blood regains its natural consistency and richness. It is not heart disease. Sometimes people suffer intense pain over the heart, which is not heart disease, but caused by the stomach. It is the occasion of much anxiety, alarm and suffering, for which its victim is dependent upon reflex disturbances from the stomach caused by indigestion. In the same way many bad coughs are dependent upon these reflex disturbances of what is called the pneumogastric nerve. To enrich the blood and increase the red blood corpuscles thereby feeding the nerves on rich red blood and doing away with nervous irritability, take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which promotes digestion and assimilation of food so that the blood gets its proper supply of nourishment from the stomach. Get as near to nature's way as you can. A medicine made entirely of botanical extracts and which does not contain alcohol is the safest. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains no alcohol or narcotics.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best liver pills.
